Brazil's New Leader Claims Total Victory

Ousted President Returning To Rio; Approves Change

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 12 — UP — War Minister Henrique T. Lott, Brazil's new strong man, claimed total victory Saturday for his "preventive revolution."

Under Lott's leadership, the army Friday ousted acting President Carlos Luz and installed Nereu Ramos as this country's fourth president in 15 months.

Army announcements said that both Luz and former Air Minister Eduardo Gomes, his principal supporter, have conceded victory to the revolutionists who took over the country almost without firing a shot.

Luz, who fled south to Santos Friday in the U.S.-built light cruiser Almirante Tamandare, was on his way back to Rio Saturday after reporting by radio that he is willing to accept the new regime.

Gomes, who had attempted to set up a counter-revolutionary headquarters at the Cumbica airbase outside Santos, flew back to Rio Saturday with three planeloads of air force officers who had supported him.

They surrendered to Brig. Vasco Alves Secco, Brazil's new air minister, and were allowed to go home.

The censorship imposed on Rio by the army was lifted Saturday, and reports from all parts of the country indicated that the bloodless revolution was a complete success.

The only shots known to have been fired in the revolution were

Fifth Win In Row

French Assembly Votes Confidence In Premier Faure

PARIS, Nov. 12—UP— Priemier Edgar Faure won his fifth confidence vote in five weeks Saturday to save his shaky government from collapse.

Following a debate subdued by the death of France's first lady, the national assembly backed up Faure on his decision to call December elections. The vote was 185 to 247, with the 94 Communists supporting Faure.

But the premier faced possible fresh trouble with his slim majority because this was the second time in a week that he owed victory to Communist support.

The grudging confidence vote was a key test between Faure and former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who bitterly opposes early voting and who wants an English-type electoral system based on voting by districts for individual candidates.

The vote was held in an atmosphere of official mourning for Mme. Rene Coty, the French President's wife who died early Saturday.

Assembly officials wanted to postpone the vote because of Mme. Coty's death, but President Coty insisted it go on. He announced in a message to the assembly he would assume "all the responsibilities of my office" should the vote overthrow the government.

Those responsibilities are heavy. When a government falls the president must consult with political leaders and after long negotiations name a premier-designate who will try to win assembly approval.

Faure entered the vote with the powerful Socialists and most of his own Radical Socialist party lined up against him. At least five ministers in Faure's cabinet were also opposed to the electoral system Faure wanted for parliamentary elections he suggested for Dec. 18 at the latest.

Opponents of the voting measure charged its proportional representation system would increase Communist membership in the house from 94 to as much as 150 to 160 deputies.

Tax Exemptions For New Industries Called Unfair To Old Firms By Barham

"I don't think it is fair to old industries which have been operating in the state and paying taxes, for us to bring in new industries with 10 years free of taxes," Cap Barham, candidate for re-election as lieutenant governor, said during a question-and-answer period Saturday on a local television program sponsored by the Louisiana League of

All five Louisiana gubernatorial candidates were invited to participate in the panel program, but only two — Francis Grevemberg and James McLemore — were present. Chep Morrison was represented by his running mate, Cap Barham; Fred Preaus had Fred Fudickar of Monroe as his spokesman; and Earl Long's lieutenant governor candidate, Lether Frazar, spoke for him on most issues.

The industry tax exemption issue was brought up as one of more than 20 questions asked by the listening audience. The question-and-answer period followed a personal introduction by each candidate for governor or his representative, in which he related why he is running for governor, stating his qualifications for the job and what he intends to do for the state if elected.

Barham answered the question from the audience on tax exemptions after Fudicker declined to speak for Preaus, to whom the question was orginally directed. Each candidate or his spokesman followed Barham by volunteering at least one comment on new industry's 10 years of tax - free operations in the state, all favoring repeal of the law, reduction of the time element or of the benefits derived by industry from complete exemption in the first 10 years.

Grevemburg said Louisiana has the natural resources industry seeks, and that industry will come into the state regardless of any tax exemption program.

Another important issue brought up by the viewing audience, which telephoned its questions to the political panel, was the controversial right-to-work law. Barham pointed

Bonn Ceremony Heralds Rebirth Of German Army

BONN, Germany, Nov. 12 —UP—West Germany's new army was born Saturday in a shabby garage behind the defense ministry.

Defense Minister Theodor Blank administered an oath of loyalty to the first 101 men of what is to become a 500,000-man Streitkraefte—fighting force.

Two lieutenant generals, 93 lieutenant colonels, majors and lieutenants, one sergeant major and five master sergeants gave the pledge.

Only 12 of them had had time to get themselves fitted with the mouse-gray uniform of the new army. They were put prominently in front of the somewhat disorderly ranks of the 101-man nucleus for the Streitkraefte.

Bunting and a huge iron cross, symbol of old-fashioned German militarism, constituted the only decorations for the ceremony in the bare building, which is used as a training shed.

Defense Minister Blank, in a brief speech, expressed the emphasis which the government is putting on making the army a democratic one.

There were no monocles, medals or other ornaments among the 101 to remind the few officials and newspaper correspondents who witnessed the induction ceremony of the traditional Prussian armies.

But many of those who gave the loyalty pledge showed by their scarred faces, burned hands and missing fingers that they had fought in World War II.

Officers of the new army will rate a salute as officers of a friendly army from American troops in Germany, United States Army headquarters made known.

Sagebrush Death Toll Reaches 21 As Two More Die

FORT POLK, La., Nov. 12 (AP)—Army officials reported today that one soldier was killed in a parachute jump and another in a tank accident this week during Exercise Sagebrush, mass war games in western Louisiana.

Public information officers said PFC Louis L. Larson of Princeton, N. J., a member of the 82nd Airborne Division, plunged to his death Thursday when his chute failed to open in a routine jump.

They said PFC Peter F. Magnier of Fleming, N. J., a member of the 4th Armored Division, was killed Tuesday when a track flew off a tank and hit him while riding in a jeep.

The deaths brought to 21 the number of soldiers killed in accidents on and off the maneuver area since the exercises began Nov. 1.

Landslide Kills Three Persons In Quebec City

Seven Buildings Collapse In River As Bank Caves In

NICOLET, Que., Nov. 12 —UP—A landslide caused by undermining water currents toppled several buildings, including the Bishop's Palace, into the Nicolet River Saturday in the heart of this town where three Dionne quintuplets went to school.

Three persons, one a two-month-old child, were reported killed in the disaster, which struck without warning just before noon.

Fires broke out in some of the wrecked and damaged buildings and telephone lines snapped when poles were toppled by the collapse of the earth.

The Nicolet Cathedral was damaged and several homes were wrecked. The four-story residence of Bishop Albertus Martin sank in mud and water to its eaves. Other buildings that slid into the river included a garage, a boy's academy and an apartment building.

Among the dead was Brother Hermongilde, a member of the faculty of the Chretiennes School for Boys. He was in the school building when it dropped into the river.

The dead baby was identified as the child of Dr. Jean Lessard.

Mrs. Edouard Beaulac, wife of the Nicolet police chief, handled most of the emergency calls received in the town. Communications were at a minimum and the main highway through the city was closed to traffic from the outside.

Democrats Rap Dept. Of Justice On Probe Of Deal

Not so, replied Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III. He said there was no indication of a crime committed and if there were, the government had almost "no chance" of proving the case.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee was the scene of this newest flareup in the long-standing controversy over the Eisenhower administration's now-defunct contract to bring private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, a possible candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, re-opened for a day the committee's series of Dixon-Yates hearings to quiz administration officials.

Costliest Maneuvers

Army Budgets $5 Million For 'Operation Sagebrush'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Exercise Sagebrush, the mock ground - air battle now getting ready to surge over seven million acres of Louisiana, is not only the biggest peacetime military maneuver but the most expensive.

The cost will be something over five million dollars.

This is the extra cost of transporting 110,000 troops reinforcing highways and bridges for heavy trucks and armor, land use, special communications facilities, fuel beyond that used in normal operation of aircraft—and many other items.

It does not include the ordinary, day-to-day cost of maintaining four divisions and several regimental and battalion size army outfits nor a dozen wings or squadrons of fighters, light bombers, troop transports and a flock of helicopters, observation and liaison aircraft.

The average cost of maintaining an infantry division for one year is about 98 million dollars. This represents pay, food, clothing, replacement of equipment, fuel and administrative expenses.

Gen. Otto P. Weyland, the air officer who has over-all direction of the huge Sagebrush program, was asked at a recent news conference about the cost.

Weyland—whose job is to run the maneuver, not to figure out the expenses—laughed and said he didn't know but that:

"Within the staff we sometimes refer to this as the latest Louisiana Purchase. It costs more or less than the original Louisiana Purchase."

Actually, it is costing considerably less than the 27 million dollars the United States finally paid France and personal claimants for the Louisiana Territory.

The Army computes its share of Exercise Sagebrush at $5,275,000.

Because the air operations in the exercise are so closely identified with ordinary, routine training and because most of the Air Force planes will be operating from their home bases Pentagon experts say it is virtually impossible to isolate a separate estimate for the air phase. They say that, compared with costs to the Army, it would be small.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 12 (AP)— Gov. Thomas B. Stanley's Education Study Commission tonight recommended immediate action to amend the Virginia constitution as the first step in a program intended to prevent enforced racial integration in the public schools.

The backbone of the program is a proposal to use state funds for the education of all children, both white and Negro, in private schools rather than allow integration in the state's public school system.

Contingent on amending Section 141 of the state constitution to take out a prohibition on the use of public funds for the private schooling of Virginia children, the 32-man commission proposed:

Big-3 In Accord On United Action In Middle East

GENEVA, Nov. 12 (AP) — The United States and Britain today won French agreement for swift and vigorous Western action against any state that starts a new war in the Middle East.

Informed sources said France accepted American and British proposals for putting teeth into the three countries' 1950 pledge to guard the peace of the Middle East. The proposals envisage the possible imposition of diplomatic, economic and certain military sanctions, backed if necessary by air and naval blockading action, against an aggressor.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, after a 90-minute meeting with Roland de Margerie of France, were said also to have agreed to coordinate their policies more closely in Mideast affairs. Each has the common aim of ousting Kremlin influence from the area. De Margerie sat in the absence of Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay, who was in Paris for a vital Assembly session.

Dulles, Molotov To Hold Private Conference Today

GENEVA, Switzerland Nov. 12 — UP — The Big Four foreign ministers Saturday abandoned all attempts to reach agreement on disarmament at their present meeting.

They decided to instruct their experts to work out, before the conference ends next Wednesday, an agreement to turn the whole disarmament issue back to the United Nations in New York.

At a meeting Saturday, the four foreign ministers even failed to reach agreement on a communique which would announce their deadlock or suggest a means to resume talks on disarmament in future.

But after days of hot words, the delegates softened their tone in Saturday's debate and agreed that negotiations should continue in the UN.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov, in a new move, arranged to confer privately with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at American headquarters at 10 a.m. Sunday (3 a.m. est).

It was believed likely that Molotov might have some new proposal to make. But there was no indication that the dour Soviet foreign minister would change the attitude which had blocked all attempts to reach agreement on German unification, European security and disarmament.

At their next meeting on Monday, the foreign ministers will turn to the question of intensifying friendly contacts between East

Ike Plans Return To Work; To Use Gettysburg Office

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower got in a little putting on a White House green today for the first time since his Sept. 24 heart attack. And he made plans to open an office next week in downtown Gettysburg, Pa., near his farm.

He went out onto the green on the south lawn of the mansion shortly after aides reported him "feeling fine" on this first full day back at the White House.

The aides said he putted only a couple of times, then sat in a chair in the yard for more than an hour soaking up the warm autumn sun. He had basked in the sun almost daily for the last three weeks or so on the eighth floor terrace of Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver.

But so far as is known today was the first time he had a golf club in his hands since Sept. 23, the day before his attack. He played 27 holes in Denver that day.

Eisenhower was out on the White House green with his son, Army Maj. John S. Eisenhower, who also got in a bit of golf practice. After trying a couple of strokes, the President sat and watched John.

Long-range photographs taken during the afternoon showed the President with a club cocked over

Seven Buildings Collapse In River As Bank Caves In

NICOLET, Que., Nov. 12 —UP—A landslide caused by undermining water currents toppled several buildings, including the Bishop's Palace, into the Nicolet River Saturday in the heart of this town where three Dionne quintuplets went to school.

Three persons, one a two-month-old child, were reported killed in the disaster, which struck without warning just before noon.

Fires broke out in some of the wrecked and damaged buildings and telephone lines snapped when poles were toppled by the collapse of the earth.

The Nicolet Cathedral was damaged and several homes were wrecked. The four-story residence of Bishop Albertus Martin sank in mud and water to its eaves. Other buildings that slid into the river included a garage, a boy's academy and an apartment building.

Among the dead was Brother Hermongilde, a member of the faculty of the Chretiennes School for Boys. He was in the school building when it dropped into the river.

The dead baby was identified as the child of Dr. Jean Lessard.

Mrs. Edouard Beaulac, wife of the Nicolet police chief, handled most of the emergency calls received in the town. Communications were at a minimum and the main highway through the city was closed to traffic from the outside.

Not so, replied Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III. He said there was no indication of a crime committed and if there were, the government had almost "no chance" of proving the case.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee was the scene of this newest flareup in the long-standing controversy over the Eisenhower administration's now-defunct contract to bring private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, a possible candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, re-opened for a day the committee's series of Dixon - Yates hearings to quiz administration officials.

Involved in the questioning was testimony given last year by Dr. Frederick Kellogg, dean of the University of Mississippi's School of Engineering, at a Securities and

Sagebrush Death Toll Reaches 21 As Two More Die

FORT POLK, La., Nov. 12 (AP)—Army officials reported today that one soldier was killed in a parachute jump and another in a tank accident this week during Exercise Sagebrush, mass war games in western Louisiana.

Public information officers said PFC Louis L. Larson of Princeton, N. J., a member of the 82nd Airborne Division, plunged to his death Thursday when his chute failed to open in a routine jump.

They said PFC Peter F. Magnier of Fleming, N. J., a member of the 4th Armored Division, was killed Tuesday when a track flew off a tank and hit him while riding in a jeep.

The deaths brought to 21 the number of soldiers killed in accidents on and off the maneuver area since the exercises began Nov. 1.

Texas Man Drowns

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 12 (AP)—Lake patrolmen pulled the body of A. C. Rhody, 52, of Greggston, Tex., from Cross Lake today.

The body was found on the lake's north side about a mile from where Rhody fell into the water yesterday.

Officers said Rhody lost his balance trying to change places with a companion while their outboard motorboat was running.

Costliest Maneuvers

Army Budgets $5 Million For 'Operation Sagebrush'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Exercise Sagebrush, the mock ground - air battle now getting ready to surge over seven million acres of Louisiana, is not only the biggest peacetime military maneuver but the most expensive.

The cost will be something over five million dollars.

This is the extra cost of transporting 110,000 troops reinforcing highways and bridges for heavy trucks and armor, land use, special communications facilities, fuel beyond that used in normal operation of aircraft—and many other items.

It does not include the ordinary, day-to-day cost of maintaining four divisions and several regimental and battalion size army outfits nor a dozen wings or squadrons of fighters, light bombers, troop transports and a flock of helicopters, observation and liaison aircraft.

The average cost of maintaining an infantry division for one year is about 98 million dollars. This represents pay, food, clothing, replacement of equipment, fuel and administrative expenses.

Gen. Otto P. Weyland, the air officer who has over-all direction of the huge Sagebrush program, was asked at a recent news conference about the cost.

Weyland—whose job is to run the maneuver, not to figure out the expenses—laughed and said he didn't know but that:

"Within the staff we sometimes refer to this as the latest Louisiana Purchase. It costs more or less than the original Louisiana Purchase."

Actually, it is costing considerably less than the 27 million dollars the United States finally paid France and personal claimants for the Louisiana Territory.

The Army computes its share of Exercise Sagebrush at $5,275,000.

Because the air operations in the exercise are so closely identified with ordinary, routine training and because most of the Air Force planes will be operating from their home bases Pentagon experts say it is virtually impossible to isolate a separate estimate for the air phase. They say that, compared with costs to the Army, it would be small.

West, Russia Agree To Send Issue To UN

Dulles, Molotov To Hold Private Conference Today

GENEVA, Switzerland Nov. 12 — UP — The Big Four foreign ministers Saturday abandoned all attempts to reach agreement on disarmament at their present meeting.

They decided to instruct their experts to work out, before the conference ends next Wednesday, an agreement to turn the whole disarmament issue back to the United Nations in New York.

At a meeting Saturday, the four foreign ministers even failed to reach agreement on a communique which would announce their deadlock or suggest a means to resume talks on disarmament in future.

But after days of hot words, the delegates softened their tone in Saturday's debate and agreed that negotiations should continue in the UN.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov, in a new move, arranged to confer privately with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at American headquarters at 10 a.m. Sunday (3 a.m. est).

It was believed likely that Molotov might have some new proposal to make. But there was no indication that the dour Soviet foreign minister would change the attitude which had blocked all attempts to reach agreement on German unification, European security and disarmament.

At their next meeting on Monday, the foreign ministers will turn to the question of intensifying friendly contacts between East

Virginia Educators Urge Private School Payments To Block Desegregation

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 12 (AP)— Gov. Thomas B. Stanley's Education Study Commission tonight recommended immediate action to amend the Virginia constitution as the first step in a program intended to prevent enforced racial integration in the public schools.

The backbone of the program is a proposal to use state funds for the education of all children, both white and Negro, in private schools rather than allow integration in the state's public school system.

Contingent on amending Section 141 of the state constitution to take out a prohibition on the use of public funds for the private schooling of Virginia children, the 32-man commission proposed:

1. A plan of assignment permitting local school boards to assign their pupils "in such manner as will best serve the welfare of their

Big-3 In Accord On United Action In Middle East

GENEVA, Nov. 12 (AP) — The United States and Britain today won French agreement for swift and vigorous Western action against any state that starts a new war in the Middle East.

Informed sources said France accepted American and British proposals for putting teeth into the three countries' 1950 pledge to guard the peace of the Middle East. The proposals envisage the possible imposition of diplomatic, economic and certain military sanctions, backed if necessary by air and naval blockading action, against an aggressor.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, after a 90-minute meeting with Roland de Margerie of France, were said also to have agreed to coordinate their policies more closely in Mideast affairs. Each has the common aim of ousting Kremlin influence from the area. De Margerie sat in the absence of Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay, who was in Paris for a vital Assembly session.

Ike Plans Return To Work; To Use Gettysburg Office

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)— President Eisenhower got in a little putting on a White House green today for the first time since his Sept. 24 heart attack. And he made plans to open an office next week in downtown Gettysburg, Pa., near his farm.

He went out onto the green on the south lawn of the mansion shortly after aides reported him "feeling fine" on this first full day back at the White House.

The aides said he putted only a couple of times, then sat in a chair in the yard for more than an hour soaking up the warm autumn sun. He had basked in the sun almost daily for the last three weeks or so on the eighth floor terrace of Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver.

But so far as is known today was the first time he had a golf club in his hands since Sept. 23, the day before his attack. He played 27 holes in Denver that day.

Eisenhower was out on the White House green with his son, Army Maj. John S. Eisenhower, who also got in a bit of golf practice. After trying a couple of strokes, the President sat and watched John.

Long-range photographs taken during the afternoon showed the President with a club cocked over

Preaus Urges Voters To Avoid 'Reversing Clock'

WINNFIELD, La., Nov. 12 (AP)—Candidate for governor Fred Preaus today urged voters against endangering the "bright future of Louisiana by turning back the clock to the days of deducts and corruption."

Preaus, a Farmerville automobile salesman, said the state needs a businessman at the helm in the days ahead as it shifts from an agricultural to an industrial state.

"For years," he said, "Louisiana has been predominantly an agricultural state, but now we are on the road to industrial development and a diversified economy.

"We must insure the continuation of this trend by sending to Baton Rouge a man who is well versed in the art of successfully operating a business and who is close to the people."

Preaus said Louisiana must be made attractive to new industry. "I believe the political climate in the state is one of the considerations," he added, and "we must have strong, clean responsible local government and good local law enforcement."

Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and the acting French chief delegate, Roland de Margerie, met Saturday afternoon to discuss non-conference issues. These included the Palestine crisis, the Far East and admission of new members to the UN.

The relaxed tone of the foreign ministers was shown today when Dulles said:

"I feel confident that even if we did not reach a large measure of formalized agreement on disarmament, certainly the exchange of viewpoints which occurred here has been instructive and will help our representatives in the UN." Molotov also was more conciliatory in tone.

"We can state here that we recognize the need to continue to seek agreement on a comprehensive program for disarmament which would promote international peace and security," Molotov said. "In some matters our positions have come closer together.

"It would be very good if we could express unanimously that the four powers, in accordance with the summit directive, would refrain from a recourse to force and settle disputes by peaceful means."

Molotov also said again that "under certain conditions" the Soviet Union would accept President Eisenhower's "open sky" proposal, for an exchange of blueprints of military strength by the four powers and mutual aerial inspection of military facilities.

However, Molotov had said the same thing in a speech Thursday, but made it plain that the "conditions" would be such that the United States could not accept them.

Authorities said the cavein apparently was caused by the seeping waters of the Nicolet River, which flows into the St. Lawrence River near this city, 90 miles northeast of Montreal.

Army personnel were rushed in to the small river community on the south shore of the St. Lawrence.

Communications to the town were cut because telephone and telegraph lines were ripped out by the cavein. All traffic in and out of Nicolet was halted and patients from the Hotel Dieu Hospital there were being evacuated, it was reported.

One report said the collapse started just outside the town and covered an area of almost two acres.

Several buildings topped by the collapse burst into flames and police and firemen dropped emergency duties to battle flames.

Exchange Commission hearing on financing the power project. Kellogg appeared for the city of Memphis, Tenn., which fought the contract.

Kellogg has said that on Dec. 19, the day before he was to appear at the SEC, he got a call from his university provost, Dr. Alton Bryant, saying some people in Jackson, Miss., were "very much upset" that Kellogg was going to testify.

In a memo he wrote up after the telephone conversation, Kellogg reported Bryant said:

"I got this call . . . saying that they had been called from Washington. They said they had intended to contribute to our airport, and to give some equipment to the engineering school, and that here you go testifying against them. I promised to find out just what was going on and call back. . . . You do whatever you think is best."

The memo said Kellogg's recollection was "not clear" as to whether Bryant said who "they" were. In a later conversation with SEC officials Bryant was reported as saying "some of the alumni" were among those asking about Kellogg's testifying but Bryant didn't care to name them.

Reports that Maj. Gen. Alcides Echegoyen was shot and killed while resisting arrest were denied officially Saturday. Government sources said Echegoyen suffered a "heart disturbance" after being arrested, and that he was being treated at a military hospital.

The war ministry announced that Maj. Gen. Alvaro Fuiza de Castro, Luz's "war minister for a day" following Lott's resignation Thursday, has been released by the revolutionists who arrested him Friday.

Lott rose against Luz to forestall a possible coup by army officers who wanted to prevent the inauguration Jan. 31 of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek and Vice President-elect Joao (Jango) Goulart, who are generally regarded as the "political heirs" of the late President Getulio Vargas.

Vargas was deposed and driven to suicide in August, 1954, by a group of generals who had forced him to dismiss Goulart from his cabinet earlier that year.

Joao Chafe Jr., who succeeded Vargas as president, suffered a heart attack last week. Luz, who had been speaker of the chamber of deputies, was installed as acting president Tuesday.

The acting president aroused Lott's anger by refusing to dismiss Col. Jurandir Mamede, a foe of Kubitschek, from a high post on the joint chiefs of staff.

The Russians, said Khrushchev, developed a jet airliner modified from the bomber. There is a possibility he and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin will use such a jet liner for a trip to London next spring, but they will not use it for their trip to India next week. They are going by easy stages in conventional aircraft.

Smiling, and in a gay mood, Khrushchev told the correspondents gathered around him:

"I'm going to tell you a secret, but don't tell Gen. Gruenther (Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander, Europe) because NATO is a dangerous organization. Our jet airliner is developed from a medium bomber with a range of 5,000 kilometers (about 3,000 miles). This is enough to reach London, northern Europe North Africa or Turkey. I suppose it is all right to tell you, but of course when you tell someone a secret it gets out anyhow. I have been too talkative and careless."

A twin-jet passenger airliner was seen in last July's aviation show here, along with a fleet of the medium bombers. This was the first time any Soviet source offered details about the plane.

2. Provision that no child be required to attend a school where both white and Negro children are taught and that parents of children who object to integrated schools, or who live in communities where "no public schools are operated," be given tuition grants for educational purposes.

The "package plan" was contained in a report delivered to the governor and made public tonight.

The only immediate recommendation was that the governor call a special session of the General Assembly "for the purpose of initiating a limited" constitutional convention.

"If our children are to be educated and if enforced integration is to be avoided, it is now clear that Section 141 must be amended," said the commission in its unanimous 19-page report.

Virginia's Supreme Court of Appeals ruled last Monday in a test case arranged at the request of the governor that public funds may not be used for the education of children in private schools because of the barrier set up in Section 141.

The court noted that if such was deemed a proper course, the Legislature should move to amend the constitution in the prescribed manner.

Gov. Stanley, in a press conference at which reporters were briefed, had high praise for the work done by Chairman Garland Gray of Waverly, and the 31 other members of the commission—all members of the General Assembly.

Stanley said he would reach a decision "within a few days" on the recommendation for a special Assembly session.

Foreign Spending Far Above Farm Aid, Says Gilfoil

DELHI, Nov. 12 (Special)—Only a fraction of the funds made available for the foreign aid program would be needed to finance the federal farm program for many years, a spokesman for the Louisiana Delta Council said.

This view is contained in a 12-page mimeographed release sent out by the council, giving a statement made for the group before the U. S. Senate Agriculture Committee at Alexandria this week, by James H. Gilfoil of Tallulah.

The document, drawing from many sources including various publications, government officials and agencies, deals with the problems of approximately 13,000 cotton farmers in 11 northeast parishes, who have suffered economic setbacks as a result of curtailed acreage and mounting surpluses.

Gilfoil challenged the belief that the present surplus of agricultural goods is almost solely due to the operation of the price support programs.

Factors contributing to the problem are, he said, "the recent responses of farmers to wartime demands; failure to offer to sell our products competitively in world markets; the existing uncertainty of world affairs; increased technological development on our farms resulting in increased production and foreign agricultural expansion promoted by the United States."

"Its plain to see that farmers aren't sharing equally in the bounding prosperity that has touched most other elements of the economy," he added. "Farm people had an average income per person of $907 last year; non-farm average was $1,831. Farm per capita income has risen 15 per cent since 1947, but non-farm income has gone up just twice as fast. . ."

The statement also pointed out that, "First, the farmer is already heavily dependent upon sales of his commodities to foreign customers for a substantial portion of his income; secondly, he is going to have to greatly expand his foreign markets if increasing stockpiles of surplus commodities are diminished. . ."

The statement was concluded with a 10-point recommendation for remedial measures.

Pledge Is Made By Candidates In Coroner's Race

Dr. D. L. Anderson whose candidacy for Ouachita parish coroner was opposed and appealed up to the second court of appeals in Louisiana by Dr. J. T. French, incumbent, Saturday issued this statement:

"In the interest of good government, I solicit the patronage of the citizens of Ouachita parish. When voters of this parish favor me with their confidence, I assure them I shall perform the duties of the coroner's office to the best of my abilities.

"At least two and possibly three assistants will help with duties of this important office. The services of a local, well known pathologist will be available when needed."

Dr. Anderson received a favorable opinion from the Appellate court in Shreveport Friday when the three judges reviewing his appeal, unanimously unheld his contention that he is legally qualified as a candidate.

Hearing the case in the second court of appeals were Judge George W. Hardy of Shreveport, Judge Edward L. Gladney of Bastrop, and Judge H. W. Ayers, of Jonesboro.

2 Bosco Negroes Killed, One Hurt In Auto Accident

Two Bosco Negroes were killed instantly and a third injured about 10 o'clock Friday night when the new car they were driving got out of control at a high rate of speed and plunged off the highway three miles south of Bosco and jammed into the railroad embankment Caldwell Sheriff George (Buddy) Erskine said.

Clinton Bailey, 23, and J. D. Calhoun, Negroes of Bosco were found dead by investigating officers and Sim Paige about 23, also a Negro of Bosco, suffered a broken leg and lacerations, the sheriff said. Paige was brought to the Charity Hospital in Monroe by Miller's Funeral Home ambulance. He was reported to be in good condition Saturday night.

Sheriff Erskine said the new 1955 automobile was registered in a Monroe dealer's name and that it had been taken for a "tryout" by the Negroes.

out that each of the five gubernatorial candidates has already said publicly that he would sign a legislative bill repealing the right - to - work law if the legislature should present him with one.

Other issues aired by the five candidates or their spokesmen included:

Public education — for which they spoke in favor of improvements in teacher salaries.

Segregation — Barham expressed Morrison's intentions to keep segregation.

Assessment re-valuation — Grememberg answered his question with "I definitely believe there should be an assessment review."

Reapportionment of the state legislature in districts — (a question was directed to all candidates, who were asked to keep their answers brief) Gremberg said he would abide by the will of the people; McLemore said there definitely should be a reapportionment; Long (Frazer) and Preaus (Fudicker) expressed opposition and agreed with Barham who said the large cities and other heavily populated areas would get too large a majority of representatiin.

Reduction from two years to one year of the requirement for resident registration for voting all panel members except Frazer answered yes; Frazer said Long feels that a potential voter should have more time in the state than one year to become familiar with state problems.

One other question concerned the calling of a constitution convention and the presentation of any new state constitution to the people for ratification. The candidates agreed that most of the delegates chosen for preparation of a state constitution if a convention is called — should be elected by the people, with a few appointed by the governor; all agreed that the new constitution should be presented to the people for public ratification.

his right shoulder. But presidential associates said the President apparently was just getting the "feel" of the club—that he actually hit no long or middle-range shots.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty announced today that the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will drive on Monday to their country home on the edge of Gettysburg, where there will be a quiet observance of the First Lady's 59th birthday.

Eisenhower, who checked out of a Denver hospital yesterday after seven weeks of convalescence from a heart attack, plans to spend about six weeks building up his strength at his farm.

But the White House made it clear that at Gettysburg the doctors plan to permit a steady but gradual increase in his governmental activity.

Eisenhower's Gettysburg office will be on the first floor of the post office, in the postmaster's quarters, and he probably will meet his first official visitors there Tuesday morning.

At today's conference Eisenhower received a confidential report from Secretary of State Dulles at Geneva on the Big Four foreign ministers, as well as secret reports on other international matters.

He also transacted a bit of routine government business and discussed plans for the weekend and for the forthcoming stay at Gettysburg.

Hagerty said the weekend at the White House would be quiet with only members of the family there.

On hand here are the son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John S. Eisenhower; the three Eisenhower grandchildren, David 7, Barbara Anne 6, and Susan 3; and the chief executive's youngest brother Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower president of the Pennsylvania State University.

Authorities said the cavein apparently was caused by the seeping waters of the Nicolet River, which flows into the St. Lawrence River near this city, 90 miles northeast of Montreal.

Army personnel were rushed in to the small river community on the south shore of the St. Lawrence.

Communications to the town were cut because telephone and telegraph lines were ripped out by the cavein. All traffic in and out of Nicolet was halted and patients from the Hotel Dieu Hospital there were being evacuated, it was reported.

One report said the collapse started just outside the town and covered an area of almost two acres.

Several buildings topped by the collapse burst into flames and police and firemen dropped emergency duties to battle flames.

Kellogg has said that on Dec. 19, the day before he was to appear at the SEC, he got a call from his university provost, Dr. Alton Bryant, saying some people in Jackson, Miss., were "very much upset" that Kellogg was going to testify.

In a memo he wrote up after the telephone conversation, Kellogg reported Bryant said:

"I got this call . . . saying that they had been called from Washington. They said they had intended to contribute to our airport, and to give some equipment to the engineering school, and that here you go testifying against them. I promised to find out just what was going on and call back. . . . You do whatever you think is best."

The memo said Kellogg's recollection was "not clear" as to whether Bryant said who "they" were. In a later conversation with SEC officials Bryant was reported as saying "some of the alumni" were among those asking about Kellogg's testifying but Bryant didn't care to name them.

Reports that Maj. Gen. Alcides Echegoyen was shot and killed while resisting arrest were denied officially Saturday. Government sources said Echegoyen suffered a "heart disturbance" after being arrested, and that he was being treated at a military hospital.

The war ministry announced that Maj. Gen. Alvaro Fuiza de Castro, Luz's "war minister for a day" following Lott's resignation Thursday, has been released by the revolutionists who arrested him Friday.

Lott rose against Luz to forestall a possible coup by army officers who wanted to prevent the inauguration Jan. 31 of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek and Vice President-elect Joao (Jango) Goulart, who are generally regarded as the "political heirs" of the late President Getulio Vargas.

Vargas was deposed and driven to suicide in August, 1954, by a group of generals who had forced him to dismiss Goulart from his cabinet earlier that year.

Joao Chafe Jr., who succeeded Vargas as president, suffered a heart attack last week. Luz, who had been speaker of the chamber of deputies, was installed as acting president Tuesday.

The acting president aroused Lott's anger by refusing to dismiss Col. Jurandir Mamede, a foe of Kubitschek, from a high post on the joint chiefs of staff.

craft.

The Russians, said Khrushchev, developed a jet airliner modified from the bomber. There is a possibility he and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin will use such a jet liner for a trip to London next spring, but they will not use it for their trip to India next week. They are going by easy stages in conventional aircraft.

"I'm going to tell you a secret, but don't tell Gen. Gruenther (Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander, Europe) because NATO is a dangerous organization. Our jet airliner is developed from a medium bomber with a range of 5,000 kilometers (about 3,000 miles). This is enough to reach London, northern Europe North Africa or Turkey. I suppose it is all right to tell you, but of course when you tell someone a secret it gets out anyhow. I have been too talkative and careless."

A twin-jet passenger airliner was seen in last July's aviation show here, along with a fleet of the medium bombers. This was the first time any Soviet source offered details about the plane.

2. Provision that no child be required to attend a school where both white and Negro children are taught and that parents of children who object to integrated schools, or who live in communities where "no public schools are operated," be given tuition grants for educational purposes.

The "package plan" was contained in a report delivered to the governor and made public tonight.

The only immediate recommendation was that the governor call a special session of the General Assembly "for the purpose of initiating a limited" constitutional convention.

"If our children are to be educated and if enforced integration is to be avoided, it is now clear that Section 141 must be amended," said the commission in its unanimous 19-page report.

Virginia's Supreme Court of Appeals ruled last Monday in a test case arranged at the request of the governor that public funds may not be used for the education of children in private schools because of the barrier set up in Section 141.

The court noted that if such was deemed a proper course, the Legislature should move to amend the constitution in the prescribed manner.

Gov. Stanley, in a press conference at which reporters were briefed, had high praise for the work done by Chairman Garland Gray of Waverly, and the 31 other members of the commission—all members of the General Assembly.

Stanley said he would reach a decision "within a few days" on the recommendation for a special Assembly session.

Foreign Spending Far Above Farm Aid, Says Gilfoil

DELHI, Nov. 12 (Special)—Only a fraction of the funds made available for the foreign aid program would be needed to finance the federal farm program for many years, a spokesman for the Louisiana Delta Council said.

This view is contained in a 12-page mimeographed release sent out by the council, giving a statement made for the group before the U. S. Senate Agriculture Committee at Alexandria this week, by James H. Gilfoil of Tallulah.

The document, drawing from many sources including various publications, government officials and agencies, deals with the problems of approximately 13,000 cotton farmers in 11 northeast parishes, who have suffered economic setbacks as a result of curtailed acreage and mounting surpluses.

Gilfoil challenged the belief that the present surplus of agricultural goods is almost solely due to the operation of the price support programs.

Factors contributing to the problem are, he said, "the recent responses of farmers to wartime demands; failure to offer to sell our products competitively in world markets; the existing uncertainty of world affairs; increased technological development on our farms resulting in increased production and foreign agricultural expansion promoted by the United States."

"Its plain to see that farmers aren't sharing equally in the bounding prosperity that has touched most other elements of the economy," he added. "Farm people had an average income per person of $907 last year; non-farm average was $1,831. Farm per capita income has risen 15 per cent since 1947, but non-farm income has gone up just twice as fast. . ."

The statement also pointed out that, "First, the farmer is already heavily dependent upon sales of his commodities to foreign customers for a substantial portion of his income; secondly, he is going to have to greatly expand his foreign markets if increasing stockpiles of surplus commodities are diminished. . ."

The statement was concluded with a 10-point recommendation for remedial measures.

Pledge Is Made By Candidates In Coroner's Race

Dr. D. L. Anderson whose candidacy for Ouachita parish coroner was opposed and appealed up to the second court of appeals in Louisiana by Dr. J. T. French, incumbent, Saturday issued this statement:

"In the interest of good government, I solicit the patronage of the citizens of Ouachita parish. When voters of this parish favor me with their confidence, I assure them I shall perform the duties of the coroner's office to the best of my abilities.

"At least two and possibly three assistants will help with duties of this important office. The services of a local, well known pathologist will be available when needed."

Dr. Anderson received a favorable opinion from the Appellate court in Shreveport Friday when the three judges reviewing his appeal, unanimously unheld his contention that he is legally qualified as a candidate.

Hearing the case in the second court of appeals were Judge George W. Hardy of Shreveport, Judge Edward L. Gladney of Bastrop, and Judge H. W. Ayers, of Jonesboro.

2 Bosco Negroes Killed, One Hurt In Auto Accident

Two Bosco Negroes were killed instantly and a third injured about 10 o'clock Friday night when the new car they were driving got out of control at a high rate of speed and plunged off the highway three miles south of Bosco and jammed into the railroad embankment Caldwell Sheriff George (Buddy) Erskine said.

Clinton Bailey, 23, and J. D. Calhoun, Negroes of Bosco were found dead by investigating officers and Sim Paige about 23, also a Negro of Bosco, suffered a broken leg and lacerations, the sheriff said. Paige was brought to the Charity Hospital in Monroe by Miller's Funeral Home ambulance. He was reported to be in good condition Saturday night.

Sheriff Erskine said the new 1955 automobile was registered in a Monroe dealer's name and that it had been taken for a "tryout" by the Negroes.

out that each of the five gubernatorial candidates has already said publicly that he would sign a legislative bill repealing the right - to - work law if the legislature should present him with one.

Other issues aired by the five candidates or their spokesmen included:

Public education — for which they spoke in favor of improvements in teacher salaries.

Segregation — Barham expressed Morrison's intentions to keep segregation.

Assessment re-valuation — Grevemberg answered his question with "I definitely believe there should be an assessment review."

Reapportionment of the state legislature in districts — (a question was directed to all candidates, who were asked to keep their answers brief) Gremberg said he would abide by the will of the people; McLemore said there definitely should be a reapportionment; Long (Frazer) and Preaus (Fudicker) expressed opposition and agreed with Barham who said the large cities and other heavily populated areas would get too large a majority of representatiin.

Reduction from two years to one year of the requirement for resident registration for voting all panel members except Frazer answered yes; Frazer said Long feels that a potential voter should have more time in the state than one year to become familiar with state problems.

One other question concerned the calling of a constitution convention and the presentation of any new state constitution to the people for ratification. The candidates agreed that most of the delegates chosen for preparation of a state constitution if a convention is called — should be elected by the people, with a few appointed by the governor; all agreed that the new constitution should be presented to the people for public ratification.

Ike Plans Return

his right shoulder. But presidential associates said the President apparently was just getting the "feel" of the club—that he actually hit no long or middle-range shots.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty announced today that the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will drive on Monday to their country home on the edge of Gettysburg, where there will be a quiet observance of the First Lady's 59th birthday.

Eisenhower, who checked out of a Denver hospital yesterday after seven weeks of convalescence from a heart attack, plans to spend about six weeks building up his strength at his farm.

But the White House made it clear that at Gettysburg the doctors plan to permit a steady but gradual increase in his governmental activity.

Eisenhower's Gettysburg office will be on the first floor of the post office, in the postmaster's quarters, and he probably will meet his first official visitors there Tuesday morning.

At today's conference Eisenhower received a confidential report from Secretary of State Dulles at Geneva on the Big Four foreign ministers, as well as secret reports on other international matters.

He also transacted a bit of routine government business and discussed plans for the weekend and for the forthcoming stay at Gettysburg.

Hagerty said the weekend at the White House would be quiet with only members of the family there.

On hand here are the son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John S. Eisenhower; the three Eisenhower grandchildren, David 7, Barbara Anne 6, and Susan 3; and the chief executive's youngest brother Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower president of the Pennsylvania State University.

Robert P. Brown, Lincoln (parish) Enterprises, Inc., Ruston, will address the first assembly about 10:45 a.m. on "Operation and Function of an Industrial Development Committee."

Koch said here Saturday that any inquiries concerning the conference should be addressed to one of these persons: Dr. P. F. Boyer, General Chairman, College of Commerce, LSU, Baton Rouge 3, or Elmer D. Conner, Executive Director, Department of Commerce and Industry, State Capitol, Baton Rouge 4.

Sen. Long, Gov. Kennon Differ Widely On State, National Political Views

By JAMES McLEAN

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 12 (AP) —Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) said today he doubts President Eisenhower will run again and believes Chief Justice Earl Warren is the likely Republican choice for presidential nominee.

The son of the late Huey P. Long thus differed with Gov. Robert Kennon, an Eisenhower Democrat who said there are encouraging indications the President will seek re-election.

The senator, who supported Adlai Stevenson in 1952 when Louisiana voted Democratic, gave this view:

"I don't think President Eisenhower is going to run. I've discussed this with many outstanding Republicans who feel the same way.

"And here is what they tell me—the President didn't want to run for re-election before he had the heart attack, he had said so repeatedly to outstanding Republicans who came to visit him urging him to make the race again.

"However, a great number of Republicans who viewed the President's candidacy as the only way their party could win, refused to take 'no' for an answer and insisted the President would get in when the time came."

Long added he doesn't believe Eisenhower will yield to that pressure.

In an interview on national politics, Long contended Warren would make the strongest GOP candidate, with Eisenhower out, "Although I don't think he would carry a southern state.

"Actually, his decision on segregation, involving schools and parks, would assure his defeat in the South although it would gain him a substantial vote in many of the larger states."

Didn't Democratic Justices vote with Warren on the segregation issues?

"That's correct." Long replied, "and my reaction to that is not one of them could be elected dog-catcher in the Southland today."

Long's views are part of the political pattern in Louisiana, where five Democratic candidates are campaigning for governor, heading for the Jan. 17 primary. There is no GOP rival.

Gov. Kennon is backing, though not opely, his former highway chairman, Fred Preaus.

Sen. Long earlier this week ended silence on whether he has patched a political quarrel with his uncle, former Gov. Earl Long. The senator said he will vote for his uncle who is seeking a third stay in the mansion.

The senator and Earl Long split in the 1952 gubernatorial campaign when Russell Long swung his support to U.S. Rep. Hale Boggs for governor, while Earl Long pushed his own personal choice, Carlos Spaht, a Baton Rouge district judge. Spaht entered the runoff but Kennon overwhelmingly beat him.

The former governor's off-the-record remarks about his nephew after that sometimes turned the air a heavy blue.

With Preaus and Long in the campaign are New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison, former State Police Supt. Francis Grevemberg and James M. McLemore.

Sen. Long will be at the airport in New Orleans Dec. 2 to greet New York Gov. Averell Harriman, when he arrives to address the Foreign Policy Assn.

Long said Harriman, considered one of the leading contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination, expects to confer with some Louisiana Democratic leaders. "But he is not campaigning and is not seeking commitments from anyone," the senator added. Harriman will lunch with New Orleans businessmen.

Does Sen. Long favor Harriman at this time?

"No, I'm not supporting any particular Democratic candidate now, but I find it inconceivable that the Democratic convention would nominate a candidate whom I would not support.

"I backed Sen. Richard Russell last time, and was proud to support Stevenson when he was the one nominated."

Stevenson is expected Tuesday to indicate his intention to make the race again.

Besides Stevenson and Harriman, Sen. Long said, he considers four colleagues good nomination possibilities—Sens. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Stewart Symington of Missouri.

Gov. Kennon recently mentioned Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio as a good Democratic potential for president.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By FLETA D. LATHAM

December 2, opening date for "Dial M for Murder" is rapidly drawing near. The set is almost complete and rehearsals are progressing nicely. Properties chairman Sally Peptone, is busy gathering props and furniture for the set.

Among the items needed are the following: blue fiber attache case, Sheraton chair, desk and sofa, gold recocco mirror, tennis trophies and a small bed. If you have any of these and can spare them for awhile please telephone 3-8413 or 3-1162. Arrangements will be made to pick them up.

Random notes: Talent in the Kulcke family is not confined to Max's (Grandpere in "The Happy Time") acting ability. The entire family took part in constructing and furnishing the most enchanting doll house. It is complete from carpeting to ruffled curtains and venetian blinds.

Joan Sugar arrives home today. She has been visting in White Sulphur Springs, Virginia. The Trousdales are busy travelers these days. Mrs. James Trousdale, Sr. has recently returned from a tour of Europe. General and Mr. George Trousdale attended the Dubutantes' Ball in New Orleans this last Thursday. Their daughter, Nancy, was one of the debutantes. The theme of the ball was Walt Disney's fabulous characters . . . Weekending in New Orleans is Tommy Robert. Wonder if there is a special reason for Tommy's frequent trips to the Crescent City.

One week ago today marked the fiftieth anniversary of James Barrie's "Peter Pan". It was introduced to an American audience at the Empire Theatre in New York. The title role was played by Maude Adams whose death at 81 took place two years ago. The story of "Peter Pan' will continue to enthrall young and old alike for years to come.

We hear the Symphony Association of Monroe and West Monroe had a very successful membership drive under the leadership of Chairman Emy-Lou Bienvenham. Several years ago she headed an equally successful Little Theatre drive.

Billie Russell is fully recuperated from a serious operation. Will be nice to see her at the theatre again . . . Also on the recovery list is Roz Haas' mother, Mrs. Annie Perlstein who has been ill for the past several months. . . .

Little Theatreites Nita Brinson and Frances Ritter are chairman and co-chairman of the annual Quota Club Bazaar to be held Monday, November 14 . . . And that's curtains for today. See you Tuesday.

Art Illustrator To Pick Demons Campus Beauties

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 12 (Special)—Jon Whitcomb, nationally-recognized artist, will judge Northwestern State college's yearbook beauty contest for the coming years, announced Gerald Tilleux of Shreveport, editor of the Potpourri.

Candidates for the beauty section of the yearbook were selected recently and the photographs will be forwarded to Whitcomb in the near future, Tilleux said.

Whitcomb, who has one of the largest followings among American illustrators, is famous for being able to present "America's number-one pictorial motif, the pretty girl," in a particularly fresh and enticing manner.

Narcotics Raid Nets 88 Persons, $100,000 In Dope

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—UP —Detectives posing as addicts wound up the biggest mass narcotics raids in the city's history Saturday with the arrest of 88 alleged users and peddlers and seizure of $100,000 worth of marijuana, heroin and cocaine.

The raids began Friday morning and ended early Saturday. Authorities said other raids may be ordered without warning.

All 167 men and 13 women on the police narcotics squad were pressed into service in the raids, which covered all of the city except Staten Island. The force had laid careful plans for the clamp-down for the last three weeks and apparently caught their quarry by surprise.

Seized along with the 88 were nearly 20 ounces of deadly contraband heroin, an ounce of cocaine, 14 pounds of marijuana, 300 marijuana cigarets and illegal hypodermic equipment, police said.

To get evidence against the persons arrested, detectives posed as narcotics addicts seeking to make purchases. For three weeks, the detectives sought out "pushers," most of them small-time operators, from whom to buy narcotics and made dates with them for Friday and Friday night.

When the appointments were kept, the detectives arrested the peddlers. Terranova said none of the detectives met resistance, but three adicts were armed with dangerous weapons.

Random notes: Talent in the Kulcke family is not confined to Max's (Grandpere in "The Happy Time") acting ability. The entire family took part in constructing and furnishing the most enchanting doll house. It is complete from carpeting to ruffled curtains and venetian blinds.

Joan Sugar arrives home today. She has been visting in White Sulphur Springs, Virginia. The Trousdales are busy travelers these days. Mrs. James Trousdale, Sr. has recently returned from a tour of Europe. General and Mr. George Trousdale attended the Dubutantes' Ball in New Orleans this last Thursday. Their daughter, Nancy, was one of the debutantes. The theme of the ball was Walt Disney's fabulous characters . . . Weekending in New Orleans is Tommy Robert. Wonder if there is a special reason for Tommy's frequent trips to the Crescent City.

One week ago today marked the fiftieth anniversary of James Barrie's "Peter Pan". It was introduced to an American audience at the Empire Theatre in New York. The title role was played by Maude Adams whose death at 81 took place two years ago. The story of "Peter Pan' will continue to enthrall young and old alike for years to come.

We hear the Symphony Association of Monroe and West Monroe had a very successful membership drive under the leadership of Chairman Emy-Lou Bienenharn. Several years ago she headed an equally successful Little Theatre drive.

Billie Russell is fully recuperated from a serious operation. Will be nice to see her at the theatre again . . . Also on the recovery list is Roz Haas' mother, Mrs. Annie Perlstein who has been ill for the past several months. . .

Little Theatreites Nita Brinson and Frances Ritter are chairman and co-chairman of the annual Quota Club Bazaar to be held Monday, November 14 . . . And that's curtains for today. See you Tuesday.

Art Illustrator To Pick Demons Campus Beauties

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 12 (Special)—Jon Whitcomb, nationally-recognized artist, will judge Northwestern State college's yearbook beauty contest for the coming years, announced Gerald Tilleux of Shreveport, editor of the Potpourri.

Candidates for the beauty section of the yearbook were selected recently and the photographs will be forwarded to Whitcomb in the near future, Tilleux said.

Whitcomb, who has one of the largest followings among American illustrators, is famous for being able to present "America's number-one pictorial motif, the pretty girl," in a particularly fresh and enticing manner.

Narcotics Raid Nets 88 Persons, $100,000 In Dope

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—UP —Detectives posing as addicts wound up the biggest mass narcotics raids in the city's history Saturday with the arrest of 88 alleged users and peddlers and seizure of $100,000 worth of marijuana, heroin and cocaine.

The raids began Friday morning and ended early Saturday. Authorities said other raids may be ordered without warning.

All 167 men and 13 women on the police narcotics squad were pressed into service in the raids, which covered all of the city except Staten Island. The force had laid careful plans for the clampdown for the last three weeks and apparently caught their quarry by surprise.

Seized along with the 88 were nearly 20 ounces of deadly contraband heroin, an ounce of cocaine, 14 pounds of marijuana, 300 marijuana cigarets and illegal hypodermic equipment, police said.

To get evidence against the persons arrested, detectives posed as narcotics addicts seeking to make purchases. For three weeks, the detectives sought out "pushers," most of them small-time operators, from whom to buy narcotics and made dates with them for Friday and Friday night.

When the appointments were kept, the detectives arrested the peddlers. Terranova said none of the detectives met resistance, but three adicts were armed with dangerous weapons.

Slack-Water Navigation Achieved

Slack-water navigation on the Ouachita River, on a year-round basis, became a reality as the result of an Act of Congress adopted June 13, 1902, and subsequent Acts, providing originally for nine locks and dams, which later were reduced to six.

The work dragged, and obstacles not visioned by the engineers intruded; and in the year 1915 a crisis was reached; and the Rivers and Harbors Act of that year provided for a rexamination of the entire project by the Chief of Engineers, to determine whether the work should be completed or abandoned. Hearings were held up and down the river, to ascertain public sentiment. The Ouachita River Navigation Association had been formed to obtain cooperation between prospective shippers and water transport companies. Adolf Felsenthal of Arkansas was the prime mover in this pioneer endeavor.

The Board of Engineers, in a report issued in October, 1918, recommended that a year-round slack-water channel was feasible as far upstream as Camden, but urged modification of the lock and dam system.

The Rivers and Harbors Act of 1919 provided the final authority for a slack-water 6½-foot channel connecting the Ouachita-Black River, from its confluence with the Mississippi to Camden, on a basis of six locks and dams.

The work was completed in August, 1924, with a total expenditure of $4,524,418.56.

Here, at a tremendous cost, was a waterway navigable every day and every month—serving all the cities and villages and settlements of the vast and rich Ouachita basin. How has it been used? Has it been used? Do we as residents of Northeast Louisiana and Southeast Arkansas realize its tremendous potential value? Do we grasp the essential fact that at our doorstep is a mighty artery of commerce that could connect us with the vast industrial East, and the steel crucibles of Pittsburg, and the vast commerce of the Great Lakes?

We have shown no vision or initiative, except for a small devoted band of men and women, largely based in Camden, that through the years have fought a heroic fight to make the Ouachita River an artery of trade and commerce, and a gateway to an industrial empire.

Second Annual Veterans Day

The nation Friday held its second annual observance of Veterans Day, which has replaced Armistice Day as a holiday, honoring the dead of past wars and the living ex-service men and women.

Armistice Day commemorated the end of World War I. Veterans Day so far has not been widely observed. In many cities, including Monroe, there was no formal observance. This is a sorrowful fact, since the men who have been in the armed services since the birth of this nation deserve a better tribute. It is true, of course, that memorial services are observed in the spring, at the graves of soldiers, particularly those who fought in the War Between the States.

Former President Hoover, acting for President Eisenhower, placed a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River from the National Capital. In brief eloquent words he called for a renewed dedication "to the eternal quest for the Holy Grail of lasting peace"; and to the welfare of those who were maimed in war, and their dependents.

In Birmingham, Secretary of the Air Force Quarles reminded the people that to insure its own survival America must maintain a superiority in weapons "tomorrow, next year, and next decade—so long as they are needed."

Veterans themselves, and their organizations, should take primary responsibility for and leadership in the development of Veterans Day programs throughout the land.

This day should be made significant, annually, in justice to the memory of those who gave their lives fighting for this country.

It is, of course, a new holiday, and its pattern of observance has not as yet been fixed by custom and tradition. Merely to let it go by, without formal recognition in most communities, is a little shocking.

Help Asked For Retarded Children

The Northeast Louisiana Association for Retarded Children is opening its annual drive for funds, as an active branch of the National Association for Retarded Children.

The regional and national associations seek to help the five-million retarded children and adults in America. They are doing a great work, which affects about three per cent of the total population of America. They sponsor research into the causes of mental retardation, and seek to provide medical and social treatment, and develop and carry out educational methods under which those afflicted may be trained to make fullest use of their capabilities and, in many instances, become useful self - sustaining members of society.

The national association was organized only in 1950, but already it has 400 affiliates. This week has been designated as "National Retarded Children's Week."

Canvassers will seek donations, but the public, if unsolicited, may mail contributions to the retarded children, in care of the local postmaster, or the regional association.

First Step Is Balanced Budget

"Taxes should be reduced, but the first step is a balanced budget, and every effort must be bent to balance the budget." That eminently logical statement comes from Congressman Rees of Kansas. Then he says: "Government employment can and should be reduced at least 10 per cent without any impairment of essential government services. In fact, greater efficiency should result."

Here is a goal that Congress and the Executive branch should go all out to reach—and, in doing that, they will earn the heartfelt thanks of the hardpressed American taxpayer.

No Better Investment

Oak Grove, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I want to congratulate you on your editorial in regard to the Boy Scouts and similar fund raising drives in Monroe. While it appears that the people in the smaller towns and cities in northeast Louisiana are more liberal in proportion to their number and ability to give than the citizens and businesses in Monroe, it is still true that these worthy drives are not supported as they should be anywhere.

I am particularly interested in and acquainted with the Boy Scout program in the Ouachita Valley area although the Girl Scouts, Salvation Army and such organizations are doing just as worthy work. There is no doubt but that the Boy Scout program is doing more to build character and prevent juvenile delinquency in our nation today than any other influence outside of the home, the church and the school. It deserves and should receive the wholehearted support of everyone. Although there are hundreds of volunteer workers in the Ouachita Valley area giving their valuable time and energy to help build character in the men of tomorrow through Scouting, it takes money to keep such an organization going and expanding to reach more and more boys each year.

It is a shame and a disgrace that so much valuable time has to be wasted knocking on doors to get pennies and dollars for such worthy work. The annual quota for the Boy Scouts should be over subscribed in twenty - four hours in Monroe and every other city and town, without any effort at all. There is no town so small nor so poor but that there should be some $50.00, $100.00 and larger givers to Scouting in it, and certainly in Monroe there should be many $100.00, $500.00 and $1,000.00 givers.

A gift to Scouting is not a charitable donation. It is an investment in the character of the men of tomorrow. And certainly it is much better to build character in our boys today than to spend many times over the amount we invest today in more and larger prisons for the men of tomorrow. No one can possibly make a better investment than he can make by investing in Scouting and I urge you to continue in your strong support of the Boy Scout program and other such worthy organizations.

DONALD B. FISKE
Mayor of Oak Grove.

Academic Freedom

Mer Rouge, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Academic Freedom, as Noah Webster defines the term is: "Freedom of a teacher, especially a college or university professor to express the truth as he sees it; immunity of a teacher, or professor from loss of position because of individual opinions."

It strikes this writer that a definition of the same construction would cover a hatched term of "Bootlegger Freedom," "Drunken Driver Freedom" or other illicit occupations.

It can be argued that a drunken driver is a menace to life and limb of others along a highway. That is quite true, but he is a menace to a small area in his immediate vicinity. With equal reasoning it can be claimed that the Academician who teaches a heresy like communism is a threat to the life and liberty to every man, woman and child in the entire world.

Communism as it is taught and practiced has already destroyed countless lives and suppressed the liberty of millions upon millions in Europe and Asia.

Anyone, be he a teacher in a classroom or a bar fly in a dive, who teaches communism or condones it should be dealt with in a manner to deter others with like ideas.

There is no sense whatever in allowing any one, under the guise of freedom of action to destroy the freedom of others.

A man so inclined may think he has a perfect right to the use of tobacco or intoxicating drinks, but he has no right whatever to try to make others adopt the practice.

T. Y. HARP.

Communist Victory

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I see that the communists have won another victory in the Supreme Court of the United States. The Court upheld a decision by the U. S. Court of appeals outlawing segregation in public parks and swimming pools, paid for with tax money by white property owners.

A balance of property tax receipts, money that public institutions are built with, will show that Negroes pay less than one per cent of the grand total; but the communists and the Court, in effect, say, that white property owners supply all facilities, pay all the bills, and have no right to protect public health, morals, decency, virtue, or intergity; but must conglomerate into one mass volume; and condescend to the servants of the grand master, but now everyone must pay tribute and homage to the grand master of the Russian Atheist Empire.

If the tax payers have no choice in how their tax money shall be spent, and who shall reap the benefits thereof, then it will be prudence to sell public parks, pools and the like, to private ownership and let them charge a fee for the use of them. Then if the communists or others, want community institutions, they can build them with their own money and run them as they please.

All of those court activities were wrought by white communists who were the founders and are the promotors of the NAACP, an organization created to exploit the ignorance and the pocket books of poor Negroes, by inducing them to contribute to their own destruction.

IN WASHINGTON

Government Censorship

A congressional investigating committee on government information has begun a long awaited hearing into the withholding of information by executive departments of the government. Its objective is commendable, but a tinkling note of hypocrisy is inescapable.

Most Washington newsmen, including those with newspapers, TV and radio are agreed that much information is withheld by members and committees of Congress, but the House and Senate take refuge behind the same security rule as the executive branch—that any matter maybe discussed behind closed doors if a committee chairman decides that it should be kept confidential.

It is also agreed that newswriters have better access to information around the Capitol than in the executive departments, because members of Congress are by nature a talkative breed. Shrewd reporters often derive satisfaction from the secrecy of committee hearings because they have their own private sources who will give them information not available to their competitors. But that is not as accurate a means as listening to the testimony of committee witnesses and thus obtaining the story first hand.

Those who gather and distribute news face a whole field of hurdles which they must jump to get information, because government agencies in many instances have devised methods of keeping from the press any facts which may be interpreted as reflecting on their operations, or any which they decide newsgathers are not enutled to.

The result has been the "pipeline' by which some reporters obtain allegedly secret information, which reflects upon government officials, whether accurate or not.

Another use of the "pipeline" usually by trade publications, permits them to obtain much information of a technical nature well in advance of its release for general publications. News about new defense weapons is often obtained in this way. Although the security officials of the departments concerned protests about "leaks", and insist that the information is classifled, their top officials often fail to back them up.

The Washington bureaucracy has grown to such vast proportions that gathering of information for news purposes presents a greater problem of organization than it did 20 years ago when government expansion under the New Deal was in full swing. At the same time government agencies have gone through two war periods when they were able to specify what should and should not be printed, and during which there grew up classifications of news. Some 30 of these now exist, including a number which are not related to national security. Hundreds of government employees are listed as information specialists, a capacity in which many place more emphasis on sending out their departmental press releases than in supplying specific information asked for by the new distributing organizations.

Repeated criticism has been directed at the Eisenhower directive of May 1954, intended to remove some of the irritations of classification, but interpreted by each agency according to the views of department heads and their assistants.

For example, parts of the letter of resignation of General Matthew B. Ridgway as army chief of staff were withheld by Secretary Charles E. Wilson on the ground that they did not make "a constructive contribution to the primary mission of the Defense Department".

An even more pointed example was the obstacle placed in the assembling of information necessary to present a complete picture of the Dixon-Yates power plant negotiations.

Deputy Postmaster General Faces Quiz Over $295,000

WASHINGTON — The recently appointed Deputy Postmaster General faces a Senate investigation over $295,000 paid his firm by the Post Office department before he took office.

Maurice H. Stans will be called by the Senate Post Office and Civil Service committee to justify the expenditure before the committee will send his name to the Senate for confirmation, Congressional Quarterly learned.

The Democratic - controlled committee most likely will attempt to use Stans as an example of "Big Business" domination of the Republican administration.

Public hearings on Stans will be coupled with a previously announced committee investigation into charges by Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D S. C.) that the Republican administration is selling postmaster jobs to the highest bidder.

John ton said the hearings would start before January, they may kick - off the 1956 Democratic effort to wrest control of the presidency from the GOP and strengthen Democratic control of Congress.

Stans, a 47 - year - old Chicagoan, was given a recess appointment by President Eisenhower Sept. 9. He took over the $17,500 a year post Oct. 1. He was an executive partner of Chicago's Alexander Grant and Co., a major accounting firm with offices in 10 cities. Stans told CQ his firm handled $295,000 worth of work for the Post Office department between May, 1953, and Sept. 30, 1955, at the request of his current boss, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Committee Counsel H. W. Brawley said the committee will examine closely the money paid Stans' firm. "That's a lot of money for two years and four months work," Brawley said. Johnston said his committee "will investigate everything that needs investigating," adding the hearings "may last all year."

Stans, who stalks African lions for a hobby, said he was unafraid of facing Johnston's committee and explaining the $295,000 payment. He estimated the accounting system recommended by his firm for the Department already has saved the government several millions of dollars, eliminated 5,000 postal jobs.

There isn't any conflict of interest between his private work and his government post, Stans said, because he severed all private business connections the day before he took office. In addition, he continued, he cancelled the contract between his company and the government even though it was not a prerequisite for becoming Deputy Postmaster General.

Stans' explanation of the work done by his company for the government could prove a political boomerang for the Democrats. Stans said he found such antiquated fiscal methods as putting post office funds in labeled cigar boxes, instead of recording amounts in ledgers.

He took the Deputy Postmaster General's post, Stans continued, so he could finish the work of putting the department on a paying basis.

"Highest Bidder"

Johnston isn't likely to query Stans about alleged buying and selling of postmaster jobs. These hearings revolve around Johnston's charge that "the jobs of postmasters and postal employees . . . have been sold to the highest bidder." The Senator also accuses the administration of "The sale of rural mail carrier jobs in many areas . . . as a device to replenish the coffers of the local Republican committees."

Brawley said the committee's six investigators have uncovered "lots' of wrongdoing so far. An increased postal inspector force, he said, has been used by the GOP to scare postmasters into resigning, thus enabling the Republicans to fill between 11,000 and 15,000 of the 38,000 postmaster jobs since they took office in 1953.

Brawley's figures "sound ridiculous," George Stafford, administrative assistant to Sen. Frank Carlson (R Kan.) said. Carlson, ranking Republican member of the committee and its chairman in the 83rd Congress, said the GOP would welcome an inquiry into the Post Office department. Added Stafford: "If there is any wrongdoing, we are as anxious as anyone else to correct it."

What Good Is A Lazy Woman?

There is one haloed chap in every community who is pitied by all.

"That poor man," the gossips will say, "is throwing his life away on that woman."

Generally they mean his wife.

He works very hard, but her taste for luxury or her insecure passion for saving seems continually to flog him to work harder.

The poor man hardly ever wears a new suit, while she is always decked out in the very latest. He is required to commute hours a day, just because she prefers the suburbs.

Or perhaps he works so hard, poor man, and she never fixes him a decent meal.

Another form of female sadism requires his presence at "the right places," but denies his inalienable right to go fishing.

I have overheard women carp and criticize such Simon Legrees to a fare-you-well. . . .

But I have yet to hear any man say another man is thus abused.

You know why? You know the reason a man with a wife who is "too lazy" or "too ambitious" is not generally pitied by other men? I have a theory.

Because if a wife does absolutely nothing but lie around on a chaise lounge all day long tending her nails or reading poetry, she may yet be exerting the maximum influence on her man — for good!

Most of us would not marry a woman of that particular description in the first place, but the man who does and continues to adore her is not a man to be pitied.

If her magic motivates him to work twice as hard as he other wise might, she, for all her own laziness, is bringing out the best in him.

I know a woman who is so frugal, due to a scalding experience during the depression of the early thirties, she forces her husband to absurd extremes.

He has more than twenty thousand dollars invested and his home is paid for — and he drives a Model-A Ford.

But, as George Burns says, he loves her, that's why.

And if I were able and willing to thrust my own preference for "balanced living" on their household, I might discover too late that I had, instead, upset her mental balance and destroyed what is now an intensely happy union.

The good neighbor policy should require each of us to mind his own business. When that's done well, somehow neighbor - relations take care of themselves.

Somehow, she always appears a little unkempt at the banquet table.

But something about that woman has inspired that man to heights which I am confident he could never otherwise have achieved.

Every time I see her and allow myself to reflect on the improvement which might be wrought by a pair of scissors, I remember Samson.

Anyway, with whatever weapons the good women of this earth tame the emotions and channel the energies of the male animal, don't pity him.

The modern man has never had it so good.

Slack-Water Navigation Achieved

Slack-water navigation on the Ouachita River, on a year-round basis, became a reality as the result of an Act of Congress adopted June 13, 1902, and subsequent Acts, providing originally for nine locks and dams, which later were reduced to six.

The work dragged, and obstacles not visioned by the engineers intruded; and in the year 1915 a crisis was reached; and the Rivers and Harbors Act of that year provided for a rexamination of the entire project by the Chief of Engineers, to determine whether the work should be completed or abandoned. Hearings were held up and down the river, to ascertain public sentiment. The Ouachita River Navigation Association had been formed to obtain cooperation between prospective shippers and water transport companies. Adolf Felsenthal of Arkansas was the prime mover in this pioneer endeavor.

The Board of Engineers, in a report issued in October, 1918, recommended that a year-round slack-water channel was feasible as far upstream as Camden, but urged modification of the lock and dam system.

The Rivers and Harbors Act of 1919 provided the final authority for a slack-water 6½-foot channel connecting the Ouachita-Black River, from its confluence with the Mississippi to Camden, on a basis of six locks and dams.

The work was completed in August, 1924, with a total expenditure of $4,524,418.56.

Here, at a tremendous cost, was a waterway navigable every day and every month—serving all the cities and villages and settlements of the vast and rich Ouachita basin. How has it been used? Has it been used? Do we as residents of Northeast Louisiana and Southeast Arkansas realize its tremendous potential value? Do we grasp the essential fact that at our doorstep is a mighty artery of commerce that could connect us with the vast industrial East, and the steel crucibles of Pittsburg, and the vast commerce of the Great Lakes?

We have shown no vision or initiative, except for a small devoted band of men and women, largely based in Camden, that through the years have fought a heroic fight to make the Ouachita River an artery of trade and commerce, and a gateway to an industrial empire.

Second Annual Veterans Day

The nation Friday held its second annual observance of Veterans Day, which has replaced Armistice Day as a holiday, honoring the dead of past wars and the living ex-service men and women.

Armistice Day commemorated the end of World War I. Veterans Day so far has not been widely observed. In many cities, including Monroe, there was no formal observance. This is a sorrowful fact, since the men who have been in the armed services since the birth of this nation deserve a better tribute. It is true, of course, that memorial services are observed in the spring, at the graves of soldiers, particularly those who fought in the War Between the States.

Former President Hoover, acting for President Eisenhower, placed a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River from the National Capital. In brief eloquent words he called for a renewed dedication "to the eternal quest for the Holy Grail of lasting peace"; and to the welfare of those who were maimed in war, and their dependents.

In Birmingham, Secretary of the Air Force Quarles reminded the people that to insure its own survival America must maintain a superiority in weapons "tomorrow, next year, and next decade—so long as they are needed."

Veterans themselves, and their organizations, should take primary responsibility for and leadership in the development of Veterans Day programs throughout the land.

This day should be made significant, annually, in justice to the memory of those who gave their lives fighting for this country.

It is, of course, a new holiday, and its pattern of observance has not as yet been fixed by custom and tradition. Merely to let it go by, without formal recognition in most communities, is a little shocking.

Help Asked For Retarded Children

The Northeast Louisiana Association for Retarded Children is opening its annual drive for funds, as an active branch of the National Association for Retarded Children.

The regional and national associations seek to help the five-million retarded children and adults in America. They are doing a great work, which affects about three per cent of the total population of America. They sponsor research into the causes of mental retardation, and seek to provide medical and social treatment, and develop and carry out educational methods under which those afflicted may be trained to make fullest use of their capabilities and, in many instances, become useful self - sustaining members of society.

The national association was organized only in 1950, but already it has 400 affiliates. This week has been designated as "National Retarded Children's Week."

Canvassers will seek donations, but the public, if unsolicited, may mail contributions to the retarded children, in care of the local postmaster, or the regional association.

First Step Is Balanced Budget

"Taxes should be reduced, but the first step is a balanced budget, and every effort must be bent to balance the budget." That eminently logical statement comes from Congressman Rees of Kansas. Then he says: "Government employment can and should be reduced at least 10 per cent without any impairment of essential government services. In fact, greater efficiency should result."

Here is a goal that Congress and the Executive branch should go all out to reach—and, in doing that, they will earn the heartfelt thanks of the hardpressed American taxpayer.

No Better Investment

Oak Grove, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I want to congratulate you on your editorial in regard to the Boy Scouts and similar fund raising drives in Monroe. White it appears that the people in the smaller towns and cities in northeast Louisiana are more liberal in proportion to their number and ability to give than the citizens and businesses in Monroe, it is still true that these worthy drives are not supported as they should be anywhere.

I am particularly interested in and acquainted with the Boy Scout program in the Ouachita Valley area although the Girl Scouts, Salvation Army and such organizations are doing just as worthy work. There is no doubt but that the Boy Scout program is doing more to build character and prevent juvenile delinquency in our nation today than any other influence outside of the home, the church and the school. It deserves and should receive the wholehearted support of everyone. Although there are hundreds of volunteer workers in the Ouachita Valley area giving their valuable time and energy to help build character in the men of tomorrow through Scouting, it takes money to keep such an organization going and expanding to reach more and more boys each year.

It is a shame and a disgrace that so much valuable time has to be wasted knocking on doors to get pennies and dollars for such worthy work. The annual quota for the Boy Scouts should be over subscribed in twenty - four hours in Monroe and every other city and town, without any effort at all. There is no town so small nor so poor but that there should be some $50.00, $100.00 and larger givers to Scouting in it, and certainly in Monroe there should be many $100.00, $500.00 and $1,000.00 givers.

A gift to Scouting is not a charitable donation. It is an investment in the character of the men of tomorrow. And certainly it is much better to build character in our boys today than to spend many times over the amount we invest today in more and larger prisons for the men of tomorrow. No one can possibly make a better investment than he can make by investing in Scouting and I urge you to continue in your strong support of the Boy Scout program and other such worthy organizations.

Academic Freedom

Mer Rouge, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Academic Freedom, as Noah Webster defines the term is: "Freedom of a teacher, especially a college or university professor to express the truth as he sees it; immunity of a teacher, or professor from loss of position because of individual opinions."

It strikes this writer that a definition of the same construction would cover a hatched term of "Bootlegger Freedom," "Drunken Driver Freedom" or other illicit occupations.

It can be argued that a drunken driver is a menace to life and limb of others along a highway. That is quite true, but he is a menace to a small area in his immediate vicinity. With equal reasoning it can be claimed that the Academician who teaches a heresy like communism is a threat to the life and liberty to every man, woman and child in the entire world.

Communism as it is taught and practiced has already destroyed countless lives and suppressed the liberty of millions upon millions in Europe and Asia.

Anyone, be he a teacher in a classroom or a bar fly in a dive, who teaches communism or condones it should be dealt with in a manner to deter others with like ideas.

There is no sense whatever in allowing any one, under the guise of freedom of action to destroy the freedom of others.

A man so inclined may think he has a perfect right to the use of tobacco or intoxicating drinks, but he has no right whatever to try to make others adopt the practice.

T. Y. HARP.

Communist Victory

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I see that the communists have won another victory in the Supreme Court of the United States. The Court upheld a decision by the U. S. Court of appeals outlawing segregation in public parks and swimming pools, paid for with tax money by white property owners.

A balance of property tax receipts, money that public institutions are built with, will show that Negroes pay less than one per cent of the grand total; but the communists and the Court, in effect, say, that white property owners supply all facilities, pay all the bills, and have no right to protect public health, morals, decency, virtue, or intergity; but must conglomerate into one mass volume; and condescend to the servants of the grand master, but now everyone must pay tribute and homage to the grand master of the Russian Atheist Empire.

If the tax payers have no choice in how their tax money shall be spent, and who shall reap the benefits thereof, then it will be prudence to sell public parks, pools and the like, to private ownership and let them charge a fee for the use of them. Then if the communists or others, want community institutions, they can build them with their own money and run them as they please.

All of those court activities were wrought by white communists who were the founders and are the promotors of the NAACP, an organization created to exploit the ignorance and the pocket books of poor Negroes, by inducing them to contribute to their own destruction.

Deputy Postmaster General Faces Quiz Over $295,000

WASHINGTON — The recently appointed Deputy Postmaster General faces a Senate investigation over $295,000 paid his firm by the Post Office department before he took office.

Maurice H. Stans will be called by the Senate Post Office and Civil Service committee to justify the expenditure before the committee will send his name to the Senate for confirmation, Congressional Quarterly learned.

The Democratic - controlled committee most likely will attempt to use Stans as an example of "Big Business" domination of the Republican administration.

Public hearings on Stans will be coupled with a previously announced committee investigation into charges by Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D S. C.) that the Republican administration is selling postmaster jobs to the highest bidder.

Johnston said the hearings would start before January; they may kick - off the 1956 Democratic effort to wrest control of the presidency from the GOP and strengthen Democratic control of Congress.

Stans, a 47 - year - old Chicagoan, was given a recess appointment by President Eisenhower Sept. 9. He took over the $17,500 a year post Oct. 1. He was an executive partner of Chicago's Alexander Grant and Co., a major accounting firm with offices in 10 cities. Stans told CQ his firm handled $295,000 worth of work for the Post Office department between May, 1953, and Sept. 30, 1955, at the request of his current boss, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Committee Counsel H. W. Brawley said the committee will examine closely the money paid Stans' firm. "That's a lot of money for two years and four months work," Brawley said. Johnston said his committee "will investigate everything that needs investigating," adding the hearings "may last all year."

Stans, who stalks African lions for a hobby, said he was unafraid of facing Johnston's committee and explaining the $295,000 payment. He estimated the accounting system recommended by his firm for the Department already has saved the government several millions of dollars, eliminated 5,000 postal jobs.

There isn't any conflict of interest between his private work and his government post, Stans said, because he severed all private business connections the day before he took office. In addition, he continued, he cancelled the contract between his company and the government even though it was not a prerequisite for becoming Deputy Postmaster General.

Stans' explanation of the work done by his company for the government could prove a political boomerang for the Democrats. Stans said he found such antiquated fiscal methods as putting post office funds in labeled cigar boxes, instead of recording amounts in ledgers.

He took the Deputy Postmaster General's post, Stans continued, so he could finish the work of putting the department on a paying basis.

"Highest Bidder"

Johnston isn't likely to query Stans about alleged buying and selling of postmaster jobs. These hearings revolve around Johnston's charge that "the jobs of postmasters and postal employees . . . have been sold to the highest bidder." The Senator also accuses the administration of "The sale of rural mail carrier jobs in many areas . . . as a device to replenish the coffers of the local Republican committees."

Brawley said the committee's six investigators have uncovered "lots" of wrongdoing so far. An increased postal inspector force, he said, has been used by the GOP to scare postmasters into resigning, thus enabling the Republicans to fill between 11,000 and 15,000 of the 38,000 postmaster jobs since they took office in 1953.

Brawley's figures "sound ridiculous," George Stafford, administrative assistant to Sen. Frank Carlson (R Kan.) said. Carlson, ranking Republican member of the committee and its chairman in the 83rd Congress, said the GOP would welcome an inquiry into the Post Office department. Added Stafford: "If there is any wrongdoing, we are as anxious as anyone else to correct it."

IN WASHINGTON

Government Censorship

A congressional investigating committee on government information has begun a long awaited hearing into the withholding of information by executive departments of the government. Its objective is commendable, but a tinkling note of hypocrisy is inescapable.

Most Washington newsmen, including those with newspapers, TV and radio are agreed that much information is withheld by members and committees of Congress, but the House and Senate take refuge behind the same security rule as the executive branch—that any matter maybe discussed behind closed doors if a committee chairman decides that it should be kept confidential.

It is also agreed that newswriters have better access to information around the Capitol than in the executive departments, because members of Congress are by nature a talkative breed. Shrewd reporters often derive satisfaction from the secrecy of committee hearings because they have their own private sources who will give them information not available to their competitors. But that is not as accurate a means as listening to the testimony of committee witnesses and thus obtaining the story first hand.

Those who gather and distribute news face a whole field of hurdles which they must jump to get information, because government agencies in many instances have devised methods of keeping from the press any facts which may be interpreted as reflecting on their operations, or any which they decide newsgathers are not entitled to.

The result has been the "pipeline' by which some reporters obtain allegedly secret information, which reflects upon government officials, whether accurate or not.

Another use of the "pipeline" usually by trade publications, permits them to obtain much information of a technical nature well in advance of its release for general publications. News about new defense weapons is often obtained in this way. Although the security officials of the departments concerned protests about "leaks", and insist that the information is classified, their top officials often fail to back them up.

The Washington bureaucracy has grown to such vast proportions that gathering of information for news purposes presents a greater problem of organization than it did 20 years ago when government expansion under the New Deal was in full swing. At the same time government agencies have gone through two war periods when they were able to specify what should and should not be printed, and during which there grew up classifications of news. Some 30 of these now exist, including a number which are not related to national security. Hundreds of government employees are listed as information specialists, a capacity in which many place more emphasis on sending out their departmental press releases than in supplying specific information asked for by the new distributing organizations.

Repeated criticism has been directed at the Eisenhower directive of May 1954, intended to remove some of the irritations of classification, but interpreted by each agency according to the views of department heads and their assistants.

For example, parts of the letter of resignation of General Matthew B. Ridgway as army chief of staff were withheld by Secretary Charles E. Wilson on the ground that they did not make "a constructive contribution to the primary mission of the Defense Department".

An even more pointed example was the obstacle placed in the assembling of information necessary to present a complete picture of the Dixon-Yates power plant negotiations.

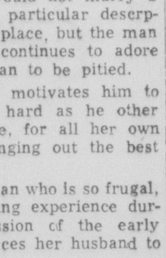
What Good Is A Lazy Woman?

There is one haloed chap in every community who is pitied by all.

"That poor man," the gossips will say, "is throwing his life away on that woman."



Generally they mean his wife.

He works very hard, but her taste for luxury or her insecure passion for saving seems continually to flog him to work harder.

The poor man hardly ever wears a new suit, while she is always decked out in the very latest. He is required to commute hours a day, just because she prefers the suburbs.

Or perhaps he works so hard, poor man, and she never fixes him a decent meal.

Another form of female sadism requires his presence at "the right places," but denies his inalienable right to go fishing.

I have overheard women carp and criticize such Simon Legrees to a fare-you-well. . . .

But I have yet to hear any man say another man is thus abused.

You know why? You know the reason a man with a wife who is "too lazy" or "too ambitious" is not generally pitied by other men? I have a theory.

Because if a wife does absolutely nothing but lie around on a chaise lounge all day long tending her nails or reading poetry, she may yet be exerting the maximum influence on her man — for good!

Most of us would not marry a woman of that particular description in the first place, but the man who does and continues to adore her is not a man to be pitied.

If her magic motivates him to work twice as hard as he other wise might, she, for all her own laziness, is bringing out the best in him.

I know a woman who is so frugal, due to a scalding experience during the depression of the early thirties, she forces her husband to absurd extremes.

He has more than twenty thousand dollars invested and his home is paid for — and he drives a Model-A Ford.

But, as George Burns says, he loves her, that's why.

And if I were able and willing to thrust my own preference for "balanced living" on their household, I might discover too late that I had, instead, upset her mental balance and destroyed what is now an intensely happy union.

The good neighbor policy should require each of us to mind his own business. When that's done well, somehow neighbor - relations take care of themselves.

Somehow, she always appears a little unkempt at the banquet table.

But something about that woman has inspired that man to heights which I am confident he could never otherwise have achieved.

Every time I see her and allow myself to reflect on the improvement which might be wrought by a pair of scissors, I remember Samson.

Anyway, with whatever weapons the good women of this earth tame the emotions and channel the energies of the male animal, don't pity him.

The modern man has never had it so good.

Benny To Assist Drive For Funds To Help Retarded

Retarded children in northeast Louisiana and the nation will get a big send off on their fund drive Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. when Jack Benny will be on a national television hook-up to initiate the drive.

The problem is a big one, with about five million of the 160 million population in the United States affected. This means about one of every 32 persons in the nation has not developed mentality to a point of leading a normal life.

Not all the causes of mental retardation are known to man. However, it is known that birth injuries, accidents and disease can cause it, and it has been proved that this mental problem can be helped.

Little research has been done toward discovery of a remedy and much researching is needed according to the National Association of Retarded Children.

Every citizen has just as much responsibility to the retarded children as any other, the NARC says. It suggests that communities can see to it that there are public school classes for these unfortunates; establish sheltered workshops where the retarded can learn useful work; and see that public institutions for the retarded are operated properly and humanely.

Contributions to the NARC are tax exempt. The organization has members in all 48 states, the District of Columbia and U. S. territories, and is operated on a non-profit, non-sectarian basis.

Local donations may be mailed to: Retarded Children, P. O. Box 2732, Monroe, La.

TO BEGIN FUND DRIVE FOR RETARDED KIDS—Jack Benny is shown as he works with Gary Ahern, 9, and Ann Schneider, 4, mentally retarded children. Benny, who is honorary fund drive chairman for this year's National Retarded Children's Week, Nov. 13-23, will be on a national television hook-up at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday to kick off the fund drive.

Navy Hopes Own Jet To Beat Air Force Record

The plane on which the Navy is pinning its hopes is the F8U Crusader—a sleek, swept-back wing fighter built by Chance Vought Aircraft, Inc., of Dallas, Tex.

The Crusader already has exceeded the speed of sound in level flight and the Navy has hopes, it was learned Saturday, that it will zoom along at around 1,000 miles per hour—or 1 1-2 times the speed of sound—in the speed run.

The current speed record is 822.13 miles per hour, set in August by the Air Force's Supersabre, a fighter now in operational use.

The glory of having the fastest plane has become a matter of pride between the Navy and Air Force. In recent years the record has alternated between the two services, with the Air Force coming up with a faster plane every time the Navy won top honors.

Even if the Navy should win back the speed record now, it is likely to be snatched back in quick order by the Air Force. The Air Force has under test a new day fighter—the F-104—which is believed capable of speeds of 1,200 miles per hour, or twice the speed of sound.

The Crusader and the F-104 now are undergoing flight tests at the flight test center at Edwards Air Force Base in California. The Navy hope is to put the Crusader through speed trials there some time in the next six weeks.

Indication of the Navy's pride in the new Crusader was a Navy spokesman's assertion Saturday that is is "the world's fastest Navy fighter."

Biological Society Hears Discussion On Hemotology

McBride discussed the use of electrophoresis in hemotology, the study of the blood.

The speaker pointed out the value of electrophoresis in detecting diseases which produce abnormalities in the normal constituents of blood serum. This method was employed about fifty years ago, but its real value to science has become significant only in the last decade.

Emphasis also was given by the speaker to the important role which new methods may play in industry and pure science. Many analytical processes currently used in these fields may become outdated, McBride said.

The group who heard the technician included members of the recently-formed society and instructors. They comprised: Beta Sigma President Sue Terral, Mrs. Margarette Larkan, Jamey Nay Poulan, Bill Wilson, Hilda West, Mrs. Marjorie Lewis, Joyce Currey, Newton Grant of the science faculty and Robert Gordon and Edward Whatley, faculty sponsors of the organization.

A million dwelling units have been built in France since the war.

Pennsylvanian Expected To Be Adlai's Manager

By TOM NELSON

CHICAGO, Nov. 12—UP—James A. Finnegan of Pennsylvania was reported Saturday to be in line for appointment as manager of Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

The campaign is expected to get its formal launching here Tuesday, when Stevenson will reveal his plans for next year.

Unless party officials here have been woefully misled, Stevenson's statement Tuesday will announce he is available for the presidential nomination which the Democrats awarded him in 1952.

Associates said Stevenson may disclose the appointment of a manager to handle his roundup of delegates to the Democratic national convention at a news conference he has called Wednesday.

Finnegan, 47-year-old Pennsylvania secretary of the commonwealth was said to have the "inside track" for the job.

He has supported and advised Stevenson since the days in 1952 when the party first began to turn to the then Illinois governor in its quest for a presidential nominee.

And Finnegan has been prominent in the Democrats' resurgence in Pennsylvania, where they have gained control of the state capitol and the reins of city government in Philadelphia.

Stevenson's campaign manager probably will be installed in a suite of three rooms already engaged as his political headquarters, a few steps away from the former governor's law offices.

A staff of about 10 already is functioning there. One office is occupied by a press secretary, Roger Tubby, who was an aide to former President Truman.

Besides his campaign manager and staff, Stevenson is expected to receive political help from a board of stragegy, made up of prominent supporters from throughout the country, and Stevenson "volunteers", whose activities will be directed from another office to be opened in the Board of Trade Building.

Book On Nasser Banned In Iraq

BAGHDAD, Nov. 12 (AP) — The Iraqi Interior Ministry has banned a book about Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser by Egyptian author Anwar Algundi. No reason was given, but it is assumed the book was banned here because it states Nasser's views on Middle East defense treaties which are contrary to Iraqi foreign policy.

Pilot International District Governor Sets Local Visit

Mrs. Josephine Holliday governor of District 3, Pilot International, Tuesday will make an official visit to the local chapter of the organization. District 3 includes Pilot clubs of Louisiana and Mississippi.

Heading the Pilot branch here is Mrs. Rubp Sager, who has had several years of experience in Pilot International work.

Tuesday's agenda will underscore the business meeting, scheduled at 7 p.m. at the Frances Hotel. A luncheon at LaCasa Tea Room will honor the visiting governor, and members of the women's service club will have opportunity to have conferences with her at intervals during the day, Mrs. Sager said.

Mrs. Holliday was born and reared in Kemper County, Mississippi, and she has been recognized as a civic leader in Booneville Miss., where she lives. She is a charter member of the Booneville Pilot Club and has held local offices as president, second vice president, director and chairman of various committees. She also served as District 3 treasurer and Lt. governor.

During the present administration, Mrs. Holliday was honored by being sent to Washington, D.C., in the interest of the Tennessee Valley Authority program development.

She presently is an accountant for the Prentiss County Electric Power Association of Booneville.

Following graduation from Mississippi State College for Women, Mrs. Holliday accepted positions in the educational field of her native state. She served as home demonstration agent with the Mississippi State Extension Service for six years, and taught home economics in Monroe County, Miss.

The district governor has been recognized in civic activities of Booneville, taking part in all such projects which led to the growth and development of the little city. She plays a big part each year in helping Booneville win awards for Mississippi in the State Hospitality Contest and in making her home town known as the "City of Hospitality."

Mrs. Holliday was married in 1940 to Hugh Holliday, widely known professional baseball player.

Long Promises Use Of Tidelands To Replace Taxes

RUSTON, La., Nov. 12 (AP) —Former Gov. Earl Long, swinging his campaign for a third term through northwest Louisiana, today promised a program of industrial, educational and humanitarian progress.

"If we get just half as much money from the tidelands as this present administration," he said, "we not only will give you all the benefits we promised but we'll cut taxes."

Long scored a statement by opposition candidate Fred Preaus that all campaign promises are subject to the whim of the Legislature and no candidate can say for sure what he will do.

"He may not know what he can or can't do," Long said, "but Earl Long knows what can be done in the way of improvements for the people of this state.

"The things I'm promising I know with reasonable certainty we can and will do."

Benny To Assist Drive For Funds To Help Retarded

Retarded children in northeast Louisiana and the nation will get a big send off on their fund drive Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. when Jack Benny will be on a national television hook-up to initiate the drive.

The problem is a big one, with about five million of the 160 million population in the United States affected. This means about one of every 32 persons in the nation has not developed mentality to a point of leading a normal life.

Not all the causes of mental retardation are known to man. However, it is known that birth injuries, accidents and disease can cause it, and it has been proved that this mental problem can be helped.

Little research has been done toward discovery of a remedy and much researching is needed according to the National Association of Retarded Children.

Every citizen has just as much responsibility to the retarded children as any other, the NARC says. It suggests that communities can see to it that there are public school classes for these unfortunates; establish sheltered workshops where the retarded can learn useful work; and see that public institutions for the retarded are operated properly and humanely.

Contributions to the NARC are tax exempt. The organization has members in all 48 states, the District of Columbia and U. S. territories, and is operated on a non-profit, non-sectarian basis.

Local donations may be mailed to: Retarded Children, P. O. Box 2732, Monroe, La.

TO BEGIN FUND DRIVE FOR RETARDED KIDS—Jack Benny is shown as he works with Gary Ahern, 9, and Ann Schneider, 4, mentally retarded children. Benny, who is honorary fund drive chairman for this year's National Retarded Children's Week, Nov. 13-23, will be on a national television hook-up at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday to kick off the fund drive.

Navy Hopes Own Jet To Beat Air Force Record

The plane on which the Navy is pinning its hopes is the F8U Crusader—a sleek, swept-back wing fighter built by Chance Vought Aircraft, Inc., of Dallas, Tex.

The Crusader already has exceeded the speed of sound in level flight and the Navy has hopes, it was learned Saturday, that it will zoom along at around 1,000 miles per hour—or 1 1-2 times the speed of sound—in the speed run.

The current speed record is 822.13 miles per hour, set in August by the Air Force's Supersabre, a fighter now in operational use.

The glory of having the fastest plane has become a matter of pride between the Navy and Air Force. In recent years the record has alternated between the two services, with the Air Force coming up with a faster plane every time the Navy won top honors.

Even if the Navy should win back the speed record now, it is likely to be snatched back in quick order by the Air Force. The Air Force has under test a new day fighter—the F-104—which is believed capable of speeds of 1,200 miles per hour, or twice the speed of sound.

The Crusader and the F-104 now are undergoing flight tests at the flight test center at Edwards Air Force Base in California. The Navy hope is to put the Crusader through speed trials there some time in the next six weeks.

Indication of the Navy's pride in the new Crusader was a Navy spokesman's assertion Saturday that is is "the world's fastest Navy fighter."

Biological Society Hears Discussion On Hemotology

McBride discussed the use of electrophoresis in hemotology, the study of the blood.

The speaker pointed out the value of electrophoresis in detecting diseases which produce abnormalities in the normal constituents of blood serum. This method was employed about fifty years ago, but its real value to science has become significant only in the last decade.

Emphasis also was given by the speaker to the important role which new methods may play in industry and pure science. Many analytical processes currently used in these fields may become outdated, McBride said.

The group who heard the technician included members of the recently-formed society and instructors. They comprised: Beta Sigma President Sue Terral, Mrs. Margarette Larkan, Jamey Nay Poulan, Bill Wilson, Hilda West, Mrs. Marjorie Lewis, Joyce Currey, Newton Grant of the science faculty and Robert Gordon and Edward Whatley, faculty sponsors of the organization.

Visiting Armas Gets Shine From 'Best' Bootblack

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12 (AP) — President Carlos Castillo Armas of Guatemala received a shoe shine from the "world's greatest shoe shine boy" today and he apparently was pleased with the results.

Castillo Armas, winding up a tour of the United States, and his party were leaving a local park after watching a special cattle show when an elderly man, carrying a shoe shine kit, approached.

The man, wearing a badge identifying him as the world's best in his field, pointed to the president's shoes, which had collected considerable dust, and asked permission to shine them.

Numerous Texans Met By Solon On Tour Of Andes

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 12 (AP)— A congressional committee headed by Rep. Bob Poage of Waco, studying South American agriculture, has encountered numerous Texans on its trip through the Andes Mountain countries.

Most have been technical farm experts temporarily on duty in South American countries.

In Ecuador, the congressman saw one former Texan who is on his own, spreading the story of Texas and the United States.

He is John Patterson, 59, director of the American School in Quito.

The educator has retired to a ranch near Uvalde when he was invited four years ago by the president then of Ecuador, Galo Plazo, to come to Quito to direct the school. A privately-owned institution, it has 300 students.

Patterson, who had attended the University of Texas and once taught there, knew Galo Plaza during war when Galo Plaz was ambassador to Washington and Patterson was temporarily with the government.

In La Paz, Bolivia, where the natives are accustomed to the 12,500 foot altitude, the committee encountered several Texans in the U. S. legation.

They included Malcolm Barnebey formerly of Weatherford, Oscar Powell, Byron Scarbrough and Gordon Dubbey, all of San Antonio.

In Bogota, Colombia, they found Joseph Quintanilla formerly of San Antonio, with the U. S. Embassey and doing a lot of translating.

He gave the legislators a reception in the penthouse garden and swimming pool on the top of the the 17-floor hotel, overlooking the snow-capped Andes which range up to 23,000 feet in the area.

Sutherland was born 53 years ago in Beaumont, but spent most of his boyhood in Mexico.

Visiting Armas Gets Shine From 'Best' Bootblack

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12 (AP) — President Carlos Castillo Armas of Guatemala received a shoe shine from the "world's greatest shoe shine boy" today and he apparently was pleased with the results.

Castillo Armas, winding up a tour of the United States, and his party were leaving a local park after watching a special cattle show when an elderly man, carrying a shoe shine kit, approached.

The man, wearing a badge identifying him as the world's best in his field, pointed to the president's shoes, which had collected considerable dust, and asked permission to shine them.

The College Place Baptist Church, located on Sherrouse avenue, will observe its 11th anniversary and homecoming Sunday. Elaborate plans have been made for the day. Dr. Floyd Chaffin, executive secretary of Louisiana Baptists, will be the speaker at the 11 o'clock hour and Dr. T. W. Gayer, superintendent Emeritus of the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home and one of the men largely responsible for the establishment of this church, will speak at the 7:30 p.m. service.

Family style dinner will be served following the morning service and each family is asked to bring a basket lunch.

This will also be victory day endeavoring to underwrite the 1956 budget of $75,000 which is the largest in the history of the church.

This church has grown from a membership of 250 in 1944 to a membership of 1232 today. The Sunday School has an enrollment of 1322 and the training union has an enrollment of 498. This church has witnessed a steady growth from its very beginning and maintained an average attendance of 700 in its Sunday School this past year with a record attendance of 926. Numerous Texans Met By Solon On Tour Of Andes

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 12 (AP)—A congressional committee headed by Rep. Bob Poage of Waco, studying South American agriculture, has encountered numerous Texans on its trip through the Andes Mountain countries.

Most have been technical farm experts temporarily on duty in South American countries.

In Ecuador, the congressman saw one former Texan who is on his own, spreading the story of Texas, and the United States.

He is John Patterson, 59, director of the American School in Quito.

The educator has retired to a ranch near Uvalde when he was invited four years ago by the president then of Ecuador Galo Plazo, to come to Quito to direct the school. A privately-owned institution, it has 900 students.

Patterson, who had attended the University of Texas and once taught there, knew Galo Plaza during war when Galo Plaz was ambassador to Washington and Patterson was temporarily with the government.

In La Paz, Bolivia, where the natives, are accustomed to the 12,500 foot altitude the committee encountered several Texans in the U. S. legation.

They included Malcolm Barnebey formerly of Weatherford; Oscar Powell, Byron Scaravo and Gordon Dabney, all of San Antonio.

In Bogota, Colombia, they found Joseph Quintanilla formerly of San Antonio, with the U. S. Embassey and doing a lot of translating.

He gave the legislators a reception in the penthouse garden and swimming pool on the top of the the 17-floor hotel, overlooking the snowcapped Andes which range up to 23,000 feet in this area.

Sutherland was born 33 years ago in Beaumont, but spent most of his boyhood in Mexico.

Use Of Time Is Top U. S. Asset, Armas Asserts

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12 (AP) — President Carlos Castillo Armas of Guatemala said at Tulane University today that the utilization of time which the people of the U.S. have developed to the highest degree, has been the most important observation during his current visit.

This has also been a lesson which he will present to the people of Guatemala, and try to put into effect in his country, he said.

This "valuable utilization of time by the U. S. people" was first observed when he was at the U. S. Army Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., in 1946, and has impressed him again during his current U.S. visit.

The president and his official party were guests of Tulane university at a reception and luncheon. They later attended the Tulane -Vanderbilt football game.

During the luncheon, Dr. Rufus Harris, Tulane president, presented the Guatemalan chief executive with a set of Middle American Research Institute periodicals on Guatemalan research.

In accepting the gift, Castillo Armas said the need for research, particularly social research, is an essential need of Guatemala today.

The government cannot make decisions affecting the people of a country unless it understands the social needs of the people and undertakes a research program which will lead to that understanding.

Social integration of the people of Guatemala is one of the goals of the present Guatemalan government, he said.

A means to that end, he said, will be a panel discussion on social and other research to be called by the government in January.

Sen. Aiken Says Geneva Failure To Make Ike Run

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said today that "failure of the Geneva conference will greatly increase pressure upon President Eisenhower to seek a second term.

"He is the one man the world now looks to as able to solve our international problems by peace, Aiken said in an interview.

He spoke out while Secretary of State Dulles tried at Geneva to patch up some kind of a joint declaration of the United States, Russia, Britain and France on disarmament. Up to now the foreign ministers meeting there has been marked by bitter disagreement.

Seven weeks ago, when Eisenhower first suffered his heart attack, Aiken said he believed there was little possibility that the President would or could seek another term.

After greeting Eisenhower on his return from Denver yesterday, along with other officials, Aiken said "Ike looks as though he could make the race now, although I'm not urging him to do it."

"Its up to Ike to make that decision, he added, "and we won't draw any conclusions yet."

Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that Russian leaders opposed any reasonable propositions and this doomed the foreign ministers conference at Geneva to failure.

"That means there will be more and increasing clamor for Ike to run again," he added.

Aiken also remarked that most Democratic leaders are willing for Adlai Stevenson to be their presidential nominee again "because they have no confidence for a victory in 1956."

"I believe the Democrats are waiting to see if Iko is going to run again," he said. "The fact that other potential Democratic candidates appear willing to let Adlai try again, indicates to me they privately have little hope of winning."

PETE COATES SELLS '56 FORDS AT McCAIN-RICHARDS

"I've never seen as much enthusiasm for a new car and the trade-in allowances that we at McCain-Richards are now making," says Pete Coates, shown above.

Coates, who has been with McCain-Richards for two years, went on to say, "Everyone has been greatly impressed by the styling and the horsepower in the '56 Ford, but the features which have caused more comment to me have been the new safety steering wheel, the safety door latches and the padded instrument panel." He went on to invite his many friends who have not already done so to take a test ride in the '56 Ford, the safest buy for your family and the best buy for your pocketbook.

MAP HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS—Team leaders plan a house to house march Monday night at 6 p.m. when cheerleaders of three local high schools will solicit funds to strengthen the budget of the local Salvation Army, which is more than $21,000 short of a $30,000 goal. OPHS Lionettes, WMHS Rebelettes and Neville Tigerettes will solicit Monday night. Planning the drive are, left to right: Mrs. Fred Cook, who will direct the Lionettes; Capt. Louis Mockabee, of the Salvation Army; Mrs. M. D. Garlington and Miss Ethel Mae Voss, who will direct the Rebelettes. (Staff Photo)

U. S. Industry Spending Billions On Expansion; See Best Year In 1956

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Have any doubts about the boom lasting at least another year? Then take a look at what the big fellows in U. S. industry are planning.

Two of the nation's industrial giants this week placed billion-dollar bets on the country's economic future. A survey showed that U. S. business as a whole is staking record sums on bigger sales and bigger markets next year.

This all comes under the heading of spending for "expansion"—spending by corporations for new mines, oil wells, chemical plants, factories, trucks, tankers, freight cars, jet airliners, office buildings, shopping centers and the like to handle an expected increase in business.

The sums to be invested stagger the imagination. For example:

Standard Oil Co. (N. J.) announced that in 1956 alone it will sink a record billion dollars into enlarged facilities for discovering, producing refining and marketing oil. That's 20 per cent more than in 1955. Behind this decision, the company said, is "our confidence in the economic outlook."

Chrysler Corp., preparing for "the tremendous markets that are going to open up in the years ahead," unwrapped a billion-dollar program of expansion that will be stretched out over the first five years. The lion's share is earmarked for "automated" equipment.

For a broader view of the business expansion picture, here's what a McGraw-Hill survey turned up:

U. S. industry will lay more than 33½ billions on the line next year for new plants and new equipment. That's a 13 per cent gain over 1955 and the largest peacetime hike in history. Auto companies led by General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, will spend two billion—a whopping 68 per cent increase over 1955. The railroads will up their spending by 30 per cent and the iron and steel companies by 72 per cent.

Economists say stepped - up spending by business will help offset any decline in consumer buying, if there is one.

The expansion programs announced this week came at a time when business activity in many lines was close to record levels.

Auto production was the second highest for any week in history; scheduled steel production again shot past 98 per cent of capacity. The stock market pushed to still another peak. Business loans by leading New York banks were the highest ever recorded.

Other economic indicators:

Corporate dividends paid out in the first nine months this year totaled more than seven billion dollars—a gain of 9½ per cent over the first nine months of 1954.

Jobs in October totaled 65¼ million, a high for that month, and showed an increase of 428,000 over September. Factory workers averaged $78.69 a week, a record.

Business inventories were higher than a year ago, but not in proportion to sales. More steel was produced in October than in any other month in history. Personal income of Americans in October climbed to a record annual rate of 307½ billion dollars, although farmers' income lagged.

Building contracts awarded in October fell below yaer-ago levels for the first time in 18 months, according to F. W. Dodge Corp. government economists said, however, that the outlook is highly encouraging for 1956, with total construction spending expected to show a five per cent rise over this year's record 42 billions. One fly in the ointment: Voters on election day rejected bond issues which were to have financed 982 million dollars of highway construction.

Retail trade slipped a little last month but was still 12 per cent higher than a year earlier. The slight (one per cent) decline from September was concentrated almost entirely in automobile sales, and coincided with factory changeovers to 1956 models. Since then manufacturers have reported an enthusiastic response to their 1956 cars with sales smashing all records.

Sales of general merchandise, clothing, furniture and appliance stores were higher last month than in September while gasoline retailers also did better. Chain stores and mail order houses this week reported thumping sales gains for October as compared to a year ago: Montgomery Ward up 16 per cent, W. T. Grant up 8 per cent, F. W. Woolworth up 6½ per cent, S. S. Kresge up 4 per cent and J. C. Penney Co. 8 per cent higher.

Briefly over the business scene: The public will get a crack early next year at approximately seven million shares of Ford Motor Co. stock to be distributed by the Ford Foundation. It will be the first time that stock in this family-owned corporation has been offered to outsiders. American Airlines ordered 30 jet transports from Boeing Aircraft Co. for $135,000,000. Freeport Sulphur Co. and two independent oil producers drilled an oil well to a record depth of more than four miles in southern Louisiana.

RITES HELD

DONALDSONVILLE, La. —(AP)— Funeral services were held here yesterday for Charles Dixon, 67, Ascension parish school board member.

Morrison Asks Less Give-Away, And Better Jobs

BREAUX BRIDGE, La., Nov. 12 (AP)—Mayor deLesseps Morrison of New Orleans, stumping in his campaign for governor, said today Louisiana deserves a better future than one based on give-away programs.

"The real service that your state government can perform," he said, "is to work for and build a more prosperous Louisiana for the 85 per cent of our people who meet only an opportunity to earn a better living."

He said, "despite all the give-away programs of the past, we are still in the lower one-third of the states economically."

Morrison said he "definitely does not mean we want to minimize the help to those who need it. We are committed to a pension of $65 per month or more and the enlargement of our entire program to help those who cannot help themselves."

Morrison proposed an economic building program in which "we must first concentrate on our smaller cities and towns and go out and sell these communities as sites for factories and processing plants."

"Because this has not been done in the past," he said, "the young, talented people are leaving our small communities to find work in distant cities."

The result, he said, is that families are broken up and parents left alone after spending all their lives and money educating their children.

PERSONAL TOUCH

BISON, Okla.—Mrs. Eva Manchester, 81-year-old telephone operator, isn't worried about being crowded out of business by the new-fangled dial system—it could never give her customers the personal service she does.

Mrs. Manchester has operated the Bison exchange for 18 years, and she's all but adopted her 34 subscribing families. The lucky ones even get examples of her sewing handiwork.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR MERCHANTS

Storekeepers, we think, are entirely too modest. They serve you and your family faithfully every day. Yet how often do you remember their importance in your life? The merchant is a businessman. He must carry a heavy investment. He must own his building or pay rent for it. There are clerks and salespeople to pay. And a constantly-changing display of food or merchandise of some kind. The merchant must always make you think that "the customer is always right." Which isn't always true. So remember the trials and tribulations of your grocer, cleaner, department-store merchant, et cetera. And give them the fairness they deserve!

We Salute Our Town!

YOUR NEXT GOVERNOR

Of the four top candidates in the last Governor's Race I, Jim McLemore, carried six parishes by a clear majority in the 5th district.

NO OTHER CANDIDATE carried this many parishes in the district.

Boggs, who was sent out by Morrison four years ago to test the track, broke down badly and finished last in all parishes except one where he finished third.

Kennon was top man in only two parishes, one of them being Ouachita, where he only beat me by a little over 2,000 votes.

I believe I am now the strongest candidate in 90% of all the parishes in the state.

New Orleans, where I finished fourth last election (causing me not to be in the runoff) will be a different story this time. I did not have any organization nor did I have a ticket to offer the people. THIS TIME I am confident that I may finish first in Orleans parish but no worse than second.

New Orleans citizens, both male and female, have organized what I consider to be the strongest independent organization ever to be formed in New Orleans, known as the MDA (Metropolitan Democratic Association.) Thousands of independent voters have offered their services and are working night and day for our cause.

I have an outstanding and complete ticket to offer the people of New Orleans composed of young energetic business and professional men.

Thanks to the voters of the 5th district for making me top man in the greatest number of parishes.

This election, I have been assured in my visits to the 5th District, you are going to make me top man in all the parishes.

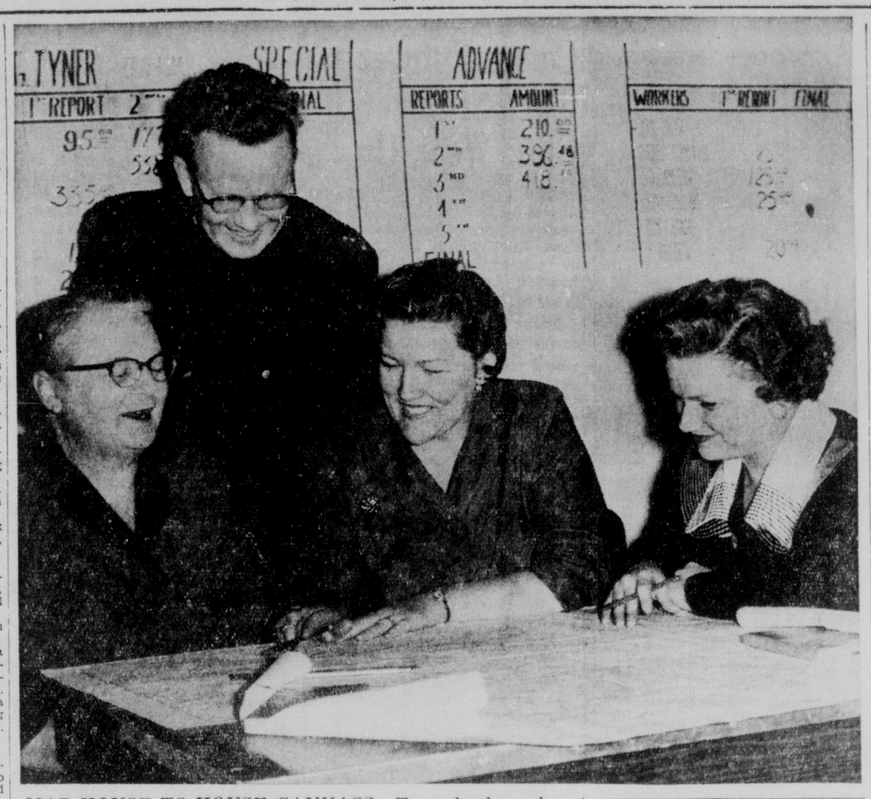
"I've never seen as much enthusiasm for a new car and the trade-in allowances that we at McCain-Richards are now making," says Pete Coates, shown above.

Coates, who has been with McCain-Richards for two years, went on to say, "Everyone has been greatly impressed by the styling and the horsepower in the '56 Ford, but the features which have caused more comment to me have been the new safety steering wheel, the safety door latches and the padded instrument panel." He went on to invite his many friends who have not already done so to take a test ride in the '56 Ford, the safest buy for your family and the best buy for your pocketbook.



MAP HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS—Team leaders plan a house to house march Monday night at 6 p.m. when cheerleaders of three local high schools will solicit funds to strengthen the budget of the local Salvation Army, which is more than $21,000 short of a $30,000 goal. OPHS Lionettes, WMHS Rebelettes and Neville Tigerettes will solicit Monday night. Planning the drive are, left to right: Mrs. Fred Cook, who will direct the Lionettes; Capt. Louis Mockabee, of the Salvation Army; Mrs. M. D. Garlington and Miss Ethel Mae Voss, who will direct the Rebelettes. (Staff Photo)

U. S. Industry Spending Billions On Expansion; See Best Year In 1956

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Have any doubts about the boom lasting at least another year? Then take a look at what the big fellows in U. S. industry are planning.

Two of the nation's industrial giants this week placed billion-dollar bets on the country's economic future. A survey showed that U. S. business as a whole is staking record sums on bigger sales and bigger markets next year.

This all comes under the heading of spending for "expansion"—spending by corporations for new mines, oil wells, chemical plants, factories, trucks, tankers, freight cars, jet airliners, office buildings, shopping centers and the like to handle an expected increase in business.

The sums to be invested stagger the imagination. For example:

Standard Oil Co. (N. J.) announced that in 1956 alone it will sink a record billion dollars into enlarged facilities for discovering, producing refining and marketing oil. That's 20 per cent more than in 1955. Behind this decision, the company said, is "our confidence in the economic outlook."

Chrysler Corp., preparing for "the tremendous markets that are going to open up in the years ahead," unwrapped a billion-dollar program of expansion that will be stretched out over the first five years. The lion's share is earmarked for "automated" equipment.

For a broader view of the business expansion picture, here's what a McGraw-Hill survey turned up:

U. S. industry will lay more than 33½ billions on the line next year for new plants and new equipment. That's a 13 per cent gain over 1955 and the largest peacetime hike in history. Auto companies led by General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, will spend two billion—a whopping 68 per cent increase over 1955. The railroads will up their spending by 30 per cent and the iron and steel companies by 72 per cent.

Economists say stepped - up spending by business will help offset any decline in consumer buying, if there is one.

The expansion programs announced this week came at a time when business activity in many lines was close to record levels.

Auto production was the second highest for any week in history; scheduled steel production again shot past 98 per cent of capacity. The stock market pushed to still another peak. Business loans by leading New York banks were the highest ever recorded.

Other economic indicators:

Corporate dividends paid out in the first nine months this year totaled more than seven billion dollars—a gain of 9½ per cent over the first nine months of 1954.

Jobs in October totaled 65¼ million, a high for that month, and showed an increase of 428,000 over September. Factory workers averaged $78.69 a week, a record.

Business inventories were higher than a year ago, but not in proportion to sales. More steel was produced in October than in any other month in history. Personal income of Americans in October climbed to a record annual rate of 307½ billion dollars, although farmers' income lagged.

Building contracts awarded in October fell below yaer-ago levels for the first time in 18 months, according to F. W. Dodge Corp. government economists said, however, that the outlook is highly encouraging for 1956, with total construction spending expected to show a five per cent rise over this year's record 42 billions. One fly in the ointment: Voters on election day rejected bond issues which were to have financed 982 million dollars of highway construction.

Retail trade slipped a little last month but was still 12 per cent higher than a year earlier. The slight (one per cent) decline from September was concentrated almost entirely in automobile sales, and coincided with factory changeovers to 1956 models. Since then manufacturers have reported an enthusiastic response to their 1956 cars with sales smashing all records.

Sales of general merchandise, clothing, furniture and appliance stores were higher last month than in September while gasoline retailers also did better. Chain stores and mail order houses this week reported thumping sales gains for October as compared to a year ago: Montgomery Ward up 16 per cent, W. T. Grant up 8 per cent, F. W. Woolworth up 6½ per cent, S. S. Kresge up 4 per cent and J. C. Penney Co. 8 per cent higher.

Briefly over the business scene: The public will get a crack early next year at approximately seven million shares of Ford Motor Co. stock to be distributed by the Ford Foundation. It will be the first time that stock in this family-owned corporation has been offered to outsiders. American Airlines ordered 30 jet transports from Boeing Aircraft Co. for $135,000,000. Freeport Sulphur Co. and two independent oil producers drilled an oil well to a record depth of more than four miles in southern Louisiana.

RITES HELD

DONALDSONVILLE, La. —UP— Funeral services were held here yesterday for Charles Dixon, 67, Ascension parish school board member.

Morrison Asks Less Give-Away, And Better Jobs

BREAUX BRIDGE, La., Nov. 12 (AP)—Mayor deLesseps Morrison of New Orleans, stumping in his campaign for governor, said today Louisiana deserves a better future than one based on give-away programs.

"The real service that your state government can perform," he said, "is to work for and build a more prosperous Louisiana for the 85 per cent of our people who meet only an opportunity to earn a better living."

He said, "despite all the give-away programs of the past, we are still in the lower one-third of the states economically."

Morrison said he "definitely does not mean we want to minimize the help to those who need it. We are committed to a pension of $65 per month or more and the enlargement of our entire program to help those who cannot help themselves."

Morrison proposed an economic building program in which "we must first concentrate on our smaller cities and towns and go out and sell these communities as sites for factories and processing plants."

"Because th's has not been done in the past," he said, "the young, talented people are leaving our small communities to find work in distant cities."

The result, he said, is that families are broken up and parents left alone after spending all their lives and money educating their children.

PERSONAL TOUCH

BISON, Okla.—Mrs. Eva Manchester, 81-year-old telephone operator, isn't worried about being crowded out of business by the new-fangled dial system—it could never give her customers the personal service she does.

Mrs. Manchester has operated the Bison exchange for 18 years, and she's all but adopted her 34 subscribing families. The lucky ones even get examples of her sewing handiwork.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR MERCHANTS

Storekeepers, we think, are entirely too modest. They serve you and your family faithfully every day. Yet how often do you remember their importance in your life? The merchant is a businessman. He must carry a heavy investment. He must own his building or pay rent for it. There are clerks and salespeople to pay. And a constantly-changing display of food or merchandise of some kind. The merchant must always make you think that "the customer is always right." Which isn't always true. So remember the trials and tribulations of your grocer, cleaner, department-store merchant, et cetera. And give them the fairness they deserve!

We Salute Our Town!

YOUR NEXT GOVERNOR

Of the four top candidates in the last Governor's Race I, Jim McLemore, carried six parishes by a clear majority in the 5th district.

NO OTHER CANDIDATE carried this many parishes in the district.

Boggs, who was sent out by Morrison four years ago to test the track, broke down badly and finished last in all parishes except one where he finished third.

Kennon was top man in only two parishes, one of them being Ouachita, where he only beat me by a little over 2,000 votes.

I believe I am now the strongest candidate in 90% of all the parishes in the state.

New Orleans, where I finished fourth last election (causing me not to be in the runoff) will be a different story this time. I did not have any organization nor did I have a ticket to offer the people. THIS TIME I am confident that I may finish first in Orleans parish but no worse than second.

New Orleans citizens, both male and female, have organized what I consider to be the strongest independent organization ever to be formed in New Orleans, known as the MDA (Metropolitan Democratic Association.) Thousands of independent voters have offered their services and are working night and day for our cause.

I have an outstanding and complete ticket to offer the people of New Orleans composed of young energetic business and professional men.

Thanks to the voters of the 5th district for making me top man in the greatest number of parishes.

This election, I have been assured in my visits to the 5th District, you are going to make me top man in all the parishes.

Petit Pledges Work For More Road Construction

L. B. Pettit, Ouachita Parish police juror from Ward Three, yesterday announced his campaign statement. He will seek re-election in the Democratic primary scheduled for Jan. 17.

Pettit, completing his first term on the police jury, will offer for re-election on his past record of performance in the post.

"We have built about 10 miles of hard surface roads in Ward Three in the past four years," Pettit said. "That's more than had been built in the previous 15 years," he said.

If re-elected, Pettit said, he intends to continue to work for more hard surfaced roads "in Ward Three as well as the entire parish.

Pettit said he was "proud of our drainage program." And we intend to do more in the future, particularly in the lower end of the parish. He cited drainage as "an important item in our parish."

An active worker in local civic and charitable organizations, Pettit is a past president of the Monroe Kiwanis Club and holds a 16-year perfect attendance record with that organization. He is a member of the First Baptist Church where he has served 21 years on the board of deacons and president of the board of trustees of the La. Baptist Childrens Home.

Pettit also served as general chairman of a citizens' committee that successfully directed its efforts to establish a juvenile detention home in Monroe. He also served on a special police jury committee set up to further the juvenile detention project. Bids for construction of the detention home will be received in the near future.

On the Police Jury Pettit has served as chairman of the budget committee, chairman of a committee assigned to study and readjust wages and salaries of parish employees and a member of the finance committee.

Pettit said he takes "special pride" in his successful procurement of a 10-acre plot on which to construct the juvenile detention home. He said the plot was received "practically as a donation." The detention home group purchased the acreage on Milhaven Road on a 99-year lease for $1 per year.

Cotton Futures Turn Stronger, Close Week Up

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Cotton futures prices turned strong this week after an early show of weakness. The market took in stride an official government forecast pointing to a bumper crop of 14,843,000 bales.

Active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange closed out the holiday-shortened week with net gains ranging from 50 cents to $2.80 a bale. The exchange was closed Nov. 11, Veterans Day.

Biggest gains were recorded by contracts calling for delivery in May and July. The market was on the downside at the start of the week as traders awaited announcement of the government's crop report. Private forecasts had led to the belief that the official forecast might go as high as 15 million bales.

Publication of the official report on Tuesday, however, sent the market into higher ground, indicating that the large crop forecast had already been discounted. The government's estimate of 14,843,000 bales compared with its October forecast of 13,928,000 and a prediction of only 12,728,000 bales at the start of the season.

Market analysts said that while the latest official forecast was about 200,000 bales larger than the average of recently published private estimates it was still somewhat smaller than had been expected by many in the trade.

On the basis of the October crop report, the New York Cotton Exchange service bureau estimated the total domestic supply of all cotton for the current season at a new record high of 25,940,000 bales. The exchange said a domestic carryover of 13,900,000 bales is indicated for the close of the season, also a new high.

Cotton exports for the week ended Monday were estimated by the exchange at 42,000 bales against 23,000 the previous week and 101,000 in the like week of 1954. For the current season through Nov. 7 they had reached a level of only 400,000 bales, vs. 842,000 bales at approximately the same time last year.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

If you are a newcomer to Monroe, say in the last 15 years or so, you won't remember Harry, but the oldtimers certainly recall this spry little man with the ringing, distinct voice who was the closest thing Monroe had to a radio sportscaster in the days before such air-wave commentators on the athletic events of the day came into being.

What is frequently termed the "Roaring Twenties," the golden age of sports, was also Harry's hey day for Monroe's followers of the big time national sports events.

Remember Harry bringing you the World Series from the old News-Star "Play-O-Graph" that used to be erected over the sidewalk on North Second street in front of the News-Star—World? Remember Harry bringing you the Dempsey - Tunney fights for the world's heavyweight boxing championship?

This was the day before home radio was available as it is now, and great crowds used to gether to hear Harry "broadcast" the events. A megaphone was his microphone the first time we heard him as a barefooted kid hawking newspapers. Later on he was furnished a public address system for the last of his World Series presentations, (in the early 1930s), but by this time the radios were taking over and Harry didn't draw the crowds anymore like he did in the '20s, when North Second street was a packed sardine can of humanity, jammed from wall to wall across the street for nearly a block in either direction.

You could say it took a streetcar an hour to negotiate that one block when the series or a big fight was on and get no argument except from some guy who figured it took an hour and a half. The streetcar has departed, too.

A morse code operator worked in the old News-Star editorial office decoding the "dot-dash" lingo for Harry's earliest series and fight "broadcasts," but with the coming of the teletype machines, Harry got a lot more words faster and he fairly glowed with his play-by-play, blow-by-blow accounts.

Harry was the original ringmaster for the old baseball "Play-O-Graph" the late C. E. Faulk, then News-Star publisher, erected each fall to present the game as fast as it was played. Harry's greatest performance as a fight announcer, however, took place at the old Forsythe Park baseball field for a Dempsey-Tunney scrap.

A ring was set up about where the pitcher's mound was, as we recall. A relay of messengers raced between town and the park with the blow-by-blow accounts, and Harry stood in the middle of that ring with a sea of uplifted faces eagerly awaiting his every word, from the beginning until the end and the Tunney decision.

Finally, with the automobile population growing greater and the traffic hazards more enormous, Harry departed from his usual World Series stand on North Second street. He took the old "Play-O-Graph" into a St. John street building, vacant then, but housing a furniture store now, and called the series there in the middle '30s, but the graph was no longer attractive, only a few of the old baseball fans still followed the string-guided ball on the board. Radio had finally taken over.

Harry also held shares in the old Monroe Cotton States League entry and used to referee boxing events, particularly, as we remember, when Bobby Manzell was promoting here.

It's good to remember some times. It's good to remember Harry Prophit. He was very much a part of Monroe.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP) —Old-fashioned single wing power, paired with some close-to-the-vest play calling by tailback John Majors who ordered third down punts, carried Tennessee to a 20-0 SEC football victory today over Florida.

Majors guided the Vols to a pair of first quarter touchdowns—one on his 38-yard pass to Kyle Cruze and the other on Tommy Bronson's 3-yard smash. Then he went square and played conservative football the rest of the game.

Majors hit the scoring column himself in the third quarter on a 3-yard dive after Florida's Jim Rountree fumbled a punt on the Gator 11.

Florida found its passing arm for the first time this season and covered 178 aerial yards, but four interceptions prevented the Gators from turning it into a serious scoring threat.

Tennessee's victory kept the Vols in the running for the Southeastern Conference title with two games won, one lost and one tied. It also spoiled the Florida homecoming celebration the same way the Gators did to Tennessee's homecoming at Knoxville last year.

The Northeast State Indians, sparked by Benny Franklin's 33-yard kickoff return, Tommy Leos' fumble recovery, Aubrey Wade's running, and Everett Reynolds' two touchdowns, defeated the Louisiana College Wildcats, 14-7, last night at Brown Stadium to win their initial Gulf States Conference tussle.

The Wildcats drew first blood, when they traveled 68 yards in the first six minutes of the game, with a 40-yard pass play from quarterback Charles Scott to halfback Eugene Southern carrying the pigskin to the Tribe 28. Scott and Tommy Bankston alternated carrying to the seven, from where Southern, the most consistent ground-gainer for the visitors all evening, went over. Monroe's Frank Mobley booted the point, and the Louisiana College scoring for the night was over.

Franklin returned the ensuing kickoff from his 16 to the Wildcat 49, and halfback Aubrey Wade, who proved to be the chief Tribe carrier for the tilt, broke loose for 19 more to the 30. After Reynolds had picked up three, Wade dashed to the five, and plunged to the one on the next play. He scored from there on the next attempt, and booted the point to deadlock the game at 7-7.

In the second period, Leos recovered a Wildcat bobble on their 15, and five plays later, the Indians had scored their second marker, with Wade and Reynolds setting it up to the five, and Reynolds bursting the distance from the ten after a five-yard penalty.

With Northeast leading 14-7 at the half, the Wildcats made a determined bid after receiving the second half kickoff, marching 82 yards on a sustained drive from their 15 to the Tribe three, where Red Yocom, Sherrod McKoin, C. J. Melancon, Dalton Smith and company made one of their tremendous last ditch stands and took over.

The visitors were knocking at the door three minutes later after recovering an Indian fumble on the Northeast 24. They got as far as the 13, before the Indians wound up with the ball back on the 28 after four successive losses, the longest one a ten-yarder by Melancon.

The last quarter was featured by an 83-yard Indian march, featuring the hard running of Leos and Mack Powell. Time ran out on the Louisiana College one.

Talk Sugar Bowl Pact For S.E.C., Service Elevens

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12—UP—A sports editor reported Saturday that Sugar Bowl officials had been approached concerning a permanent agreement between the Southeastern Conference and the three service schools to play in the New Year's Day classic.

The sports editor of the New Orleans Item, Hap Glaudi, wrote that the suggestion had been made to the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association that a pact be signed for a game between the Southeastern Conference champion and the winner of a round-robin playoff of West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy.

Bernie J. Grenrood, association president, was not available for comment and Fred Digby, general manager, said such an idea had come up in the past, but would not confirm that it had been brought up again.

"An SEC-Service pact would definitely out-glamorize the controversial Rose (Big Ten-Pacific Coast) and Orange (Atlantic Coast - Big Seven) agreements which prohibit the presence of Big Ten and Big Seven champions in successive years," Glaudi wrote.

"The pledges to the Rose, Orange and Cotton and the scarcity of capable and eligible independents makes the Sugar's chore of presenting a top attraction increasingly difficult each year," he wrote.

"A SEC-service classic would solve that problem," he said.

Bowl Scouts Turn Eyes To Panthers Following Victory

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP) —The bowl shoe was on the other foot today after Pitt smashed unbeaten West Virginia 26-7.

Scouts representing the Sugar Bowl, at New Orleans, and the Gator Bowl, at Jacksonville, Fla., had come here to report on the unbeaten Mountaineers. But after the game both groups wound up in the Pitt dressing room, talking with athletic director Tom Hamilton and coach John Michelosen.

Members of both bowl groups said they were "impressed" by Pitt's performance and thought the Panthers rated bowl consideration.

The Gator Bowl group, asked to compare WVU and Pitt as postseason possibilities said:

"Based on the performance today, what can we say but—Pittsburgh."

Capt. Hamilton said Pitt has taken no official position on postseason play.

"We have one more tough game coming up with Penn State next Saturday. That is all we are thinking about now. Anything else would be up to the athletic council."

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

If you are a newcomer to Monroe, say in the last 15 years or so, you won't remember Harry, but the oldtimers certainly recall this spry little man with the ringing, distinct voice who was the closest thing Monroe had to a radio sportscaster in the days before such air-wave commentators on the athletic events of the day came into being.

What is frequently termed the "Roaring Twenties," the golden age of sports, was also Harry's hey day for Monroe's followers of the big time national sports events.

Remember Harry bringing you the World Series from the old News-Star "Play-O-Graph" that used to be erected over the sidewalk on North Second street in front of the News-Star—World? Remember Harry bringing you the Dempsey - Tunney fights for the world's heavyweight boxing championship?

This was the day before home radio was available as it is now, and great crowds used to gether to hear Harry "broadcast" the events. A megaphone was his microphone the first time we heard him as a barefooted kid hawking newspapers. Later on he was furnished a public address system for the last of his World Series presentations, (in the early 1930s), but by this time the radios were taking over and Harry didn't draw the crowds anymore like he did in the '20s when North Second street was a packed sardine can of humanity, jammed from wall to wall across the street for nearly a block in either direction.

You could say it took a streetcar an hour to negotiate that one block when the series or a big fight was on and get no argument except from some guy who figured it took an hour and a half. The streetcar has departed, too.

A morse code operator worked in the old News-Star editorial office decoding the "dot-dash" lingo for Harry's earliest series and fight "broadcasts," but with the coming of the teletype machines, Harry got a lot more words faster and he fairly glowed with his play-by-play, blow-by-blow accounts.

Harry was the original ringmaster for the old baseball "Play-O-Graph" the late C. E. Faulk, then News-Star publisher, erected each fall to present the game as fast as it was played. Harry's greatest performance as a fight announcer, however, took place at the old Forsythe Park baseball field for a Dempsey-Tunney scrap.

A ring was set up about where the pitcher's mound was, as we recall. A relay of messengers raced between town and the park with the blow-by-blow accounts, and Harry stood in the middle of that ring with a sea of uplifted faces eagerly awaiting his every word, from the beginning until the end and the Tunney decision.

Finally, with the automobile population growing greater and the traffic hazards more enormous, Harry departed from his usual World Series stand on North Second street. He took the old "Play-O-Graph" into a St. John street building, vacant then, but housing a furniture store now, and called the series there in the middle '30s, but the graph was no longer attractive, only a few of the old baseball fans still followed the string-guided ball on the board. Radio had finally taken over.

Harry also held shares in the old Monroe Cotton States League entry and used to referee boxing events, particularly, as we remember, when Bobby Manzell was promoting here.

It's good to remember some times. It's good to remember Harry Prophit. He was very much a part of Monroe.

Northeast Beats Louisiana College, 14-7

The Northeast State Indians, sparked by Benny Franklin's 33-yard kickoff return, Tommy Leos' fumble recovery, Aubrey Wade's running, and Everett Reynolds' two touchdowns, defeated the Louisiana College Wildcats, 14-7, last night at Brown Stadium to win their initial Gulf States Conference tussle.

The Wildcats drew first blood, when they traveled 68 yards in the first six minutes of the game, with a 40-yard pass play from quarterback Charles Scott to halfback Eugene Southern carrying the pigskin to the Tribe 28. Scott and Tommy Bankston alternated carrying to the seven, from where Southern, the most consistent ground-gainer for the visitors all evening, went over. Monroe's Frank Mobley booted the point, and the Louisiana College scoring for the night was over.

Franklin returned the ensuing kickoff from his 16 to the Wildcat 49, and halfback Aubrey Wade, who proved to be the chief Tribe carrier for the tilt, broke loose for 19 more to the 30. After Reynolds had picked up three, Wade dashed to the five, and plunged to the one on the next play. He scored from there on the next attempt, and booted the point to deadlock the game at 7-7.

In the second period, Leos recovered a Wildcat bobble on their 15, and five plays later, the Indians had scored their second marker, with Wade and Reynolds setting it up to the five, and Reynolds bursting the distance from the ten after a five-yard penalty.

With Northeast leading 14-7 at the half, the Wildcats made a determined bid after receiving the second half kickoff, marching 82 yards on a sustained drive from their 15 to the Tribe three, where Red Yocom, Sherrod McKoin, C. J. Melancon, Dalton Smith and company made one of their tremendous last ditch stands and took over.

The visitors were knocking at the door three minutes later after recovering an Indian fumble on the Northeast 24. They got as far as the 13, before the Indians wound up with the ball back on the 28 after four successive losses, the longest one a ten-yarder by Melancon.

The last quarter was featured by an 83-yard Indian march, featuring the hard running of Leos and Mack Powell. Time ran out on the Louisiana College one.

Cassady Ramrods Ohio State March Over Iowa, 20-10

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 12 (AP)—All-America Howard (Hopalong) Cassady put on his greatest show in his farewell to the home folks here today, scoring three touchdowns as Ohio State defeated Iowa 20-10.

The freckled, red-haired speedster ground out 169 yards on the ground in 26 attempts, just two yards less than the entire Iowa team was able to make in 45 rushing plays.

In leading Ohio to its fifth straight conquest in the Big Ten, and its 12th straight over two years, Cassady scored on a 45-yard blast over tackle the first time he had his hands on the ball. He came back four plays later with an 11-yard scoring dash around end, and climaxed his great day in the final period with a 3-yard plunge through the line.

Ohio State	7	6	0	7—20

Talk Sugar Bowl Pact For S.E.C., Service Elevens

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12—UP—A sports editor reported Saturday that Sugar Bowl officials had been approached concerning a permanent agreement between the Southeastern Conference and the three service schools to play in the New Year's Day classic.

The sports editor of the New Orleans Item, Hap Glaudi, wrote that the suggestion had been made to the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association that a pact be signed for a game between the Southeastern Conference champion and the winner of a round-robin playoff of West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy.

Bernie J. Grenrood, association president, was not available for comment and Fred Digby, general manager, said such an idea had come up in the past, but would not confirm that it had been brought up again.

"An SEC-Service pact would definitely out-glamorize the controversial Rose (Big Ten-Pacific Coast) and Orange (Atlantic Coast - Big Seven) agreements which prohibit the presence of Big Ten and Big Seven champions in successive years," Glaudi wrote.

"The pledges to the Rose, Orange and Cotton and the scarcity of capable and eligible independents makes the Sugar's chore of presenting a top attraction increasingly difficult each year," he wrote.

"A SEC-service classic would solve that problem," he said.

Bowl Scouts Turn Eyes To Panthers Following Victory

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP)—The bowl shoe was on the other foot today after Pitt smashed unbeaten West Virginia 26-7.

Scouts representing the Sugar Bowl, at New Orleans, and the Gator Bowl, at Jacksonville, Fla., had come here to report on the unbeaten Mountaineers. But after the game both groups wound up in the Pitt dressing room, talking with athletic director Tom Hamilton and coach John Michelosen.

Members of both bowl groups said they were "impressed" by Pitt's performance and thought the Panthers rated bowl consideration.

The Gator Bowl group, asked to compare WVU and Pitt as postseason possibilities said:

"Based on the performance today, what can we say but—Pittsburgh."

Capt. Hamilton said Pitt has taken no official position on postseason play.

"We have one more tough game coming up with Penn State next Saturday. That is all we are thinking about now. Anything else would be up to the athletic council."

Bayou Women's Tourney Set; Mrs. Nash Defending

The Bayou DeSiard Club Championship Tournament for women opens this week with qualifying scheduled for Wednesday and all first round matches to be completed by next Sunday.

Mrs. Clyde Nash, shorn of her Twin City Championship by Mrs. George Miller the past week in the tourney at McGuire Park Golf Club, will be defending her club championship with about the same threats that faced her in the Twin City.

All qualifying is carded for disposal Wednesday, and contenders will be matched eight to a flight. Contenders will then be permitted to elect Thursday, Friday, Saturday or Sunday to play their first round matches.

Second round events are due to be played either Monday, November 21, or Tuesday, November 22, with the finals scheduled for Wednesday November 23.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP)—Old-fashioned single wing power, paired with some close-to-the-vest play calling by tailback John Majors who ordered third down punts, carried Tennessee to a 20-0 SEC football victory today over Florida.

Majors guided the Vols to a pair of first quarter touchdowns—one on his 38-yard pass to Kyle Cruze and the other on Tommy Bronson's 3-yard smash. Then he went square and played conservative football the rest of the game.

Majors hit the scoring column himself in the third quarter on a 3-yard dive after Florida's Jim Rountree fumbled a punt on the Gator 11.

Florida found its passing arm for the first time this season and covered 178 aerial yards, but four interceptions prevented the Gators from turning it into a serious scoring threat.

Tennessee's victory kept the Vols in the running for the Southeastern Conference title with two games won, one lost and one tied. It also spoiled the Florida homecoming celebration the same way the Gators did to Tennessee's homecoming at Knoxville last year.

Tennessee	13	0	7	0—20

Pitt's Panthers Plaster West Virginia, 26 To 7

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP)—Pittsburgh's magnificent 225 - pound ends, "Mean John" Paluck and Joe Walton, jarred previously unbeaten West Virginia into fumbling chaos today and shattered the Mountaineers' Bowl ambition—26-7—before 57,996 at Pitt Stadium.

The game had a bizarre ending with West Virginia getting its lone touchdown after the contest apparently had ended—and a free extra point because there was no goal post.

Walton snared a 6-yard pass from quarterback Pete Neft to climax a 63-yard strike midway in the first period. His fellow flagman, Paluck, single - handedly smashed up West Virginia plays to produce two more scores in the space of a minute and 25 seconds at the start of the second half.

Pitt's saucy third-stringers added a "rub-it-in" score in the final 2 minutes with Darrel Lewis going over for the touchdown from the 6 to end a 78-yard, 19 play drive.

The game ended in wild confusion. With only 5 seconds to play, officials ruled a pass interference play giving West Virginia the ball on the Pitt 6.

The fans, thinking the game was over, swarmed on the field and tore down the goal posts. The field was cleared for a final play on which Joe Marconi swung around left and barely got into the end zone for West Virginia's lone touchdown. With no goal posts for the extra point try, Pitt forfeited the conversion.

It took Pitt just five plays to score two touchdowns in the third quarter.

Neft, who called an imaginative and a daring game, knifed 7 yards from the middle for one of the scores. Tom Jenkins plunged over from the 1 for the other after a 23-yard sprint by Corny Salvaterra, tied ranks.

Twin Cities Move Ahead With Plans For Ticket Sales

The Twin Cities Sports of the Cotton States League are preparing to launch their 1956 advanced sale of season tickets amid possibilities that the Sports will be playing in the Evangeline League come spring.

An official of the board of directors of the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation yesterday said the status of the Cotton States League is uncertain, and that the Monroe-West Monroe club has already applied for membershp in the Evangeline in the event that the C.S.L. fails to revive.

The fate of the Cotton States is due to be settled at the annual winter meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs (the minors) at Columbus, O., late this month.

The Evangeline League can not act on the Sports' application for membership unless the Cotton States terriorry is disolved, but, considering the possibility that the C.S.L. may not continue, the board of directors of the Sports considered it advisable to get in its application with the "Pepper Pot League."

Meanwhile, the New York Yankees are reported ready to continue their working agreement with the Twin Cities (in either league) with a good showing of advanced season ticket sales.

The Twin Cities club will seek to sell $20,000 worth of advanced tickets on very near the sale plan that was conducted so successfully last year.

The club announcement yesterday said season books for 1956 will sell for $25 grandstand and $17.50 bleachers. Each book will again contain 72 tickets, although the 12 extras were the result of a printing error last year.

"The raise in price (it was $20 grandstand last year) is due to the probability of our getting into the Evangeline League," a club spokesman said. "The Evangeline plays a 140-game schedule per team instead of the 120-game schedule of the Cotton States. In the Evangy, we would draw ten more home games than last year and a 20-day longer schedule.

At $25 grandstand for season books, a game will go for about 33 cents per ticket, or less than half the 75-cent gate price. At $17.50 per bleacher book, those tickets figure at about 24 cents per game, or less than half the 50-cent bleacher gate price.

The date for starting advanced ticket sales has not been fixed, but club directors expect to get the drive underway soon.

Auburn, In Bowl Picture, Slips Past Georgia, 16-13

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 12 (AP)—Jerry Elliott intercepted a pass with less than 2 minutes remaining and ran it back 25 yards for the winning touchdown today as Auburn squeaked past surprisingly fierce Georgia 16-13 to stay in the bowl picture.

Howell Tubbs' 26-yard field goal —which booted the Plainsmen in a seemingly comfortable 10-0 halftime lead—was the only difference between the two clubs in the end as Georgia's line, outweighed but not outfought, bottled up Auburn's feared running attack.

The Bulldogs got both their touchdowns during a fourth quarter rally, the first on a 77-yard pass play from Dick Young to end Laneair Roberts, who fought away from three tacklers and raced 60-yards for the score. The second came with only 10 seconds left in the game as Young hitting Angelo Monti with a 14-yard pass.

Georgia	0	0	0	13	13
Auburn	0	10	0	6	16

Auburn scoring — Touchdowns: Sansom (18, pass from Tubbs); Elliott (25, runback intercepted pass). Conversions: Tubbs. Field Goal: Tubs (26).

CLEMSON, S. C., Nov. 12—UP—Maryland's No. 2 team in the nation yielded two quick touchdowns to superheated Clemson Saturday but proved its Orange Bowl worth by rumbling from behind on the running of classy Ed Vereb to roll up a 25 to 12 victory.

Maryland scoring — Touchdowns, Vereb 2 (1, plunge, 17, pass-run from Beightol); Tamburello (7, run); Walker (16, pass from Beightol). Conversion—Laughery.

Auburn, In Bowl Picture, Slips Past Georgia, 16-13

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 12 (AP)—Jerry Elliott intercepted a pass with less than 2 minutes remaining and ran it back 25 yards for the winning touchdown today as Auburn squeaked past surprisingly fierce Georgia 16-13 to stay in the bowl picture.

Howell Tubbs' 26-yard field goal —which booted the Plainsmen in a seemingly comfortable 10-0 halftime lead—was the only difference between the two clubs in the end as Georgia's line, outweighed but not outfought, bottled up Auburn's feared running attack.

The Bulldogs got both their touchdowns during a fourth quarter rally, the first on a 77-yard pass play from Dick Young to end Laneair Roberts, who fought away from three tacklers and raced 60-yards for the score. The second came with only 10 seconds left in the game as Young hitting Angelo Monti with a 14-yard pass.

Auburn's running attack was slowed somewhat by a hip injury which hampered fullback Joe Childress, an All-America candidate, during the first half. Childress did not play during the second half.

Georgia	0	0	0	13	13
Auburn	0	10	0	6	16

Vandy Shatters Tulane Defenses, 20 To 7

202-Pound Phillip King Spearheads Rout Of Greenies

By JAMES S. SAGGUS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12 (AP) — Fleet fullback Philip King pounded Tulane into lifelessness today in sparking alert Vanderbilt to a 20-7 victory, its fifth straight.

King, a 202-pound bruiser with the elusiveness of a halfback, kept the Tulane defense off balance throughout the game by ripping through the middle and sprinting wide. He set up Vanderbilt's second touchdown, which crushed Tulane's last hope.

Vanderbilt scored the first of its two touchdowns in the first quarter when guard Larry Frank blocked a punt by Tulane's Ronny Quillian and the ball rolled back to the Tulane two yard line. Halfback Joe Scales cracked guard for the score on first down.

Vanderbilt drove 65 yards in 13 plays in the same period, with King gaining 40 yards in five attempts. Fullback Don Hunt went the last two and end Earl Jalufka kicked the first of two conversions.

Tulane scored in the second quarter to pull within one touchdown. The four-play drive covered 26 yards and ended with Quillian's 13-yard dash. Tackle Emmet Zelenka converted.

Vanderbilt's third touchdown came in the third period on a 20-yard run by halfback Charley Hirton.

Vanderbilt's sharp line play and the blocked punt in the first quarter seemed to fire the Commodores and they kept the spark glowing for the rest of the game.

Frank blocked the Tulane punt to give his team the ball for the first time in the game. King kept the spark fanned by piercing the Tulane defense for 77 yards on 16 attempts, the best of any back.

Quarterback Don Orr kept Vanderbilt running smoothly and played a major role in the second touchdown with one of his four passing attempts eating up 10 yards and spreading the Tulane defense for King. Orr completed three of his four passes for 26 yards.

Tulane's only consistent threat was Quillian, who smashed the line 17 times for 68 yards.

Tulane coach Andy Pilney had high praise for Vanderbilt. He said "Vanderbilt was a very sharp football team today and they beat us. There's not much to say. Their quick score put us on the defensive and we were never able to get out of the hole."

Vanderbilt ..... 13 0 7 0—20
Tulane ..... 0 7 0 0— 7

Field Goal Saves Bears From Upset By Huskies, 19-17

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12 (AP)— The amazing Huskies of Washington almost sidetracked the U.C.-L.A. Rose Bowl express today but the Bruins came from behind to kick a field goal in the last 18 seconds of the game to eke out a 19-17 Pacific Coast Conference triumph.

Right halfback Jim Decker was the hero in this dramatic finale to a game that had 47,519 fans in a state of hysteria throughout the fourth quarter.

The triumph gave U.C.L.A. its fifth conference victory against no defeats and virtually cinched the bid to represent the coast in the big bowl Jan. 2.

Washington, which had lost three and tied one in its last four games, appeared to have added another dramatic chapter to a dizzy football season as they went into the final three minutes with a 17-4 lead. 6

Score by quarters:

Washington ..... 14 0 3 0—17
U.C.L.A. ..... 7 0 7 5—19

Washington scoring: touchdowns —Jones, 61, pass interception; Herring, pass, 10 yards from Orake. Conversions—Derby 2. Field goal—Derby, 34 yards.

U.C.L.A. scoring: Touchdowns—Peters, 1 yard, plunge; Davenport, 1 yard, plunge. Conversions—Brown 2. Field goal —Decker, 29 yards. Safety —Roake, intentional.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)— The University of North Carolina gridders last year gained 116 yards via forward passes in beating North Carolina State 20-6. This season the Tarheels did not gain a single yard through the air against the Wolfpack but still managed to win 25-18.

Sicily Island Nips Newellton Bears In 19-14 Contest

NEWELLTON, La., Nov. 12 (Special)— The Sicily Island Tigers put a clinch on the district 3-B championship Friday night by downing a fighting Newellton Bears, 19-14, before a homecoming crowd here.

Newellton took the opening kickoff and in eleven plays scored quarterback Jerry Clark from 23 yards to draw first blood. Point after was booted by halfback Parnell Barfield to put the Bears ahead, 7-0.

But the powerful Tigers came right back on the next kick-off, rolling from their own 37 to the Bears three where fullback Charles Gillespie bulled over for the score. Halfback B. K. Miller ran the point after to make it "even-steven" at the end of the first period.

The Bears bogged down and on third down fullback Terry Head got off a beautiful quick-kick which rolled dead on the Island one. But all was in vain for the big Tigers rolled right back with their ace ball carrier B. K. Miller picking up yardage and Gillespie again crosed the goal line from nine yards out.

The Bears were rolling again when a pass from Terry Head to end Sam Duchesne was fumbled and recovered by the Tigers on their own 33. This time it was Miller again who put the Tigers in scoring position and he passed to halfback Dean Wiggins for 34 yards and a touchdown, and the Tigers led at halftime, 19-7.

From then on it was nip and tuck until mid-way the fourth period when the Bears took to the airlanes. The Tigers were called for pass interference and the Bears got the ball on the Tigers five. Fullback Terry Head went to glory land from that point and Barfield again booted the point after. There was still time for exciting play, but Tigers kept the ball long enough to use up the clock and went home with a hard earned 19-14 victory.

Newellton tackle John Wood received a back injury midway the second period which put him on the sidelines the rest of the game. However, his injury was found to be not so serious and he should be ready for the Battle of Tensas next week when the Bears take on Waterproof to close out the season.

Name Tommy Holmes As Portland Skipper

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 12 (AP) — Tommy Holmes, former Boston (now Milwaukee) Braves manager, was named manager of the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast Baseball League today.

Holmes, manager of the Braves in 1951 - 52, comes to the Beavers from Fort Worth, where his team finished sixth in the Texas League this year. He succeeds Clay Hopper, who resigned recently.

Midgets In Semi-Final; Tag Team Main Event

Tom Thumb faces "Cowboy" Bradley in the midget semi-final; and George Curtis and newcomer Jim Hady meet the team of Red Roberts and Charley Laye in the relay main event.

From past performances of the little grapplers here, they are recognized as extremely fast, darting in and out of holds and around the ring, and working just as hard as the bigger men. Thumb, who was one of the midget wrestlers here several months ago, impressed one and all, not only with his blinding speed but with his scientific know-how. He was billed as "Major Tom Thumb" at that time, and although his title is missing this trip, it is safe to assume that none of his skill is. Also the little man was an nupopularite his last appearance, and it will be interesting to note his style Tuesday.

Roberts, slated for a three-man tag tussle last week, was sidelined for the evening when one of the opposing team failed to put in an appearance; but will be able to atone for his forced idleness Tuesday against bitter rival Curtis.

Curtis' new partner Hady hails from St. Louis, and is approximately 29 years of age. He is a strong, scientific wrestler, but can dish out the rough treatment when necessary. (Which will certainly be necessary against Roberts and Laye —a pair of burly villains.) According to promoter Kallio, Hady will make an ideal partner for young Curtis.

Razorbacks Blast S.M.U. From Title Contention, 6 To 0

DALLAS, Nov. 12 (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks paraded 58 yards to a touchdown the first time they had the ball then fought Southern Methodist's massive men to a virtual standstill for 56 glittering minutes to win a 6 - 0 Southwest Conference football victory today.

Henry Moore, George Walker and Preston Carpenter and a gazelle with a football named Don Horton kept S.M.U. back on its heels with battering runs, long punt returns and vital passes and the Razorback defense rose up to intercept desperate Methodist throws when it appeared the ponderous S.M.U.'s were goalward bound.

Walker it was who bounced through the Methodist line for the touchdown that eliminated S.M.U. from consideration in the Southwest Conference championship race.

DALLAS, Nov. 12 (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks paraded 58 yards to a touchdown the first time they had the ball then fought Southern Methodist's massive men to a virtual standstill for 56 glittering minutes to win a 6 - 0 Southwest Conference football victory today.

Henry Moore, George Walker and Preston Carpenter and a gazelle with a football named Don Horton kept S.M.U. back on its heels with battering runs, long punt returns and vital passes and the Razorback defense rose up to intercept desperate Methodist throws when it appeared the ponderous S.M.U.'s were goalward bound.

Walker it was who bounced through the Methodist line for the touchdown that eliminated S.M.U. from consideration in the Southwest Conference championship race.

B. J. NEAL SELLS '56 FORDS AT McCAIN-RICHARDS

B. J. Neal, a veteran of 17 years in the automobile business—7 of which have been with McCain-Richards, has been greatly impressed with the reaction of auto buyers to the high trade-ins being given by McCain-Richards. "Many of them tell me," Neal said, "that they've looked all around, in town and out, and they feel like they've just wasted their time because we at McCain-Richards gave them the best deal to begin with."

Neal invites his many friends to call him personally and let him tell them how far McCain-Richards will go on their present car toward the purchase of a '56 Ford.—Adv.

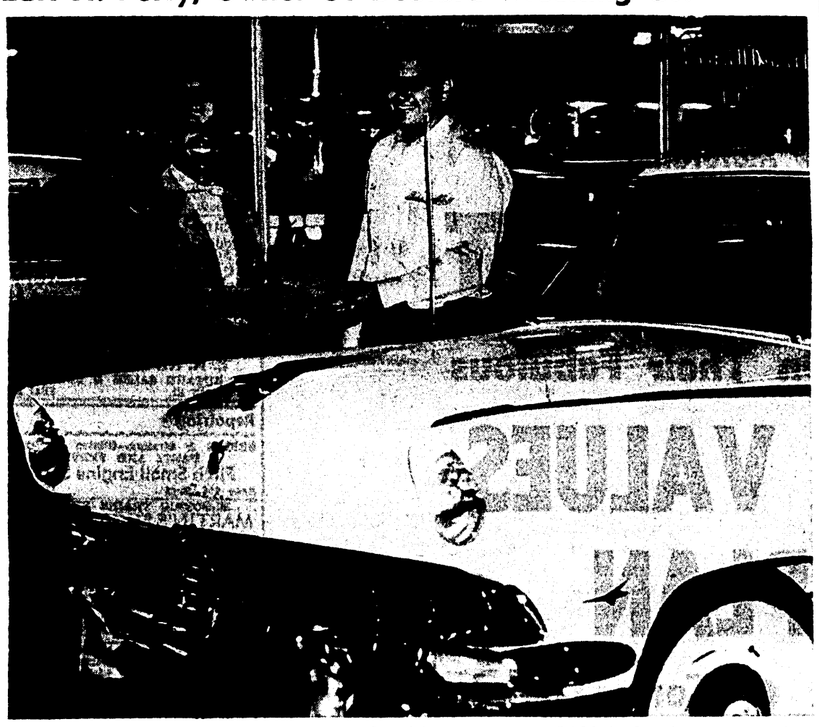
"I'VE SEEN 'EM ALL—IT'S A '56 FORD FOR ME," says Earl H. Perry, Owner Of DeSiard Wrecking Co.



Earl H. Perry, owner and operator of DeSiard Wrecking Co., 2800 DeSiard, is shown above taking delivery of his '56 Ford Fairlane Victoria from Donald Duffey, McCain-Richards salesman. "I looked at a lot of cars and got offers from a lot of dealers, and the deal from McCain-Richards was much better than I was offered anywhere else; and knowing the importance of service as I do, I was impressed with the service facilities and the service staff maintained by McCain-Richards."

In telling how pleased he was with his Ford and the trade-in allowance he got from McCain-Richards, Perry said, "They couldn't have treated me any better if I'd been a brother."

Buyers of cars and trucks are finding that their best buy is a '56 Ford from McCain-Richards. In quality of car or truck, in trade-in allowance offered, in service after sale—McCain-Richards, now in their 17th year of selling and servicing Fords in this area, offers you more for your auto dollar. "I'VE SEEN 'EM ALL—IT'S A '56 FORD FOR ME," says Earl H. Perry, Owner Of DeSiard Wrecking Co.

Earl H. Perry, owner and operator of DeSiard Wrecking Co., 2800 DeSiard, is shown above taking delivery of his '56 Ford Fairlane Victoria from Donald Duffey, McCain-Richards salesman. "I looked at a lot of cars and got offers from a lot of dealers, and the deal from McCain-Richards was much better than I was offered anywhere else; and knowing the importance of service as I do, I was impressed with the service facilities and the service staff maintained by McCain-Richards."

In telling how pleased he was with his Ford and the trade-in allowance he got from McCain-Richards, Perry said, "They couldn't have treated me any better if I'd been a brother."

Buyers of cars and trucks are finding that their best buy is a '56 Ford from McCain-Richards. In quality of car or truck, in trade-in allowance offered, in service after sale—McCain-Richards, now in their 17th year of selling and servicing Fords in this area, offers you more for your auto dollar. HUDSON LANE

Confidence And Optimism Push Stocks Upward

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Confidence and optimism this week sent the stock market up strongly.

More bullish enthusiasm was in Wall Street than at any time since the market was sent sprawling in a giant reaction last September after the President Eisenhower's illness.

The Associated Press average shows stocks have retraced nearly 77 per cent of the loss that started Sept. 26. The average raced ahead this week for the greatest gain in the past year.

Brokers said the market had a good chance of advancing enough to break through to another record high eclipsing even the peak reached just before the President's illness.

The return of Eisenhower to Washington signaled a successful end of the first and most important stage of his recovery.

Forecasts of continued good business came from all sides. Chrysler planned to spend more than a billion dollars on expansion in five years.

Standard Oil (NJ) disclosed plans to spend nearly 1¼ billion in expansion next year. Ford Motor launched plans to sell to the public in January the greatest common stock offering in history.

The five most active issues this week were General Motors up 4, Fruehauf Trailer up 1, Standard Oil (NJ) up 2⅛, Panhandle Oil up ⅜, and Benguet Mining up ⅛.

Air Force Plans Storage Of Fuel In Salt Caverns

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Air Force is about to go to the salt mines for storage of jet fuel.

The idea isn't new. Some oil companies have been using old salt caveners for underground storage for several years. It will be the first time for such storage of jet plane fuel by the Air Force.

The Armed Forces petroleum purchasing agency, acting for the air force, has called for bids by Dec. 12 for a jet fuel storage system in the McPherson or Wichita, Kan., areas.

The plans call for at least 300,000 barrels of underground salt cavern storage consisting of three or more caverns with a maximum capacity of 100,000 barrels each.

Each 100,000-barrel storage unit would have to be capable of delivering the fuel to the Kaneb pipeline at 1,200 barrels an hour.

The storage area would be connected with an above-ground metal tank of 5,000 barrels capacity. A part of each shipment from the caverns would be diverted into the tank.

Want to know how to make garlic bread? Cut a clove of garlic into quarter; stir into half a cup of soft butter. Allow to stand until the butter takes up the garlic flavor. Cut a long loaf of French bread diagonally into thick slices; do not cut through the bottom of the loaf. Spread the garlic butter generously between the slices and over the top of the bread. Heat in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until hot—about 15 minutes.

News From The Public Library

Today is the beginning of Book Week and all over our country children are being offered new and attractive books to read at this time. At the Ouachita Parish Public Library, in each of the four branches, we have a number of new and exciting books for children. They are so beautiful that any child will eagerly read them. I would like to give a cordial invitation to all parents to take their children to one of the branches of the library during the next week. If there is a title which especially appeals to your boy or girl, call the library and ask to have it saved for you.

Picture books for the younger readers are always lovely. One of the most attractive of this group is "Dancing in the Moon" by Fritz Eichenberg. This is a book of illustrated counting rhymes. The first one is 1 raccoon dancing in the moon, second is 2 moose scaring a papoose and so on through the book on up to 20. It is a beautiful book and one that will teach as well as entertain. "The Peevish Penguin" by Earle Goodenow. It is the story of a penguin who was not satisfied to be able to swim and dive, he also wanted to fly like a bird. All sorts of ludicrous things happened to him as he tried to master the art. Lois Lenski is one of the most popular writers for children. Her newest book for the picture book age is "A Dog Came to School" and it is a charming, simple little story of a dog who went to school with his young master, Davy. Berta and Elmer Hader are a team of writers and illustrators who produce some of the loveliest children's books we have. Several years ago they received the Caldecott Award for their work on "The Big Snow." Their latest book is called 'Home on the Range" and concerns the adventures of a city boy who wanted to be a real cowboy.

For children a little older there are a group of very interesting books "The Cat Who Rode Cows" by Frances and Richard Lockridge is perfectly delightful and the illustrations add a great deal to the charm of the book. "Cat Hotel" is the title of the new book by Siddie Joe Johnson. It is the story of a very amazing cat named Butch and Ted who belonged to him. "The Seven and Sam" by Mary Urmston is a mystery story for children. It is concerned with what happened to Sam every week end. One of the most beautiful books that I have seen in a long time is "Philomena" by Kate Seredy. It is concerned with the adventures of a little country girl in the city of Budapest. It is a thoroughly charming story.

"Tomahawks and Trouble" by William O. Steele is a story which will appeal to all those who like to read about pioneer days. It is the story of two boys and a girl who were captured by the Indians. The thrilling story of their escape will hold you spell-bound. "San Francisco Boy" by Lois Lenski is the latest of her regional books. This is the story of a young Chinese boy who fell out of place in San Francisco. In this book we see how Felix found that the beautiful city, though busy and modern, had room for family love and wise tradition and that each individual must find his own place in the balance of old and new.

In addition to stories, we have exciting new books for children that are factual and interesting. "The American Indian" by Sydney Fletcher is a large book which discusses many details of the everyday pursuits of the first Americans. "The Chippewa Indians" by Sonia Bleeker is another of her excellent accounts of a particular tribe of Indians. This one is concerned with the rice gatherers of the Great Lakes. Biographies are always popular. "The Columbus Story" by Alice Dalgliesh is beautifully written and is simple enough for fourth grade students to read. "Songs for Sixpence" by Josephine Blackstock is the story of John Newbery of London, who lived in the eighteenth century and was the first publisher to make a specialty of children's books. It is a delightful portrait of a man and an era which you will not want to miss.

Books about animals have a devoted following and there are three new ones which are sure to be popular: "Seals and Walruses" by Louis Darling is an interesting book and shows how closely seals are related to dogs. "The Big Cats" by Herbert S. Zim discusses each of the breeds of wild cats and tells their characteristics. "Vulcan, the Story of a Bald Eagle" by Robert McClung is a fascinating life story of this magnificent bird which is now almost extinct. Reading these books will entertain as well as inform children.

A very fine series of books for young inquiring minds is called "The First Books." There are two new ones in the series with our new books. One is "The First Book of Automobiles" by Jeanne Bendick and contains a great deal of information about automobiles and their importance to our way of life. The other is called "The First Book of Mexico" by Sam and Beryl Epstein. It contains a great deal of information about the daily life as well as the history of Mexico.

An unusual new book is called "Castles" and the author is R. Allen Brown. This is a book which takes up in detail the architecture of medieval castles. It is a book which can be used in a number of interesting ways. Children love nonsense rhymes and will thoroughly enjoy a new little book called "A Diller, A Dollar" compiled by Lillian Morrison. It has some charming and humorous poems.

Bring your child to the library next week and let him examine these lovely new books which are waiting for him for Book Week.

"Tomahawks and Trouble" by William O. Steele is a story which will appeal to all those who like to read about pioneer days. It is the story of two boys and a girl who were captured by the Indians. The thrilling story of their escape will hold you spell-bound. "San Francisco Boy" by Lois Lenski is the latest of her regional books. This is the story of a young Chinese boy who felt out of place in San Francisco. In this book we see how Felix found that the beautiful city, though busy and modern, had room for family love and wise tradition and that each individual must find his own place in the balance of old and new.

In addition to stories, we have exciting new books for children that are factual and interesting. "The American Indian" by Sydney Fletcher is a large book which discusses many details of the everyday pursuits of the first Americans. "The Chippewa Indians" by Sonia Bleeker is another of her excellent accounts of a particular tribe of Indians. This one is concerned with the rice gatherers of the Great Lakes. Biographies are always popular, "The Columbus Story" by Alice Dalgliesh is beautifully written and is simple enough for fourth grade students to read. "Songs for Sixpence" by Josephine Blackstock is the story of John Newbery of London, who lived in the eighteenth century and was the first publisher to make a specialty of children's books. It is a delightful portrait of a man and an era which you will not want to miss.

Books about animals have a devoted following and there are three new ones which are sure to be poplar: "Seals and Walruses" by Louis Darling is an interesting book and shows how closely seals are related to dogs. "The Big Cats" by Herbert S. Zim discusses each of the breeds of wild cats and tells their characteristics. "Vulcan, the Story of a Bald Eagle" by Robert McClung is a fascinating life story of this magnificent bird which is now almost extinct. Reading these books will entertain as well as inform children.

A very fine series of books for young inquiring minds is called "The First Books." There are two new ones in the series with our new books. One is "The First Book of Automobiles" by Jeanne Bendick and contains a great deal of information about automobiles and their importance to our way of life. The other is called "The First Book of Mexico" by Sam and Beryl Epstein. It contains a great deal of information about the daily life as well as the history of Mexico.

An unusual new book is called "Castles" and the author is R. Allen Brown. This is a book which takes up in detail the architecture of medieval castles. It is a book which can be used in a number of interesting ways. Children love nonsense rhymes and will thoroughly enjoy a new little book called "A Diller, A Dollar" compiled by Lillian Morrison. It has some charming and humorous poems.

Bring your child to the library next week and let him examine these lovely new books which are waiting for him for Book Week.

Fashion Coordinators Institute, a national group of fashion consultants, said a national check showed that eight out of 10 women try the new crop of coats and dresses and then add belts.

Chiffonaide dressing is delicious over hearts of lettuce. To prepare it, just add chopped hard-cooked egg, chopped cooked or canned beets, minced onion and parsley to French dressing.

MR. AND MRS. MINOR B. LANE

Miss Langley Is Bride Of Minor B. Lane

Miss Ophelia Langley, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Langley, of Huttig, and M. B. Lane, son of Mr. Minor B. Lane and the late Mrs. Norma Lane of Farmerville, were married recently at 8 p.m. in the Assembly of God Church of Huttig.

The Rev. G. E. Chambers of Monroe, officiated before an altar marked with two fan shaped standards of white carnations with background of solid magnolia leaves. Jade fern covered the archway and interspersed along the white picket fence that enclosed the wedding party. The tapers were lighted by Miss Ann Langley, the bride's sister, and Bunnie Moore of Monroe. Nuptial music was provided by Miss Ethel Wilburn, pianist, and Miss Shirley Lord who sang "All For You," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tulle and lace over bridal satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned on an illusion yoke with a standing collar and long tapering sleeves. The full skirt of tulle swept into a cathedral train. The fingertip illusion veil fell from a cloche of tulle trimmed in seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and orchids.

Mrs. Gene Jackson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of light blue taffeta and net with a flower garden hat and carried a bouquet of pink carnations with satin ribbons. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Betty Richards, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Doris Langley, wore identical dresses and hats along with the matron of honor of light blue taffeta and net. They carried light blue carnation bouquets. Sylvia Johnson, niece of the bride, and Cynthia Martin were flower girls. They wore dresses and hats of white net and taffeta and carried a basket of white and red rose petals.

Curtis Martin served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were W. C. Langley and Otha Langley, brothers of the bride. Frankie Reeves was ringbearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over a light blue taffeta. The table was centered with a white three-tiered wedding cake with pink rosebuds. Serving were Mrs. Ann Miles and Mrs. Louis Johnson, the bride's sister. Mrs. Betty Richards was in charge of the bride's book.

For travel, Mrs. Lane wore a navy velvet suit with white accessories and white orchid corsage. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls given to her by the groom. After a honeymoon to Hot Springs, the couple are at home in Monroe.

MR. AND MRS. MINOR B. LANE

Miss Langley Is Bride Of Minor B. Lane

Miss Ophelia Langley, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Langley, of Huttig, and M. B. Lane, son of Mr. Minor B. Lane and the late Mrs. Norma Lane of Farmerville, were married recently at 8 p.m. in the Assembly of God Church of Huttig.

The Rev. G. E. Chambers of Monroe, officiated before an altar marked with two fan shaped standards of white carnations with background of solid magnolia leaves. Jade fern covered the archway and interspersed along the white picket fence that enclosed the wedding party. The tapers were lighted by Miss Ann Langley, the bride's sister, and Bunnie Moore of Monroe. Nuptial music was provided by Miss Ethel Wilburn, pianist, and Miss Shirley Lord who sang "All For You," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tulle and lace over bridal satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned on an illusion yoke with a standing collar and long tapering sleeves. The full skirt of tulle swept into a cathedral train. The fingertip illusion veil fell from a cloche of tulle trimmed in seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and orchids.

Mrs. Gene Jackson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of light blue taffeta and net with a flower garden hat and carried a bouquet of pink carnations with satin ribbons. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Betty Richards, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Doris Langley, wore identical dresses and hats along with the matron of honor of light blue taffeta and net. They carried light blue carnation bouquets. Sylvia Johnson, niece of the bride, and Cynthia Martin were flower girls. They wore dresses and hats of white net and taffeta and carried a basket of white and red rose petals.

Curtis Martin served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were W. C. Langley and Otha Langley, brothers of the bride. Frankie Reeves was ringbearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over a light blue taffeta. The table was centered with a white three-tiered wedding cake with pink rosebuds. Serving were Mrs. Ann Miles and Mrs. Louis Johnson, the bride's sister. Mrs. Betty Richards was in charge of the bride's book.

For travel, Mrs. Lane wore a navy velvet suit with white accessories and white orchid corsage. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls given to her by the groom. After a honeymoon to Hot Springs, the couple are at home in Monroe.

MR. AND MRS. LLOYD M'MANUS

Miss Fletcher, Lloyd McManus Pledge Troth

Miss Carolyn Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Fletcher of Rayville, became the bride recently of Lloyd McManus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer McManus of Holly Ridge, at three o'clock in the afternoon in the Holly Ridge Baptist Church. Rev. J. D. Hammons officiated and Mrs. Evelyn Cooper, organist and Richard Rockett, of Rayville, soloist, furnished the wedding music.

Baskets of white chrysanthemums decorated the altar, and floor candelabra with burning bridal tapers, cast a soft light on the ivy entwined arch, decorated with wedding bells.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length satin gown with lace sleeves tapering to points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a cap of lace. She carried a bouquet of white Frenched carnations, tied with satin ribbons.

Mrs. Irene Pratt of Holly Ridge, cousin of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She was wearing a gown of pink nylon net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Miss Donnis McManus, another cousin of the groom was bridesmaid. Her gown was of blue net fashioned over taffeta and she carried white carnations.

Luther Morphis, of Holly Ridge was his cousins' best man. The groomsmen and ushers included Dennis Caroll, Holly Ridge; Marvin McManus and James Fletcher of Rayville, brother of the bride.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the home of Mrs. A. J. Beach, sister of the bride. For her daughters' wedding Mrs. Fletcher chose a dress of navy blue with which she wore matching accessories. Mrs. McManus was also dressed in blue. They both wore corsages of red carnations.

Mrs. Newman Hosts Meeting Of Opera Club

Opera News, by Mrs. C. W. Caraway; the story of "Tannhauser" by Richard Wagner was given by Mrs. C. R. Tidwell.

"Richard Wagner wrote the words and music for Tannhauser, a romantic opera in three acts," Mrs. Tidwell explained.

"The plot was taken from an old German tradition, which centers about the castle where the landgraves of the 13th century instituted peaceful contests between the Minnesingers and knightly poets. Near this castle towers the Venusberg, a dreary elevation where the Goddess of Spring took refuge in its caverns, with her court filled with nymphs and sirens, who enticed those whose impure desires led them to its vicinity, and lured them into the caverns, from which they were supposed never to return, she said.

Show Team Scissors Way To Success

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Most women would consider themselves lucky to buy 10 or 15 new dresses a year. But Mrs. Will Mahoney buys three or four new outfits each week and still has a hard time finding something to wear on her evening out.

Mrs. Mahoney's husband causes her clothes problem.

Not that he objects to her buying 200 new outfits each year. But he cuts them to bits as fast as his wife purchases them.

While Mrs. Mahoney sings, her husband snips away at her costume with a long pair of scissors. Mrs. Mahoney, to the audience at least, is so wrapped up in her singing she is unaware of what is going on.

Miss Joy Massey Pledges Troth By Candlelight

TALLULAH — In a beautiful candlelight wedding at the First Baptist Church here on Saturday afternoon at five o'clock Miss Joy Massey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Massey became the bride of Thomas Steven Wright of El Dorado, Ark., son of Mr. Ollie B. Wright and the late Mrs. Wright of Bussey, Ark. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Irvin Cheney, pastor of the church.

Autumn colors were reflected in two massive arrangements of pampas grass plumes in shades of green, gold, yellow and rust in pedestal baskets. Cathedral candles in tiered floor candelabra also decorated the chancel.

Prior to the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. J. C. Sherwin rendered a program of organ music. She accompanied Miss Lou Craig of El Dorado, Ark., who sang.

The bridesmaid, Miss Marguerite Everett, flower girl, little Brenda Kay Wright, niece of the groom and matron of honor, Mrs. N. A. White, sister of the bride, wore floor length dresses of taffeta in gold, green and rust They were designed with low necklines, fitted bodices and full skirts. The flower girl carried a basket of maline from which she dropped rose petals, and the other attendants carried small bouquets of white mums on white Bibles.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, was lovely in her gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon net over taffeta, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, molded bodice, long lace sleeves which tapered to lily points over the hands. The bouffant skirt featured a pleated nylon ruffle which extended into a short train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of seed-pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

John Thach of El Dorado, Ark., served the bridegroom as best man. Marshall Wright, brother of the groom was groomsman and the ushers were Donald Walker of Ruston, Walter Patton of El Dorado and Johnny Massey, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Massey, chose for her daughter's wedding a gray faille suit with reptile accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. J. B. Hogue, the brides grandmother was attired in black wool and matching accessories. She also wore a white corsage.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Receiving with the bride's mother were the bridal couple and the feminine members of the wedding party. In charge of registration in the guest book was Miss Mary Elizabeth Ezell. Presiding at the refreshment table with its imported embroidered cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums flanked by candelabra holding yellow tapers were Mrs. J. T. Fulton and Miss Jeannie Burgess serving the wedding cake and Miss Bobbye Mixon and Miss Jeannie Sayers who poured punch.

Later in the evening when Mr. and Mrs. Wright left for their trip to the Mississippi gulf coast, the bride was wearing a charcoal gray wool suit with which she wore black accessories and a white carnation corsage. On their return they will reside in El Dorado.

The bride is a graduate of the Tallulah High School and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and is employed by the Lion Oil Co., in El Dorado. Mr. Wright graduated at the Magnolia, Ark., High School and the University of Arkansas. He is employed by the Pan American Oil Co., in El Dorado.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Foster Poindexter, John D. Thach, Walter Patton, Miss Lou Craig and Miss Bobbye Mixon, all of El Dorado, Ark., Mr. Ollie B. Wright of Bussey, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wright and daughter, Brenda of McKamie, Ark., A. L. Tatum of Monroe, Miss Martha Condra, Miss Wilma Lann and Miss Jeannie Sayers of Ruston, Mrs. J. B. Hogue of Helena, Ark., Joe Cline of West Memphis, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cline of New Orleans and Miss Margaret Ann Tatum of Shreveport.

Fun for young folks: Place frankfurters in a folding wire broiler and toast over an open fire. Split frankfurter rolls and spread with soft yellow cheese; serve with the frankfurters and lots of pickles or pickle relish.

Mrs. Newman Hosts Meeting Of Opera Club

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. M. W. Montgomery. A short business session was held at which time the members decided to support the canteen program of the Ouachita Parish Red Cross in connection with operation Sagebrush.

The meeting was then turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. C. W. Caraway and the following program given.

Opera News, by Mrs. C. W. Caraway; the story of "Tannhauser" by Richard Wagner was given by Mrs. C. R. Tidwell.

"Richard Wagner wrote the words and music for Tannhauser, a romantic opera in three acts," Mrs. Tidwell explained.

"The plot was taken from an old German tradition, which centers about the castle where the landgraves of the 13th century instituted peaceful contests between the Minnesingers and knightly poets. Near this castle towers the Venusberg, a dreary elevation where the Goddess of Spring took refuge in its caverns, with her court filled with nymphs and sirens, who enticed those whose impure desires led them to its vicinity, and lured them into the caverns, from which they were supposed never to return, she said.

Show Team Scissors Way To Success

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Most women would consider themselves lucky to buy 10 or 15 new dresses a year. But Mrs. Will Mahoney buys three or four new outfits each week and still has a hard time finding something to wear on her evening out.

Mrs. Mahoney's husband causes her clothes problem.

Not that he objects to her buying 200 new outfits each year. But he cuts them to bits as fast as his wife purchases them.

Actually, this makes sense.

While Mrs. Mahoney sings, her husband snips away at her costume with a long pair of scissors. Mrs. Mahoney, to the audience at least, is so wrapped up in her singing she is unaware of what is going on.

Planning Is Time Invested

Planning is time invested to work for you so take time to plan your landscape design. Design and plan your planting to be enjoyed and serve you, and not to be a continual job of pruning, watering, spraying, mowing and weed pulling. Here are some suggestions to help you plan your landscape design.

Keep design and arrangement simple. Avoid unrelated curves, odd shaped flower beds, and clipped hedges. Group shrubs of one kind, one row thick. Let every planting have a reason for being there, for interest from within, to screen the unpleasant, etc. Group plantings of one kind are more attractive and easier to care for. Where steep banks and terraces make lawn mowing a problem, ground cover may be a solution. Or convert to a long, gentle slope with a retaining wall built if necessary. Often this is the more economical method in the long run. Select plants with maintenance in mind. Your choice of material will definitely affect maintenance. Native materials may solve your problem. In Louisiana, we have many from which to choose. Try some of the slow - growing and dwarf types shrubs for areas near the house, especially where glass walls are used. You may want fast growing trees (small, medium or large) for shade. Present day gardeners use less of the clipped, hedge type of plants — ligustrum, privet, etc. A walk that is 1 to 1½ inches from the ground, with no edging material, is much easier to maintain than one that has a flower border or some low - edging material. Flowerbeds edged with bricks that are one inch above ground will allow a place for the wheel of the mower and make grass cutting easier. A mulch will help keep down weeds, conserve moisture and save labor. It is easy to take in too much or too little lawn area, especially homeowners in rural areas. A mslal, well - kept lawn is much better than acres of weed growth. On the other hand, too small area with dense plantings around the homestead may give a fenced in feeling. Dual purpose trees may help solve space problem. Pecan, pear, fig can very well fit into the landscape plan. Design and plan your plantings to be enjoyed and serve you, not to be a continual job of pruning, watering, spraying, mowing and weed pulling.

It's Pecan Time

Like Louisiana pralines? Try this recipe. Put 1 cup of sugar in a heavy skillet and allow it to melt. Add one - half cup of boiling water and stir until mixture is smooth — combine in another vessel 2½ cups of sugar, ½ cup of rich milk, ½ teaspoon of salt and 2 tablespoons of butter. Stir until mixture comes to a boil, add caramelized mixture and 2 cups of pecans; stirring all the time. Cook until it will form a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from heat and let set for five minutes to cool. Beat until it looses its shine - drop onto a greased surface. Store in a tight container when cold.

Roast Meat Correctly

Banish the cover of your roasting pan — if you haven't already done so. Meat cooked in an oven in a roaster with a cover on it is steamed rather than roasted. What ever the meat — prok, beef, lamb, chicken or turkey you are to roast — put it on a rack in a shallow uncovered pan. Put no water in the pan. Start the oven and see it at 325 degrees F. Put the meat into the pan to be roasted, and the whole roast will come up in temperature as the oven heats — not just the outside. The time for roasting varies with the type of meat. But here is a time table for roasting whole young turkeys.

5 to 8½ pounds — 2½ to 3 hours at 325 degrees F.

9 to 12 pounds — 3 to 3½ hours at 325 degrees F.

12½ to 15½ pounds — 3½ to 4½ hours at 325 degrees F.

Dr. Archibald Carey of Detroit, Michigan, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, lectured here Friday night under auspices of the First Church of Christ in Monroe.

"Solution of individual and collective health, social and economic problems is available right at hand and can be achieved in the degree that God is acknowledged and understood as infinite good, the only power and present." Dr. Carey said

Dr. Carey explained what happens to people as they learn in Christian Science about the power of God and how to respond to It.

He was introduced by Mrs. E. S. Girault.

Dr. E. T. QUANABUSH

Dr. Quanabush To Bring Series, Revivals Here

Dr. E. T. Quanabush of Paterson, New Jersey will begin a series of evangelistic meetings at the First Assembly of God church in West Monroe on Wednesday evening, November 16, the pastor, Rev. Phil Johnson, announced today.

The Rev. Mr. Quanabush has had a very colorful career, having been the leader of a jazz band before his conversion and call to the ministry. He has since served as an honorary deputy sheriff in Passaic County, New Jersey, and as a USAF chaplain.

Carrying a Bible as his weapon instead of a pistol, the evangelist-sheriff straightened out many a deflected youth and made regular church - goers out of former criminals. It was not unusual for Dr. Quanabush to stand by the side of a criminal and plead for custody. Often the judge would "sentence the defendant to six months of Sunday school and church attendance.

Evangelist Quanabush will be playing his "golden trombone during the meetings, and the party. whose music has been well-acce ed by every major radio netwo.. in America, will be singing nightly. The meetings will continue each evening at 7:30 through November 27, according to the Rev. Johnson.

PROPOSE BRITISH FOREIGN LEGION

Pripose British Foreign Legion

LONDON —UP— Members of Parliament and British generals called Saturday for an expansion of Britain's African Negro army and the recruiting of a "foreign legion" from displaced persons to enable the country to slash its draft term. The Army League, a group of strategists, former generals and MPs, introduced the proposal in a pamphlet.

DR. J. T. FRENCH

Dr. J. T. French Is Asking Election As Parish Coroner

Dr. James T. French, now completing sixteen years as coroner of Ouachita parish, now announces his candidacy for a four year term in the same office, subject to the Democratic primary on next January 17.

Dr. French is a native of Ouachita parish where he has lived during his entire lifetime and he has to his record 40 years of practice of medicine.

He is making the following statement in connection with his campaign:

"I am again asking my friends and constituents who in past times have supported me so loyally, for a continuance of their support and co-operation in the coming election.

"I am a member of the First Methodist Church, the Masonic Lodge, the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and also first vice-president of the Louisiana State Coroners association.

"If elected I shall continue my campaign pledge of personal service and political independence. I am not being sponsored or financed by any public official or individual and have no political alliance with anyone.

"I shall continue to cooperate with all public officials. Upon this basis I earnestly and sincerely solicit your support and vote."

R. Cross Explains How To Contact 'Sagebrush' Men

James Hepburn, field director for the American Red Cross during the Sagebrush manuevers now taking place in Louisiana, announced yesterday that families of maneuver troops faced with emergency situations should contact the local Red Cross chapter rather than Sagebrush headquarters.

"We are getting many requests which have to be referred back to the chapter for further information and clearance," Hepburn said, "and these requests are handicapping in expediting emergency contacts with the men involved."

He pointed out that the Red Cross had access to military communications in case of emergencies.

Since the maneuvers began, the Red Cross has handled some 1600 welfare requests, he said.

THIS LITTLE GIRL is one of many in Ouachita Parish who are mentally retarded. Her mind is almost four years behind children and adults who are her chronological age levels. Unable to do it alone, she needs the help of others.

This help begins, of course, with the love and understanding and patience of family and friends. But it comes, as well, from those more remote from the problem—people who realize that with continued study and support hope is yet another dark frontier which can be made to yield to human concern.

You can take part in this mission by giving. What you give goes to support research that is opening new windows to the minds of these children . . . to aid in the development of training programs, special schools and other community services . . . to assist the many who cannot afford the terrible burden in cost of training and rehabilitation. The retarded need no longer be "America's forgotten children." With help, in many cases, they can become largely self-sufficient and productive; in others, their dependence can be greatly reduced. In nearly every case, some improvement can be made.

And looking immediately ahead—your contribution can help work toward the prevention of this handicap in babies yet unborn.

Is there a warmer satisfaction within the human heart than the sense of helping where help can mean so much? And is so deeply needed? Give as generously as you can, won't you?

Whooping Cranes Fight For Survival In Texas; 28 Arrive At Preserve

By J. FRED EDER
United Press Outdoor Consultant

A lot of things happen in the world of hunting and fishing that aren't material for a hunting and fishing column. Occasionally, however, something happens in our world of sport that gives us a warm glow of pride. . .like the arrival of 20 adult whooping cranes and eight young birds at the Texas wintering grounds. That is truly a heart warming report.

Special help is still needed for hunters to save this wonderful bird America's tallest, from extinction. The whooping cranes' breeding grounds were discovered in Canada this year after a 10-year search. At that time it was established that five young ones have been added to this rare species.

This can still be the "year of decision however, as it is believed that most losses occur during the hazardous 2,500-mile flight to Texas and the return to Canada.

Apparently this year's flight or migration to Texas occurred without mishap. A national campaign is under way urging all hunters to refrain from shooting at any large white bird in flight.

The whooping crane is the tallest of all North American birds standing more than five feet in height. The whooper is not only tall but is also quite heavily built, a large adult weighing as much as 25 pounds.

The body plumage of an adult whooping crane is white with jet-black wing tips. The crown is bare and quite red, and there is a long black mustache across each cheek. The bird's legs are long and slim.

Sometimes the snow goose is mistaken for a whooping crane because it also is white with jet black wing tips but actually the snow goose is small by comparison. It has a short thick neck short legs and a small bill.

Another characteristic that distinguishes the whooping crane from other large birds is its manner of flight that is all its own. This consists of a quick upward "flick" of the wings. The voice of the whooper is also different. Few people have heard it in recent years but the loud clear bugle-like notes must have been one of the most splendid sounds to the Indian and the pioneers of the prairie region years ago.

The call of the whooper has little if any of the rolling gutteral quality we hear in the note or call of the more common cranes, instead it has an open, high pitched, challenging ring to it.

In some parts of the United States the whooper is known as the "bugle crane." During the winter these magnificent birds live on the wet coastal flats along the Gulf Coast of Texas. Most of the area in which they range has been made a wildlife refuge and is guarded by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

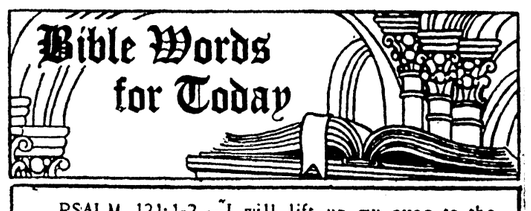
The great white birds live on the coastal plains of Texas from late October until April or about half the year. On arrival each pair selects a certain portion of the range for their winter home, these winter territories average over 400 acres to each pair and no other cranes are allowed within the invisible boundaries.

DIES

HAMMOND, La. — UP —The body of Albert C. Linton, 71-year-old former general passenger agent for the Illinois Central Railroad at New Orleans, was shipped today to Avalon, Mo., for burial.

Linton died yesterday at the Wiginton Memorial hospital here. He is survived by his widow of Hammond and a son, Robert Linton, of New Orleans.

Add cooked quartered scallops and canned drained sliced mushrooms to a cream sauce; heat but do not boil. Serve over very crisp buttered toast and top with crisply-cooked bacon. Add a green vegetable or a salad and you have a fine main course for a company lunch.



PSALM 121:1-2.—I will lift up my eyes to the hills. From whence does my help come?

"My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth."(RSV)

The opening verses of this psalm that is the favorite of many Bible readers, has had brought to its content a new meaning in the Revised Standard Version of the Scriptures. In older versions, there was no question mark at the end of verse one. In the RSV, there is a question mark, as indicated above. And the reader quickly realizes that the psalmist was asking this important question: from whence does my help come?—which question is quickly answered by his faith and in the second verse of the the psalm—"My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth!"

It is as though the question comes out of his weakness and despair, while the prompt and reassuring answer comes out of his faith and trust in the Lord.

Mountains always symbolize strength and stability to us weak human beings. No doubt the psalmist had gained the same idea in his study of nature and of God's ways—but he also realized that the kind of spiritual help that he needed and had received when it was asked for in faith had not come from physical mountains but from the Lord who had made those mountains and all of the earth.

Through the rest of the psalm, he sings a song of faith, of reassurance, that have come to him from the Lord. It is a psalm of comfort and joy. You cannot do better than to repeat it often, committing it to memory. And always remember to ask the question in that first verse, and quickly answer it in the second.

In some parts of the United States the whooper is known as the "bugle crane." During the winter these magnificent birds live on the wet coastal flats along the Gulf Coast of Texas. Most of the area in which they range has been made a wildlife refuge and is guarded by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

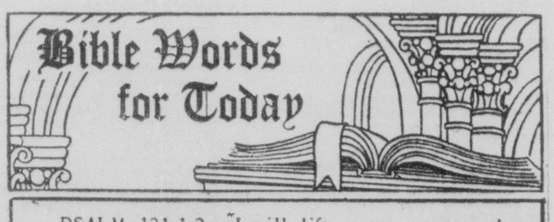
The great white birds live on the coastal plains of Texas from late October until April or about half the year. On arrival each pair selects a certain portion of the range for their winter home, these winter territories average over 400 acres to each pair and no other cranes are allowed within the invisible boundaries.

DIES

HAMMOND, La. — UP —The body of Albert C. Linton, 71-year-old former general passenger agent for the Illinois Central Railroad at New Orleans, was shipped today to Avalon, Mo., for burial.

Linton died yesterday at the Wiginton Memorial hospital here. He is survived by his widow of Hammond and a son, Robert Linton, of New Orleans.

Add cooked quartered scallops and canned drained sliced mushrooms to a cream sauce; heat but do not boil. Serve over very crisp buttered toast and top with crisply-cooked bacon. Add a green vegetable or a salad and you have a fine main course for a company lunch.



PSALM 121:1-2.—I will lift up my eyes to the hills. From whence does my help come?

"My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth." (RSV)

The opening verses of this psalm that is the favorite of many Bible readers, has had brought to its content a new meaning in the Revised Standard Version of the Scriptures. In older versions, there was no question mark at the end of verse one. In the RSV, there is a question mark, as indicated above. And the reader quickly realizes that the psalmist was asking this important question: from whence does my help come?—which question is quickly answered by his faith and in the second verse of the the psalm—"My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth!"

It is as though the question comes out of his weakness and despair, while the prompt and reassuring answer comes out of his faith and trust in the Lord.

Mountains always symbolize strength and stability to us weak human beings. No doubt the psalmist had gained the same idea in his study of nature and of God's ways—but he also realized that the kind of spiritual help that he needed and had received when it was asked for in faith had not come from physical mountains but from the Lord who had made those mountains and all of the earth.

Through the rest of the psalm, he sings a song of faith, of reassurance, that have come to him from the Lord. It is a psalm of comfort and joy. You cannot do better than to repeat it often, committing it to memory. And always remember to ask the question in that first verse, and quickly answer it in the second.

Monroe Baptist Hospital To Be Given Thought

The Twin Cities will be deeply interested in efforts to obtain action by Baptists of the state to obtain a hospital owned and operated by this denomination in Ouachita parish.

The Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor of Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, is leader in the movement which has excellent backing. He points out that this city and area has but one first class hospital in addition to Charity hospital and a small private clinic. Other cities of the state are provided with much better facilities, he states.

When the Baptist's convention is held this week in Shreveport, the Reverend Mitchell will present a resolution asking that the convention give thought to the needs of a Baptist hospital in Monroe.

He states as follows in this connection:

"All cities with a population the size of the Twin Cities and this area of northeast Louisiana need at least two large hospitals. I would say this if the one here now was a Baptist hospital.

"Baptists own and operate large modern streamlined hospitals in Alexandria, Baton Rouge, New Orleans and smaller ones in DeRidder and Homer. Now Baptists in the Lafayette area are going to the Louisiana Baptist Convention which meets in Shreveport this week asking for a convention sponsored hospial in that area.

"I am asking the Baptists of northeast Louisiana to take their map and look at the institutions they own in this state and with the exception of the Louisiana Baptist Children's home, the tiny hospital at Homer, two B. S. U. centers and a book store in Shreveport all are in central and south Louisiana. Yet most of the Baptist churches and members live in north Louisiana.

"Without being selfish it is time for Baptist people in northeast Louisiana to do something for themselves. We should go to the Louisiana Baptist Convention this week with a resolution asking for a Baptist owned and operated hospital to be located in the Twin Cities.

"How to start the movement? Get our people conscious of the need and opportunity, and both are real, and go to the convention next week asking the convention to make a study and survey of our area for a Baptist hospital."

Revival Held In Morningside Church

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Cannot I be a Christian without joining the church? W. E. W.

ANSWER: Yes, you can be a Christian without joining a church, but you will be a very poor one. The church is the body of Christ here on this earth. It is not perfect but you need the fellowship of other Christians and this is to be found where Christians are — in the church. Furthermore, its your duty to take your share in the responsibilities which rest on all Christians. In the organization and program of the church you find spiritual food and also outlets for Christian work. If you will read the history of the early church, you will find that the Christians banded together in the various communities where they lived, for fellowship, for worship and mutual witness. While joining a church does not make you a Christian, it certainly helps you to be a better one! It is both your privilege and your duty to so identify yourself! Our Lord requires of His disciples that they bear a public witness for Him. In and through your church connections is one way to do this.

We also go to church to worship God! Don't look for a perfect church — you won't find it. If it were perfect it would become imperfect the moment you joined it!

Thanksgiving In One Family Is Being Portrayed

It's Thanksgiving Eve in the Fisher household, but all is not well. With the women folks frantically preparing for the big day ahead, it's suddenly discovered that an unfortunate accident will prevent them having a turkey for their dinner . . . and the only available substitute is hamburger. It's all part of the "This Is The Life" Thanksgiving Day story to be televised on Nov. 21 at 6:30 p.m.

It's the story of how the Fishers almost forgot the real meaning of Thanksgiving, until they heard of the story of another family in town and learned that Thanksgiving is more than just Turkey and Cranberry Sauce. It's a heartwarming story of how a poor aged couple taught the Fishers and a lot of others a lesson in the true meaning of Thanksgiving.

This 30-minute Hollywood presentation is this week's episode of the "This Is the Life" public service series of notable dramas scheduled on KNOE-TV for the regular Monday program.

Christmas Seal Sales Start Off For Current Year

This is the time of the year when the annual T. B. Seal Sale campaign is in progress. The Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health Association depends on this source to carry on its work.

This time, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, for many years principal at Georgia Tucker School who is now retired, has been named Ouachita parish chairman of the Seal Sale campaign.

Her selection meets with approval as she is a woman ever ready to lead in any effort that means for betterment of conditions here and elsewhere.

The Cooley Sanatorium site was made possible by purchase through money that was given in small sums from the public. It has proved a great institution and has been the means of reclaiming many lives in this parish. But the work is by no means finished. It has to go on and money is required. All who buy Christmas seals are contributing their bit to the cause.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson - sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, November 13, 1955.
The golden text is: "Ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you" (Rom. 8:9).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson - sermon is the following from the Bible: "Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me" (Isa. 43:10).
The Lesson - Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If man were solely a creature of the material senses, he would have no eternal principle and would be mutable and mortal" (200).

St. Albans To Throw Open Its Doors To Public

St. Alban's Episcopal church, Jackson Street at Morris avenue will have its formal opening and first service, Sunday, November 13, 8:30 a.m. In the afternoon from 3 to 5 there will be an open house for the public to inspect the new structure designed by Beuford G. Jacka, architect, and constructed by Ted R. Woods, contractor.

St. Alban's, named for the first Christian martyr in England, has been meeting at the Plum Street school since its organization in January. In the past nine months the congregation has had a 75 per cent increase in membership. On June 21, eve of St. Alban's Day, ground was broken for the present church and educational building, as part of the strategic missionary and expansion program of the Episcopal church in the city of Monroe. Warden of the new church is John C. Eby. Other officers include Mrs. Fagan Cox, president of the Woman's Auxiliary, and Mrs. John W. Breazeal, treasurer. The Rev. Robert E. Ratelle is the priest - in-charge and vicar of the new church.

The structure on Jackson street is the first unit in a long range building program. It will house the actual church services, as well as congregational suppers, meetings, and classes. In the rear of the building are classrooms for the church school, office, bathrooms, and sacristy.

Two unusual gifts will become part of the fabric of the building. Both are stones and come from England. One is a small stone block from St. Alban's Cathedral, north of London. It was part of the ancient cloisters, destroyed in 1540. Since that time it was used in the fabric of the cathedral itself. The other stone is a piece of Roman tile, dating from the third century, and part of the old Roman city of Verulamium where Alban was martyred in 304 A. D. These will be on display at the service in the morning and the open house in the afternoon.

A handwritten letter of greeting from the present bishop of St. Alban's in England will be read at the first service. The public is cordially invited to come to both the morning service and the open house in the afternoon.

FOR THE LUNCHBOX

Add finely diced celery and grated carrot to canned deviled ham and use as a sandwich filling. A little grated onion and lemon juice may also be added to point up flavor.

Monroe Baptist Hospital To Be Given Thought

The Twin Cities will be deeply interested in efforts to obtain action by Baptists of the state to obtain a hospital owned and operated by this denomination in Ouachita parish.

The Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor of Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, is leader in the movement which has excellent backing. He points out that this city and area has but one first class hospital in addition to Charity hospital and a small private clinic. Other cities of the state are provided with much better facilities, he states.

When the Baptist's convention is held this week in Shreveport, the Reverend Mitchell will present a resolution asking that the convention give thought to the needs of a Baptist hospital in Monroe.

He states as follows in this connection:

"All cities with a population the size of the Twin Cities and this area of northeast Louisiana need at least two large hospitals. I would say this if the one here now was a Baptist hospital.

"Baptists own and operate large modern streamlined hospitals in Alexandria, Baton Rouge, New Orleans and smaller ones in DeRidder and Homer. Now Baptists in the Lafayette area are going to the Louisiana Baptist Convention which meets in Shreveport this week asking for a convention sponsored hospial in that area.

"I am asking the Baptists of northeast Louisiana to take their map and look at the institutions they own in this state and with the exception of the Louisiana Baptist Children's home, the tiny hospital at Homer, two B. S. U. centers and a book store in Shreveport all are in central and south Louisiana. Yet most of the Baptist churches and members live in north Louisiana.

"Without being selfish it is time for Baptist people in northeast Louisiana to do something for themselves. We should go to the Louisiana Baptist Convention this week with a resolution asking for a Baptist owned and operated hospital to be located in the Twin Cities.

"How to start the movement? Get our people conscious of the need and opportunity, and both are real, and go to the convention next week asking the convention to make a study and survey of our area for a Baptist hospital."

Revival Held In Morningside Church

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Cannot I be a Christian without joining the church? W. E. W.

ANSWER: Yes, you can be a Christian without joining a church, but you will be a very poor one. The church is the body of Christ here on this earth. It is not perfect but you need the fellowship of other Christians and this is to be found where Christians are — in the church. Furthermore, its your duty to take your share in the responsibilities which rest on all Christians. In the organization and program of the church you find spiritual food and also outlets for Christian work. If you will read the history of the early church, you will find that the Christians handed together in the various communities where they lived, for fellowship, for worship and mutual witness. While joining a church does not make you a Christian, it certainly helps you to be a better one! It is both your privilege and your duty to so identify yourself! Our Lord requires of His disciples that they bear a public witness for Him. In and through your church connections is one way to do this.

We also go to church to worship God! Don't look for a perfect church — you won't find it. If it were perfect it would become imperfect the moment you joined it!

Thanksgiving In One Family Is Being Portrayed

It's Thanksgiving Eve in the Fisher household, but all is not well. With the women folks frantically preparing for the big day ahead, it's suddenly discovered that an unfortunate accident will prevent them having a turkey for their dinner . . . and the only available substitute is hamburger. It's all part of the "This Is The Life" Thanksgiving Day story to be televised on Nov. 21 at 6:30 p.m.

It's the story of how the Fishers almost forgot the real meaning of Thanksgiving, until they heard of the story of another family in town and learned that Thanksgiving is more than just Turkey and Cranberry Sauce. It's a heartwarming story of how a poor aged couple taught the Fishers and a lot of others a lesson in the true meaning of Thanksgiving.

This 30-minute Hollywood presentation is this week's episode of the "This Is the Life" public service series of notable dramas scheduled on KNOE-TV for the regular Monday program.

Christmas Seal Sales Start Off For Current Year

This is the time of the year when the annual T. B. Seal Sale campaign is in progress. The Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health Association depends on this source to carry on its work.

This time, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, for many years principal at Georgia Tucker School who is now retired, has been named Ouachita parish chairman of the Seal Sale campaign.

Her selection meets with approval as she is a woman ever ready to lead in any effort that means for betterment of conditions here and elsewhere.

The Cooley Sanatorium site was made possible by purchase through money that was given in small sums from the public. It has proved a great institution and has been the means of reclaiming many lives in this parish. But the work is by no means finished. It has to go on and money is required. All who buy Christmas seals are contributing their bit to the cause.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson - sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, November 13, 1955.
The golden text is: "Ye are not in the fresh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you" (Rom. 8:9).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson - sermon is the following from the Bible: "Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me" (Isa. 43:10).
The Lesson - Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If man were solely a creature of the material senses, he would have no eternal principle and would be mutable and mortal" (290).

St. Albans To Throw Open Its Doors To Public

St. Alban's Episcopal church, Jackson Street at Morris avenue, will have its formal opening and first service, Sunday, November 13, 8:30 a.m. In the afternoon from 3 to 5 there will be an open house for the public to inspect the new structure designed by Beuford G. Jacka, architect, and constructed by Ted R. Woods, contractor.

St. Alban's, named for the first Christian martyr in England, has been meeting at the Plum Street school since its organization in January. In the past nine months the congregation has had a 75 per cent increase in membership. On June 21, eve of St. Alban's Day, ground was broken for the present church and educational building, as part of the strategic missionary and expansion program of the Episcopal church in the city of Monroe. Warden of the new church is John C. Eby. Other officers include Mrs. Fagan Cox, president of the Woman's Auxiliary, and Mrs. John W. Breazeal, treasurer. The Rev. Robert E. Ratelle is the priest - in-charge and vicar of the new church.

The structure on Jackson street is the first unit in a long range building program. It will house the actual church services, as well as congregational suppers, meetings, and classes. In the rear of the building are classrooms for the church school, office, bathrooms, and sacristy.

Two unusual gifts will become part of the fabric of the building. Both are stones and come from England. One is a small stone block from St. Alban's Cathedral, north of London. It was part of the ancient cloisters, destroyed in 1540. Since that time it was used in the fabric of the cathedral itself. The other stone is a piece of Roman tile, dating from the third century, and part of the old Roman city of Verulamium where Alban was martyred in 304 A. D. These will be on display at the service in the morning and the open house in the afternoon.

A handwritten letter of greeting from the present bishop of St. Alban's in England will be read at the first service. The public is cordially invited to come to both the morning service and the open house in the afternoon.

Green Lawn Will Spotlite Garden

No! It is not too late to plant winter grass seed. A carpet of green during the winter gives a welcome look to your house and garden. In January and February when the bulbs bloom, the green lawn forms a frame and you enjoy the flowers more than if they were blooming against a dead carpet.

Many different varieties of bulbs are in the stores and nurseries. Also, you'll find calendula and pansy plants. They both like rich soil. If you've noticed the carpets of sweet alyssum blooming around the parish, you'll surely not put off planting some of these seed. They can be planted any time of year and make lovely carpets or ground covers for shrubbery beds.

A little 5-10-5 sprinkled over the ground where bulbs have been established for several years, will help the bulbs to flower. So says Ellen Thompson, and believe me she should know since she's a bulb enthusiast and produces gorgeous blooms every year.

Our new rose bulletin says if dormant plants can be obtained, roses can be planted in December. Plants should be set out in time for the root system to become established before active growth starts in the spring. If set out too early and there is a period of mild weather, growth may start in the above ground parts and then, if a severe cold comes, plants may be damaged or killed.

JES' TALKING

Now that coconuts are in the market, here's a tip for easier removing of the shell. Put it in the oven, 350 degrees for about 20 minutes. (Longer for a very large coconut.) A slight blow will then break the shell and it will come off easily. If you know any way to grate without taking off the ends of the fingers, please let me know.

You can have fresh parsley whenever you need it this winter. Dampen a sponge and place it in a deep dish, sprinkle parsley seed into the sponge. Keep this damp and you'll soon see the parsley grow. It makes an attractive bowl of greenery for your window and you will always have parsley to garnish meat and salad.

Puff sleeves in a child's dress are easily ironed by inserting a burning electric light bulb into the sleeve, then rubbing out the wrinkles.

Do you find buttons a problem when ironing a garment that must be ironed on the wrong side? Here's a tip to help you do a quicker job and a smother jib. Just place a heavy bath towel under the buttons. They will sink in to the towel and the iron will glide over the surface of the cloth without interference.

FOOD NOTES

Food is still a headliner for food shoppers these days. For a real economy buy, select end cuts of loin. They are several cents per pound cheaper than the center - cut loin roast or chops. Another thrifty cut at your meat counter is chops or steaks from the pork shoulder (arm and blade.

Flavorsome pork hocks make good good eating with cabbage and yams. Remember — fresh pork should be cooked so that it is done throughout. This makes the pork safe to eat and proper cooking brings out the flavor.

Beef cuts are down a cent or two per pound at many stores, as are veal pieces. Fryers are a real bargain. Egg prices are unchanged. Apples, Tokay grapes, Florida oranges and grapefruit are excellent buys. More turnips, cabbage, squash, and cauliflower are available.

Remember a good buy one week may be a luxury next week. Buy when foods are plentiful.

Amaryllia

Amaryllis is one of our showiest flowers and is easy to raise. This bulb can be planted now and on into spring. It takes ten to twelve weeks for the planted bulbs to flower. A raised bed provides good drainage and amaryllia like neutral soil. Some sand in the bed is good as this helps to provide good drainage which this bulb must have. Work bone meal in the soil well and plant the bulb with the nose out of the ground. If you plant deep, you encourage bulb rot. Mulch, such as pine straw is a good protection. Amaryllis will thrive in semi shade or full sun. The blossoms fade less if there is some shade. When growing amaryllis in pots, soak the empty pots from twelve to twenty - four hours in water to make sure they are thoroughly saturated. Regular feeding every two weeks with a balanced fertilizer, liquified helps the potted bulbs. If you plant now, begin this feeding in January.

Amaryllia have a way of repeating blooms and multiplying. For the beginning gardener a handful of bulbs can afford a lot of garden pleasure.

Berry Plants Replace Flowers

When the leaves have fallen and the flowers have been killed by frost, the berry bearing plants take the place of flowers in the winter landscape. For a short time, the violet berries of our native beauty-berry make an unusual splash of color. The white berries of the cultivated snow - berry stand up better to the frosts and last well into the Winter before they, too, turn brown. Different kinds of bittersweet seem to open better with the hard frosts, and the fruits of these stay on nearly all winter or until the birds get them. The old Japanese barberry is a dazzling thing in the sunshine and makes a good protective prickly hedge which few children or animals will venture to go.

It is the plants which are both evergreen and berry bearing, too, which are the most outstanding in the winter picture, however. Even as early as late August, the orange berries of Pyracantha lalandi begin to turn. Then the kind with the large red berries colors up. This one is usually listed in catalogues as Graberi. Another early one is listed as formosana, and after the hard freezes have blackened all of these, the last pyracantha to turn red is yunnanensis. The early kinds may be spoiled by Christmas by extra cold weather in some years, but you can always count on Pyracantha yunnanensis for berries with which to decorate at Christmas. The fruits are not as large as other kinds but are very hardy to cold and last almost till Spring. These fruits are a subtle shade of rose, as flower arrangers know, instead of the more gaudy "red" of earlier varieties. It is well to plant a few specimens on church grounds to be assured of berries to supplement holly at Christmas Time.

Do not forget what a tremendous space a pyracantha wants when you plan to plant them. Ten feet square is none too big for them! The long canes that grew this summer will flower next spring and summer, you must leave them berries next fall. If you have them trimmed off, you cannot possibly get berries by next fall on the new wood that grows during next summer, so you must leavet hem alone. Most of the fruit is borne out on the last half of the new canes. You can take this into account where the plants have grown so that they obstruct passage and must be cut back some. However, one can usually leave the canes that come out of the top of the bushes alone. When these become heavy with fruit, they will hang over gracefully and come down to eye level.

Pyracanthas are immensely valuable where there is room for them. For very large hedges they are ideal because nothing can penetrate them but a rabbit after the shrubs are grown. Birds are immensely benefitted by them because they can make safe nests in them. They can eat the berries at the end of winter, ant they can escape from cats and hawks into these thickets. It is easy to espalier or train pyracanthas on a frame when the wood is soft and young. Bending the long canes seems to make them berry all the better. The plants are not easily transplanted after they become old. If they must be moved, it is wise to cut them to the ground except for a few young canes before transferring them to a new location.

Fall Designs Hilite Flower Show

Talented local arrangers provided the flower show at the Center this week, so that all garden club members throughout the area might attend the Fifth District Meeting in Tallulah last Tuesday. Arrangements of dried materials were featured. Mrs. Ione Talbert, well known lecturer and arranger of Fort Worth, Texas and currently on tour in North Louisiana, made a special arrangement for display at the Garden Center. A tall cylinder in textured oatmeal color was used for the dramatic line mass arrangement, in colors of beige and brown. The design was established with the seed pods of the Formosa lily. These are satiny in texture and a lovely honey beige color. Enhancing the line were placements of dried aspidistra leaves in a natural beige tone, brown dock and three Wood - Roses as the center of interest.

Mrs. V. S. Garnett's arrangement in tints and tones shading from very light beige to dark brown created much comment. For a container Mrs. Garnett chose a dark brown earthenware platter in which she created a line - mass arrangement of treated magnolia leaves in shades of dark and light brown. The design was repeated with clusters of pecans in corresponding shades. In the local area a beautiful red-brown rock (from Arkansas) was placed blending in color tones with the plant material. Mrs. Garnett treated the magnolia leaves with glycerin and the pale beige (almost white) pecans were given a clorax bath. Mrs. F. B. Shipp created a lovely arrangement, triangular in form, also in shades of brown and beige. Her container was a free form bowl of dark brown. Teasel burrs established the height and airy broom sage strengthened the line. Dried yellow-beige grasses continued down the line with a cluster of hydrangea at the base and covering the rim of the container.

Dr. Katherine Foster designed a delightful arrangement in browns and yellows. A round bowl, set on a black base was used for the symmetrical triangle. Spikes of brown cat tails were used for height, with brown dock as background material. Dark brown magnolia leaves were used near the base with okra pods in delight curves. Clusters of golden yarrow were used as a center of interest surrounded by eucalyptus pods and lipstick pods.

Those of you who did not attend the Fifth District Meeting in Tallulah missed a wonderful treat. Our garden club hostesses provided a delightful luncheon and wonderful entertainment for us. The district was well represented (about 150 people I should say). It was most stimulating to hear what the garden clubs are doing, and to see fellow gardeners from surrounding towns. Mrs. Latham's Christmas demonstration provided us with fresh, new ideas that we can duplicate in our own homes this coming holiday season.

Let me remind you again of a date, November 21, Monday at 2:30 P. M. Place: Bayou DeSiard Country Club, the Welcome Garden Club will present Mrs. Hugh Sutherland of Bethany Plantation, Miss. Mrs. Sutherland who specializes in Christmas and Dried arrangement will make about twenty all new exhibits (she never repeats a lecture) in Christmas designs. Tickets are available at the Garden Center.

Green Lawn Will Spotlite Garden

No! It is not too late to plant winter grass seed. A carpet of green during the winter gives a welcome look to your house and garden. In January and February when the bulbs bloom, the green lawn forms a frame and you enjoy the flowers more than if they were blooming against a dead carpet.

Many different varieties of bulbs are in the stores and nurseries. Also, you'll find calendula and pansy plants. They both like rich soil. If you've noticed the carpets of sweet alyssum blooming around the parish, you'll surely not put off planting some of these seed. They can be planted any time of year and make lovely carpets or ground covers for shrubbery beds.

A little 5-10-5 sprinkled over the ground where bulbs have been established for several years, will help the bulbs to flower. So says Ellen Thompson, and believe me she should know since she's a bulb enthusiast and produces gorgeous blooms every year.

Our new rose bulletin says if dormant plants can be obtained, roses can be planted in December. Plants should be set out in time for the root system to become established before active growth starts in the spring. If set out too early and there is a period of mild weather, growth may start in the above ground parts and then, if a severe cold comes, plants may be damaged or killed.

JES' TALKING

Now that coconuts are in the market, here's a tip for easier removing of the shell. Put it in the oven, 350 degrees for about 20 minutes. (Longer for a very large coconut.) A slight blow will then break the shell and it will come off easily. If you know any way to grate without taking off the ends of the fingers, please let me know.

You can have fresh parsley whenever you need it this winter. Dampen a sponge and place it in a deep dish, sprinkle parsley seed into the sponge. Keep this damp and you'll soon see the parsley grow. It makes an attractive bowl of greenery for your window and you will always have parsley to garnish meat and salad.

Puff sleeves in a child's dress are easily ironed by inserting a burning electric light bulb into the sleeve, then rubbing out the wrinkles.

Do you find buttons a problem when ironing a garment that must be ironed on the wrong side? Here's a tip to help you do a quicker job and a smother jib. Just place a heavy bath towel under the buttons. They will sink in to the towel and the iron will glide over the surface of the cloth without interference.

FOOD NOTES

Food is still a headliner for food shoppers these days. For a real economy buy, select end cuts of loin. They are several cents per pound cheaper than the center - cut loin roast or chops. Another thrifty cut at your meat counter is chops or steaks from the pork shoulder (arm and blade.

Flavorsome pork hocks make good good eating with cabbage and yams. Remember — fresh pork should be cooked so that it is done throughout. This makes the pork safe to eat and proper cooking brings out the flavor.

Beef cuts are down a cent or two per pound at many stores, as are veal pieces. Fryers are a real bargain. Egg prices are unchanged. Apples, Tokay grapes, Florida oranges and grapefruit are excellent buys. More turnips, cabbage, squash, and cauliflower are available.

Remember a good buy one week may be a luxury next week. Buy when foods are plentiful.

Amaryllia

Amaryllis is one of our showiest flowers and is easy to raise. This bulb can be planted now and on into spring. It takes ten to twelve weeks for the planted bulbs to flower. A raised bed provides good drainage and amaryllia like neutral soil. Some sand in the bed is good as this helps to provide good drainage which this bulb must have. Work bone meal in the soil well and plant the bulb with the nose out of the ground. If you plant deep, you encourage bulb rot. Mulch, such as pine straw is a good protection. Amaryllis will thrive in semi shade or full sun. The blossoms fade less if there is some shade. When growing amaryllis in pots, soak the empty pots from twelve to twenty - four hours in water to make sure they are thoroughly saturated. Regular feeding every two weeks with a balanced fertilizer, liquified helps the potted bulbs. If you plant now, begin this feeding in January.

Amaryllia have a way of repeating blooms and multiplying. For the beginning gardener a handful of bulbs can afford a lot of garden pleasure.

Berry Plants Replace Flowers

When the leaves have fallen and the flowers have been killed by frost, the berry bearing plants take the place of flowers in the winter landscape. For a short time, the violet berries of our native beauty-berry make an unusual splash of color. The white berries of the cultivated snow - berry stand up better to the frosts and last well into the Winter before they, too, turn brown. Different kinds of bittersweet seem to open better with the hard frosts, and the fruits of these stay on nearly all winter or until the birds get them. The old Japanese barberry is a dazzling thing in the sunshine and makes a good protective prickly hedge which few children or animals will venture to go.

It is the plants which are both evergreen and berry bearing, too, which are the most outstanding in the winter picture, however. Even as early as late August, the orange berries of Pyracantha lalandi begin to turn. Then the kind with the large red berries colors up. This one is usually listed in catalogues as Graberi. Another early one is listed as formosana, and after the hard freezes have blackened all of these, the last pyracantha to turn red is yunnanensis. The early kinds may be spoiled by Christmas by extra cold weather in some years, but you can always count on Pyracantha yunnanensis for berries with which to decorate at Christmas. The fruits are not as large as other kinds but are very hardy to cold and last almost till Spring. These fruits are a subtle shade of rose, as flower arrangers know, instead of the more gaudy "red" of earlier varieties. It is well to plant a few specimens on church grounds to be assured of berries to supplement holly at Christmas Time.

Do not forget what a tremendous space a pyracantha wants when you plan to plant them. Ten feet square is none too big for them! The long canes that grew this summer will flower next spring and summer, you must leave them berries next fall. If you have them trimmed off, you cannot possibly get berries by next fall on the new wood that grows during next summer, so you must leavet hem alone. Most of the fruit is borne out on the last half of the new canes. You can take this into account where the plants have grown so that they obstruct passage and must be cut back some. However, one can usually leave the canes that come out of the top of the bushes alone. When these become heavy with fruit, they will hang over gracefully and come down to eye level.

Pyracanthas are immensely valuable where there is room for them. For very large hedges they are ideal because nothing can penetrate them but a rabbit after the shrubs are grown. Birds are immensely benefitted by them because they can make safe nests in them. They can eat the berries at the end of winter, ant they can escape from cats and hawks into these thickets. It is easy to espalier or train pyracanthas on a frame when the wood is soft and young. Bending the long canes seems to make them berry all the better. The plants are not easily transplanted after they become old. If they must be moved, it is wise to cut them to the ground except for a few young canes before transferring them to a new location.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

We sometimes forget that our habitual temperament, thoughts and outlook constantly are etching themselves on our faces . . . we look like what we are.

Appearance Of Mouth May Reveal True Character

Usually the feature which we one we love is the mouth. Sometimes it is the eyes.

These two are most expressive of what we really are. The curve of a mouth and the expression in the eyes are most revealing.

I have written somewhat recently about the eyes. Today let us consider the mouth. By looking at a woman's mouth we usually can tell whether she is tense or relaxed, whether she is gay or dour, whether she is pessimistic or optimistic.

This is true because the corners of the mouth just naturally turn up when a person is gay and optimistic while they pull down when she is dour and pessimistic. Tenseness always can be spotted when the teeth are clamped together and the mouth is drawn into a hard line.

Relax

I have often said in this column that one trick in losing tenseness is to deliberately relax the mouth and the tongue many times each day. It is almost impossible to be tense when your mouth and your tongue are relaxed.

We sometimes forget that our habitual temperament, thoughts and outlook constantly are etching themselves on our faces. After a time we literally look like what we are. A cold glint in the eyes as compared to warmth and inner light tell a whole story, as do the pulled down corners of the mouth.

Many very wonderful folks allow these facial mannerisms to make them appear to be what they aren't, because of worry, fretfulness, heetieness, rush and fatigue. This works both ways. We should think seriously of our facial expressions not only because of the effect they have on our spirits but because they are aging in an extreme way.

Lines on Lip

To go back to the mouth itself. I will not today give the rules for making up the mouth because I have done that lately. However, there is one problem which bothers many women: the vertical lines which appear on the upper lip.

Usually this is a problem of the older woman but many relatively young women have this trouble, too. These may be due partly to the decrease in fatty deposits under the skin which occur as we grow older. However, quite often they are a result of the habit of pursing the lips, and also the habit of leaving lubricating cream off the lips even when it is used on the face and neck.

Your lipstick may be an offender, too. If you use one which is too oily it will get into the little creases and give the appearance of lines. One which is too dry, actually dries out the skin.

If you missed the instructions about how to make up the lips you may want my leaflet about make-up. If so send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 50 "What's Going On" to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. True. "I forgot" is the one excuse we accept for human mistakes and derelictions more readily than any other of the numberless attempts people make to vindicate themselves. If a child says, "Oh, I forgot," parents may be irritated, but they are helpless to do anything about it. Punishing a child for forgetting is like punishing for being somewhere when he was not there.

"I hope he doesn't ask . . ."

Do you feel this way about explaining sex to your child? If so, you need the Public Affairs nonprofit booklet, "How To Tell Your Child About Sex." Send 25c (coin only) and your name and address to Public Affairs Committee, c-o your newspaper.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. The world is trying a gigantic experiment today, new in human history: educating men for cooperation through the instruments of science — radio, movies, television, and the press. Yet, it may fail because they lack something higher than science without which men cannot cooperate: that spiritual faith that alone unites men in great endeavors. We need a simpler faith, deeper religion than has yet come out of the laboratories of science.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Many businessmen are consumed with great and passionate idealisms about human welfare: the promotion of art, science, and literature; and a more equitable distribution of the everyday comforts of life. In recent years, a number of businessmen who had built up large lines of business willed, upon their deaths, the business to their employees. This is practical idealism, and it is growing every day.

White wines should be chilled before using. Red wines may be served room temperature and poured right out of a decanter. Sherry may be put in a decanter also.

A Game About The Weather

Every day we hear or read about the weather. Now here's how you can play a game about it.

Since all of us want to find the sunshine, that is what we are going to do in this game.

Paste this picture on thin cardboard and color it with crayons or paints. Make the fog gray, the hail white against a dark blue sky and the snow the same. The space for the wind is brown and the rain gray. All the other spaces can be bright colors. The sun, of course, should be yellow.

Use small buttons for markers and a penny to toss so you can find out the number of moves. Heads mean two moves and tails one move.

Follow the arrows and play in turn.

Start at the moon every time. Every time you land on a weather spot you must go back to the moon. Rain sends you back for rubbers, hail for a bucket to put stones in, fog for a flashlight, wind for a warm scarf, snow for a sweater. Each of these delays sends you back one space.

When you reach the sun space you must have just the right number of moves to take you out into the sunshine. The first one to reach the sun is the winner.

Two Short Operas Set For Thursday At Northwestern

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 12 (Special)—Two of the most original works penned in English for the operatic stage in the last decade will be presented by Cian-Carlo Menotti at 8:15 p. m. Thursday at the Northwestern State College's fine arts auditorium.

"The Medium" and "The Telephone," Menotti's double bill of operas will feature Marie Powers, one of the most vivid personalities of the music world, who will sing the role that brought her international fame, that of Madam Flora.

Prices for adults are $4.40, and for students, $2.20, said Dr. Edna West, chairman of the Northwestern - Natchitoches Concert Association, who added that single admission tickets will be sold at the box office before the performance.

Miss Powers created the role of the star - crossed spiritualist in "The Medium" in New York, in 1947, and has performed it in all of the great capitals of the world. Menotti is considered one of the most brilliant and successful operatic composers in the country. He wrote the music and libretto for this exciting six - character work.

"The Telephone" a 20-minute operetta, is a wonderful example of that sprightly but difficult form of theatrical art, the curtain raiser. In it Menotti displays his extraordinary ability to use music and singing as a form of witty commentary on human conventions.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

We sometimes forget that our habitual temperament, thoughts and outlook constantly are etching themselves on our faces . . . we look like what we are.

Appearance Of Mouth May Reveal True Character

Usually the feature which we remember most vividly about a person we know, and especially one we love, is the mouth. Sometimes it is the eyes.

These two are most expressive of what we really are. The curve of a mouth and the expression in the eyes are most revealing.

I have written somewhat recently about the eyes. Today let us consider the mouth. By looking at a woman's mouth we usually can tell whether she is tense or relaxed, whether she is gay or dour, whether she is pessimistic or optimistic.

This is true because the corners of the mouth just naturally turn up when a person is gay and optimistic while they pull down when she is dour and pessimistic. Tenseness always can be spotted when the teeth are clamped together and the mouth is drawn into a hard line.

Relax

I have often said in this column that one trick in losing tenseness is to deliberately relax the mouth and the tongue many times each day. It is almost impossible to be tense when your mouth and your tongue are relaxed.

We sometimes forget that our habitual temperament, thoughts and outlook constantly are etching themselves on our faces. After a time we literally look like what we are. A cold glint in the eyes as compared to warmth and inner light tell a whole story, as do the pulled down corners of the mouth.

Many very wonderful folks allow these facial mannerisms to make them appear to be what they aren't, because of worry, fretfulness, hecticness, rush and fatigue. This works both ways. We should think seriously of our facial expressions not only because of the effect they have on our spirits but because they are aging in an extreme way.

Lines on Lip

To go back to the mouth itself, I will not today give the rules for making up the mouth because I have done that lately. However, there is one problem which bothers many women; the vertical lines which appear on the upper lip.

Usually this is a problem of the older woman but many relatively young women have this trouble, too. These may be due partly to the decrease in fatty deposits under the skin which occur as we grow older. However, quite often they are a result of the habit of pursing the lips, and also the habit of leaving lubricating cream off the lips even when it is used on the face and neck.

Your lipstick may be an offender, too. If you use one which is too oily it will get into the little creases and give the appearance of lines. One which is too dry, actually dries out the skin.

If you missed the instructions about how to make up the lips you may want my leaflet about makeup. If so send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 50 "What's Going On" to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

CROSSETT, Ark., Nov. 12 (Special) — S. J. Carpenter, an employee of the Crossett Paper Mills, was seriously injured here yesterday morning when his hand was crushed in the press roll at the site of the new bleached food board mill.

At the Crossett Health Center, where he was taken by ambulance, his injuries were diagnosed as a compound fracture of the right hand, three broken fingers and contusion of the hand.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. True. "I forgot" is the one excuse we accept for human mistakes and derelictions more readily than any other of the numberless attempts people make to vindicate themselves. If a child says, "Oh, I forgot," parents may be irritated, but they are helpless to do anything about it. Punishing a child for forgetting is like punishing for being somewhere when he was not there.

"I hope he doesn't ask . . ."

Do you feel this way about explaining sex to your child? If so, you need the Public Affairs nonprofit booklet, "How To Tell Your Child About Sex." Send 25c (coin only) and your name and address to Public Affairs Committee, c-o your newspaper.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. The world is trying a gigantic experiment today, new in human history: educating men for cooperation through the instruments of science — radio, movies, television, and the press. Yet, it may fail because they lack something higher than science without which men cannot cooperate: that spiritual faith that alone unites men in great endeavors. We need a simpler faith, deeper religion than has yet come out of the laboratories of science.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Many businessmen are consumed with great and passionate idealisms about human welfare; the promotion of art, science, and literature; and a more equitable distribution of the everyday comforts of life. In recent years, a number of businessmen who had built up large lines of business willed, upon their deaths, the business to their employees. This is practical idealism, and it is growing every day.

Two Short Operas Set For Thursday At Northwestern

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 12 (Special)—Two of the most original works penned in English for the operatic stage in the last decade will be presented by Cian-Carlo Menotti at 8:15 p. m. Thursday at the Northwestern State College's fine arts auditorium.

"The Medium" and "The Telephone," Menotti's double bill of operas will feature Marie Powers, one of the most vivid personalities of the music world, who will sing the role that brought her international fame, that of Madam Flora.

Prices for adults are $4.40, and for students, $2.20, said Dr. Edna West, chairman of the Northwestern - Natchitoches Concert Association, who added that single admission tickets will be sold at the box office before the performance.

Miss Powers created the role of the star - crossed spiritualist in "The Medium" in New York, in 1947, and has performed it in all of the great capitals of the world. Menotti is considered one of the most brilliant and successful operatic composers in the country. He wrote the music and libretto for this exciting six - character work.

"The Telephone" a 20-minute operetta, is a wonderful example of that sprightly but difficult form of theatrical art, the curtain raiser. In it Menotti displays his extraordinary ability to use music and singing as a form of witty commentary on human conventions.

Peter Lorre Is Great

By GEORGE NADER
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, November 12 — I wish I could say that Peter Lorre is an evil, ill - tempered frightening little man who is a horror to work with, because it would probably make more exciting reading —and besides, that's exactly what I expected when Virginia Mayo and I went to work with him in "Congo Crossing" at Universal-International. Instead, however unfortunately, I am forced to report in the interests of good journalism that Peter Lorre is the greatest.

And don't ask the greatest what. He's just the greatest.

In the first place, what every one expected the first day on the set was someone similar to the famous "Mr. Moto" character that Peter created on the screen years ago. My fondest memory of Mr. Lorre was his frighteningly realistic portrayal of the child-slayer, "M." A preconceived picture such cult for anyone to make a favorable first impression, but Peter did it in the simplest way possible. He showed us pictures of his wife and little daughter. Somehow, I don't think that anyone had ever even considered Peter as a husband and a father, but he's probably one of the most thoughtful and considerate in town — and showing us the pictures was the perfect ice-breaker.

In the second place, Peter has a wit just about as sharp as the razor he uses to disembody people in his screen characterizations. First thing in the morning, when everyone on the set is groping blindly for that first cup of coffee, Peter will sidle up to a group of us. With the air of a jewel thief trying to unload the Hope diamond, he relate some hysterical anecdote and within five minutes the whole set is awake — and laughing.

And another thing — Peter is a demon for work. He's never yet missed a cue, a line, an action or anything else, for that matter. One day last week I watched him polish off a two page speech that would have been completed in one take if it hadn't been for another actor who muffed the simple line, "Watch your step, Colonel." His excuse was that he became so wrapped up in Peter's performance he forgot his own, and it was probably true.

Acting with Peter, or watching him act, is a real experience. He "gives" to all of the other people working in a scene with him, which is simply an actor's way of saying that he lives his part rather than acts it, and every emotion he puts out can actually be felt by the rest of the group — which makes for better performances all the way around.

When I was in Germany a few years ago, filming "Carnival Story," I discovered a new facet of Lorre's many talents. He had just completed a German - made film which he not only starred in but wrote and directed as well. The picture, titled "The Lost One," won almost every award the German film industry had to offer, and I understand that the city of Berlin went as far as to create a special award just for the film.

At present, Peter has plans for a second independent production to be filmed in Germany sometime next year. It's a comedy, called "The Survivor," which, again, he wrote himself and will also direct and star in — doing the dialogue in both German and English. This my friends, is talent.

I hope I haven't disillusioned any staunch Peter Lorre fans by revealing that the meanest man on the screen isn't that way at all in real life. If I have, I'll say this to comfort them:

He may be one of the nicest guys I know in private life, but on the screen — he's murder!

To George Nader:

Thanks for your clear-cut summary of Peter Lorre, screen villain de luxe, as we know him off screen.

To those readers who may have missed Peter's story, published recently in this column, George Nader has answered many questions I know have been floating around about Lorre. You'll remember George in "Carnival Story," which he mentions. He is fast becoming one of our leading men in pictures.

Sincerely,

Jimmie Fidler

'Bring Smile Along' Technicolor Musical With Frankie Laine

"Bring Your Smile Along," Columbia Pictures' new musical starring Frankie Laine and Keefe Brasselle and introducing sensational blonde songstress Constance Towers, opens today at the Jim Theatre, Filmed in color by Technicolor, the Tin Pan Alley story features New York's fabulous "Song Street" as it traces the fortunes of a pair of entertainers who rocket from burlesque to Broadway with the assistance of a charming blonde high school teacher who would rather write lyrics.

Laine is seen as the would-be singer who needs the right songs, Brasselle as an aspiring composer - pianist who needs the right lyricist, and Miss Towers as the girl who helps supply both rhythm and romance.

Laine is said to be a revelation in "Bring Your Smile Along." He sings, takes part in several dance numbers and also proves himself to be an able comedian. The tall, dark and handsome leading man who scored so sensationally in "The Eddie Cantor Story," Brasselle proves too, that he can delightfully sing his own numbers. Miss Towers is one of the year's most popular TV and night club entertainers, a sure bet for screen stardom.

"Bring Your Smile Along" brims over with songs including the title number by Benny Davis and Carl Fischer; "If Spring Never Comes" by Bill Carey and Fischer; "Gandy Dancers' Ball" by Paul Mason Howard and Paul Weston; "Don't Blame Me" by Dorothy Fields and Jimmy McHugh; "Side by Side" by Harry Woods; "When a Girl Is Beautiful" and "Every Baby Needs a Da Da Daddy," both written by Ned Washington and Lester Lee.

Blake Edwards penned the screen play of "Bring Your Smile Along" and directed the film for producer Jonie Taps.

Checker Tourney Here Is Open To Men In Service

Considerable interest is being shown by men in the armed services in the checker tournament to be held here Nov. 20. One soldier engaged in war maneuvers, who was passing through, called and said he would be back in Monroe at that time and would like to play in the tourney. Others located here have shown interest.

It is customary throughout the United States for men in the services to be allowed to play in state or local tournaments wherever they happen to be located.

The tournament will be held at the Monroe Recreation center, 113 Catalpa Street, beginning at 10 a.m., Nov. 20, and will be a one-day affair. The championship of north Louisiana is at stake.

Checker players from at least a dozen north Louisiana towns are expected to participate in the contest. Among the contestants will be Solon L. Chambley of Wisner, now a candidate for the state senate from his district, who is present holder of the championship. Several other former winners of the title also will take part.

North Louisiana checker tournaments have been held each spring and each fall for the last 15 years. For a number of years the Monroe Recreation Center has been the site chosen for the meets.

Call For Bids On Second Dormitory At Northeast State

Still another dormitory for young women at Northeast State College is proposed to fill the urgent need for such accommodations at the fast growing local institution.

The estimated cost of the project is placed at $300,000. Bids will be opened in the state capitol building in Baton Rouge at 11 a.m. on December 6.

The plans and specifications as prepared by the local firm of W. King Stubbs call for a building of similar construction as the first building for women on the college campus here.

Those who have thus far received plans and specifications are the following: R. J. Jones & Sons, Alexandria; Dye & Mullings, Inc., Columbia; J. A. Harper, Crowville; H. C. Peck Lumber and Supply Co., Sicily Island; Oden Construction Co., Hattiesburg, Miss.; W. C. Salley, Monroe; Jesse F. Heard & Son, West Monroe and the C-B Construction Co., Natchitoches.

The bidding:

South, 3 hearts; West, Pass; North, 3 spades; East, Pass.

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

The finesse happy declarer in today's hand missed a splendid chance to get away with his contract. West's very questionable overcall would seem to mark him with the king of hearts, and any line of play that does not take this into consideration must be of doubtful soundness.

The king of diamonds was opened and declarer saw no point in holding up, since the fall of the jack would give away the show. Eight tricks were in sight, and it appeared to declarer that there was nothing more than the forlorn hope that the heart finesse would work. He impatiently went to it and a one trick set was promptly recorded.

There should have been no hurry about taking the finesse. It could do no harm to run the four spade tricks. Let us assume that West discards a heart. The ace of clubs is cashed and then the king.

Declarer is now in a position to take the heart finesse if he chooses. But a little study in arithmetic is in order. West has shown up with three spades, two clubs, and presumably has left at this point the king and another heart, which means he had only five diamonds originally. A diamond is led and West wins. If he cashes the remaining diamonds, he will be obliged at the end to lead away from the king of hearts into declarer's ace - queen.

Perfect defense from West, however, will defeat the contract. He must refuse to cash the rest of his diamonds. It is evident that declarer's jack of diamonds is his last. If he had held it guarded, he could have taken an early heart finesse with perfect safety. East is therefore marked with the eight of diamonds, and he should be put in with that card in order that the heart lead might come from him. If West rises to the occasion and defends in this manner, declarer can do nothing about it, but West should be made to work for his supper.

Jane Wyman, Heston Teamed In 'Lucy Gallant'

"Lucy Gallant," the explosive story of a woman obsessed with the need for success and power, will open Thursday at the Paramount Theatre. Set in present-day Texas, the Cinderella land where fortunes in oil are made overnight, Paramount's lusty drama stars Jane Wyman, Charlton Heston, co-stars Claire Trevor and Thelma Ritter and features William Demarest, Wallace Ford and Tom Helmore—one of the strongest, most appealing casts ever assembled.

Filmed in Vista Vision and color by Technicolor, "Lucy Gallant" is the tale of two fiery personalities: of a woman who gambled with love, who thought she was building an empire of furs and fashions alone but found she owed everything to the man whose love she spurned, and of the man whose love, forced to take second place to her passion for success, drove him to outdo her by reaching the heights in the oil business.

Jane Wyman is cast as Lucy Gallant, whose grit and determination turned an unused trousseau into the foundation of the biggest store in all of Texas. Charlton Heston portrays the Texas roughneck who thought a woman's place was in the home—his home—who wouldn't lift a finger to get at the fortune in oil under his own farm until he had to teach a woman a lesson. Thelma Ritter plays the lovably frowzy oil millionairess,caught between the two of them but too softhearted to tell them the mistake they were making, and Claire Trevor is the not quite respectable proprietress of the town's biggest dance hall — a woman all the way through and ready to take Heston on his own terms. It's a colorful and lively group of personalities in a setting as spectacular and sweeping as Texas itself, in a story with the force and power of a Texas gusher.

Highlighting the success story of the greatest department store in Texas, and playing a dramatic role in the story itself, is a dazzling fashion show presided over by Paramount's Academy Award-winning Edith Head, making her screen debut and presenting a mouth-watering collection of morning, afternoon and evening attire. Enhanced by VistaVision and Technicolor, the show and its glamorous models and setting is one of the most extraordinary ever presented on the screen. Also making his debut and playing himself in the film is Governor Allan Shivers of Texas, a treat advance showing audiences have loudly applauded.

All in all, "Lucy Gallant" promises to be a lusty adventure- romance, packed tight with warm, exciting portraits, brawling action and unusual entertainment innovations and surprises.

Salvation Army Gives 302 Items Of Clothing Here

In October, the Salvation Army gave 302 articles of clothing to the needy in Monroe and West Monroe communities, Captain Louis Mockabee said Friday.

Seventeen families received some form of service from the Salvation Army, during October, Captain Mockabee said, and added that 22 consultations were held with other agencies and 47 office interviews were effected with families in need.

Mrs. Hattie Strauss, chairman of the family welfare committee, said, "With the Salvation Army operating on an extremely low income during the past month, they were still able to carry on its work in our city."

In urging the public to support the current financial appeal of the Salvation Army, Mrs. Strauss said, "We can't send families to the Salvation Army and expect their limited staff to handle the case for us if we do not support the program with our cash."

The Salvation Army is seeking to reach a goal of $30,000 "to carry on its wide and much needed program in our Twin Cities."

My fondest memory of Mr. Lorre was his frighteningly realistic portrayal of the child-slayer, "M." A preconceived picture such cult for anyone to make a favorable first impression, but Peter did it in the simplest way possible. He showed us pictures of his wife and little daughter. Somehow, I don't think that anyone had ever even considered Peter as a husband and a father, but he's probably one of the most thoughtful and considerate in town — and showing us the pictures was the perfect ice-breaker.

In the second place, Peter has a wit just about as sharp as the razor he uses to disembody people in his screen characterizations. First thing in the morning, when everyone on the set is groping blindly for that first cup of coffee, Peter will sidle up to a group of us. With the air of a jewel thief trying to unload the Hope diamond, he relate some hysterical anecdote and within five minutes the whole set is awake — and laughing.

And another thing — Peter is a demon for work. He's never yet missed a cue, a line, an action or anything else, for that matter. One day last week I watched him polish off a two page speech that would have been completed in one take if it hadn't been for another actor who muffed the simple line, "Watch your step, Colonel." His excuse was that he became so wrapped up in Peter's performance he forgot his own, and it was probably true.

Acting with Peter, or watching him act, is a real experience. He "gives" to all of the other people working in a scene with him, which is simply an actor's way of saying that he lives his part rather than acts it, and every emotion he puts out can actually be felt by the rest of the group — which makes for better performances all the way around.

When I was in Germany a few years ago, filming "Carnival Story," I discovered a new facet of Lorre's many talents. He had just completed a German - made film which he not only starred in but wrote and directed as well. The picture, titled "The Lost One," won almost every award the German film industry had to offer, and I understand that the city of Berlin went as far as to create a special award just for the film.

At present, Peter has plans for a second independent production to be filmed in Germany sometime next year. It's a comedy, called "The Survivor," which, again, he wrote himself and will also direct and star in — doing the dialogue in both German and English. This my friends, is talent.

I hope I haven't disillusioned any staunch Peter Lorre fans by revealing that the meanest man on the screen isn't that way at all in real life. If I have, I'll say this to comfort them:

He may be one of the nicest guys I know in private life, but on the screen — he's murder!

To George Nader:

Thanks for your clear-cut summary of Peter Lorre, screen villain de luxe, as we know him off screen.

To those readers who may have missed Peter's story, published recently in this column, George Nader has answered many questions I know have been floating around about Lorre. You'll remember George in "Carnival Story," which he mentions. He is fast becoming one of our leading men in pictures.

Sincerely,

Jimmie Fidler

'Bring Smile Along' Technicolor Musical With Frankie Laine

"Bring Your Smile Along," Columbia Pictures' new musical starring Frankie Laine and Keefe Brasselle and introducing sensational blonde songstress Constance Towers, opens today at the Jim Theatre, Filmed in color by Technicolor, the Tin Pan Alley story features New York's fabulous "Song Street" as it traces the fortunes of a pair of entertainers who rocket from burlesque to Broadway with the assistance of a charming blonde high school teacher who would rather write lyrics.

Laine is seen as the would-be singer who needs the right songs, Brasselle as an aspiring composer - pianist who needs the right lyricist, and Miss Towers as the girl who helps supply both rhythm and romance.

Laine is said to be a revelation in "Bring Your Smile Along." He sings, takes part in several dance numbers and also proves himself to be an able comedian. The tall, dark and handsome leading man who scored so sensationally in "The Eddie Cantor Story," Brasselle proves too, that he can delightfully sing his own numbers. Miss Towers is one of the year's most popular TV and night club entertainers, a sure bet for screen stardom.

"Bring Your Smile Along" brims over with songs including the title number by Benny Davis and Carl Fischer; "If Spring Never Comes" by Bill Carey and Fischer; "Gandy Dancers' Ball" by Paul Mason Howard and Paul Weston; "Don't Blame Me" by Dorothy Fields and Jimmy McHugh; "Side by Side" by Harry Woods; "When a Girl Is Beautiful" and "Every Baby Needs a Da Da Daddy," both written by Ned Washington and Lester Lee.

Blake Edwards penned the screen play of "Bring Your Smile Along" and directed the film for producer Jonie Taps.

Checker Tourney Here Is Open To Men In Service

Considerable interest is being shown by men in the armed services in the checker tournament to be held here Nov. 20. One soldier engaged in war maneuvers, who was passing through, called and said he would be back in Monroe at that time and would like to play in the tourney. Others located here have shown interest.

It is customary throughout the United States for men in the services to be allowed to play in state or local tournaments wherever they happen to be located.

The tournament will be held at the Monroe Recreation center, 113 Catalpa Street, beginning at 10 a.m., Nov. 20, and will be a one-day affair. The championship of north Louisiana is at stake.

Checker players from at least a dozen north Louisiana towns are expected to participate in the contest. Among the contestants will be Solon L. Chambley of Wisner, now a candidate for the state senate from his district, who is present holder of the championship. Several other former winners of the title also will take part.

North Louisiana checker tournaments have been held each spring and each fall for the last 15 years. For a number of years the Monroe Recreation Center has been the site chosen for the meets.

Call For Bids On Second Dormitory At Northeast State

Still another dormitory for young women at Northeast State College is proposed to fill the urgent need for such accommodations at the fast growing local institution.

The estimated cost of the project is placed at $300,000. Bids will be opened in the state capitol building in Baton Rouge at 11 a.m. on December 6.

The plans and specifications as prepared by the local firm of W. King Stubbs call for a building of similar construction as the first building for women on the college campus here.

Those who have thus far received plans and specifications are the following: R. J. Jones & Sons, Alexandria; Dye & Mullings, Inc., Columbia; J. A. Harper, Crowville; H. C. Peck Lumber and Supply Co., Sicily Island; Oden Construction Co., Hattiesburg, Miss.; W. C. Salley, Monroe; Jesse F. Heard & Son, West Monroe and the C-B Construction Co., Natchitoches.

VARY THAT SOUP

Every try a tomato-clam soup? Empty a can of condensed tomato soup into a saucepan; add one soup can full of water and one of clam juice. Heat, stirring occasionally to make smooth.

A two-pound boneless smoked pork shoulder butt is a good choice for a small family. Cover the butt with water and simmer a couple of hours. Drain and stick with whole cloves; pat brown sugar over the top and sides. Place in a hot oven to glaze.

The bidding:

South, 3 hearts; West, Pass; North, 3 spades; East, Pass.

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

The finesse happy declarer in today's hand missed a splendid chance to get away with his contract. West's very questionable overcall would seem to mark him with the king of hearts, and any line of play that does not take this into consideration must be of doubtful soundness.

The king of diamonds was opened and declarer saw no point in holding up, since the fall of the jack would give away the show. Eight tricks were in sight, and it appeared to declarer that there was nothing more than the forlorn hope that the heart finesse would work. He impatiently went to it and a one trick set was promptly recorded.

There should have been no hurry about taking the finesse. It could do no harm to run the four spade tricks. Let us assume that West discards a heart. The ace of clubs is cashed and then the king.

Declarer is now in a position to take the heart finesse if he chooses. But a little study in arithmetic is in order. West has shown up with three spades, two clubs, and presumably has left at this point the king and another heart, which means he had only five diamonds originally. A diamond is led and West wins. If he cashes the remaining diamonds, he will be obliged at the end to lead away from the king of hearts into declarer's ace - queen.

Perfect defense from West, however, will defeat the contract. He must refuse to cash the rest of his diamonds. It is evident that declarer's jack of diamonds is his last. If he had held it guarded, he could have taken an early heart finesse with perfect safety. East is therefore marked with the eight of diamonds, and he should be put in with that card in order that the heart lead might come from him. If West rises to the occasion and defends in this manner, declarer can do nothing about it, but West should be made to work for his supper.

Jane Wyman, Heston Teamed In 'Lucy Gallant'

"Lucy Gallant," the explosive story of a woman obsessed with the need for success and power, will open Thursday at the Paramount Theatre. Set in present-day Texas, the Cinderella land where fortunes in oil are made overnight, Paramount's lusty drama stars Jane Wyman, Charlton Heston, co-stars Claire Trevor and Thelma Ritter and features William Demarest, Wallace Ford and Tom Helmore—one of the strongest, most appealing casts ever assembled.

Filmed in Vista Vision and color by Technicolor, "Lucy Gallant" is the tale of two fiery personalities: of a woman who gambled with love, who thought she was building an empire of furs and fashions alone but found she owed everything to the man whose love she spurned, and of the man whose love, forced to take second place to her passion for success, drove him to outdo her by reaching the heights in the oil business.

Jane Wyman is cast as Lucy Gallant, whose grit and determination turned an unused trousseau into the foundation of the biggest store in all of Texas. Charlton Heston portrays the Texas roughneck who thought a woman's place was in the home—his home—who wouldn't lift a finger to get at the fortune in oil under his own farm until he had to teach a woman a lesson. Thelma Ritter plays the lovably frowzy oil millionairess,caught between the two of them but too softhearted to tell them the mistake they were making, and Claire Trevor is the not quite respectable proprietress of the town's biggest dance hall — a woman all the way through and ready to take Heston on his own terms. It's a colorful and lively group of personalities in a setting as spectacular and sweeping as Texas itself, in a story with the force and power of a Texas gusher.

Highlighting the seccess story of the greatest department store in Texas, and playing a dramatic role in the story itself, is a dazzling fashion show presided over by Paramount's Academy Award-winning Edith Head, making her screen debut and presenting a mouth-watering collection of morning, afternoon and evening attire. Enhanced by VistaVision and Technicolor, the show and its glamorous models and setting is one of the most extraordinary ever presented on the screen. Also making his debut and playing himself in the film is Governor Allan Shivers of Texas, a treat advance showing audiences have loudly applauded.

All in all, "Lucy Gallant" promises to be a lusty adventure- romance, packed tight with warm, exciting portraits, brawling action and unusual entertainment innovations and surprises.

In October, the Salvation Army gave 302 articles of clothing to the needy in Monroe and West Monroe communities, Captain Louis Mockabee said Friday.

Seventeen families received some form of service from the Salvation Army, during October, Captain Mockabee said, and added that 22 consultations were held with other agencies and 47 office interviews were effected with families in need.

Mrs. Hattie Strauss, chairman of the family welfare committee, said, "With the Salvation Army operating on an extremely low income during the past month, they were still able to carry on its work in our city."

In urging the public to support the current financial appeal of the Salvation Army, Mrs. Strauss said, "We can't send families to the Salvation Army and expect their limited staff to handle the case for us if we do not support the program with our cash."

The Salvation Army is seeking to reach a goal of $30,000 "to carry on its wide and much needed program in our Twin Cities."
